KEEP HANDS OFF BRITISH RIGHTS, JAPAN WARNED

Interests in China to Be Protected.

LONDON, July 27.—(AP)—Britain's foreign secretary, Viscount Halifax, tonight warned Japan that Britain intends to protect her century old interests in China.

Lord Halifax.

Addressing the house of lords on the troublesome problems facing the government, Lord Halifax used much blunter language about Japan than Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain did in the house of commons yesterday in warning that England will not permit any sacrifice of her interests in China.

Halifax said Britain was considering possible action if Japan failed to respect British interests in China.

[This was the second time within a week that a world power served notice upon Japan that it was ready to defend its rights in the far east. Last Thursday soviet Russia rejected a Japanese demand for withdrawal of Russian troops from disputed territory near the junction of Manchukuo, Siberia, and Corea. Maxim Litvinov, soviet foreign commissar, warned Japan that she would be held responsible for the consequence of any violation of Russia's interests. Japan backed down in the face of Moscow's stand.]

England Ready, Lords Told.

"We are quite ready," Lord Halifax said, "to consider and already are considering possible action open to us if we do not secure adequate consideration for interests we have a right to protect."

The foreign secretary appealed for international sincerity on other scattered fronts endangering world peace—particularly in the case of Czechoslovakia.

Quite frankly he admitted the Czechoslovak problem was going to take a genius to solve.

Lord Halifax dedicated Britain to work for removal of the "nightmare of fear" hanging over Europe and decried as "stupid and useless the arbitrament of war." "That way lies madness," he added.

Cites British-French Bonds.

Lord Halifax mentioned the strong bonds uniting Britain and France, and had a word also to say about Italian restlessness over the delay in putting into effect the Anglo-Italian friendship agreement of April 16 which depends upon a "settlement" of the Spanish war.

"I see no reason why such delay as is inevitable should mar the understanding which it was the principal purpose of the agreement to restore," he said.

The foreign secretary regretted the failure of the Anglo-Italian agreement to produce improved relations between Italy and France, which he said were a necessary complement.

He denied Britain's pact with Italy was an attempt to weaken the Rome-Berlin axis.

Lord Halifax made his statement regarding protection of British interests in China in reply to an attack by Viscount Elibank, Conservative, on Japan's tactics in China as detrimental to Britain's trade. Lord Elibank called the situation a notorious scandal.

Road Closed to Agreement.

The foreign secretary said:

"The conference in Brussels in November [of signatories of the nine power pact to consider possible settlement of the Chinese-Japanese war] showed fairly clearly that no agreement is to be expected for any proposal which did in fact mean intervention.

"There is, however, another aspect of events. It is true that the governments have had for more than a century important interests in China. The Japanese government claim that the action they are taking is for defense of their interests in China and we have every right to expect them to recognize that if they have certain interests to protect we have the same and are not unmindful of our responsibilities, which we have every intention of discharging."

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

Bailif Albert J. Horan of the Municipal court was sentenced to jail yesterday by twenty-five judges of that court. Thus ended another episode in the pay roll fight begun prior to the April election which pitted Democrat against Democrat in a factional war.

But it was not the finale.

Horan, sentenced on a finding of guilty of contempt of court, was allowed twelve days in which to appeal. He was permitted his freedom on a personal bond of $1,000.

Only Two Judges Dissent.

The decision to jail the bailif, who would not obey the court's order to rehire fifty-five deputy bailifs he had discharged, came at the end of a two hour session in Chief Justice John J. Sonsteby's hearing room. Only two judges dissented from the decision—Charles S. Dougherty, a Horner-Courtney Democrat, and Edward B. Casey, a Republican. The other twenty-five were all Kelly-Nash Democrats. Horan was a Horner-Courtney partisan.

Judge Sonsteby presided with twenty-six of the thirty-five associate judges sitting in irregular groups behind and beside him. Many of the fifty-five ousted deputy bailifs—who, by the way, have been put back on another pay roll by the judges—were present.

Public Admitted to Hearing.

The public was admitted at this session. A week ago the public was excluded over the protest of Horan that he didn't want a star chamber hearing. Judges' meetings are usually secret and it was proposed to try the bailif in such a meeting. But there was no move toward secrecy yesterday.

Judge Sonsteby's personal bailif, Theodore Kendall, acted as court bailif; Claude Dyckman, a veteran deputy clerk, sat at Judge Sonsteby's left, ready to record the orders of court.

"People of the State of Illinois vs. Albert J. Horan," intoned Dyckman.

Horan sat at the end of a table facing Sonsteby. With him were two attorneys, John Cashen and Cassius Doty, lawyers employed the year round by the election board, a Horner-Courtney office under County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki.

Judge Asks for Prosecutor.

Judge Dougherty, who until his appointment to the bench by Gov. Horner had been an assistant state's attorney under Courtney, arose.

"I am looking for the state's attorney," the ex-prosecutor said to the chief justice. "There can be no court proceedings in the absence of the state's attorney. Anything done here would be a futile gesture."

Judge Sonsteby waved aside Judge Dougherty's point that only the state's attorney could proceed in the name of the People of the state of Illinois. Present to act as prosecutor was Attorney Hirsch E. Soble, appointed friend of the court.

"In the written answer we filed this morning we challenged the jurisdiction of the court," Attorney Cashen began. "I want to know if you [to Sonsteby] are sitting in this court alone or if all these judges are

Chase and Club Father of 5 in Building Fight

Warren B. Bolton, the father of five children, was savagely stoned, beaten, and left for dead by labor terrorists in Lombard yesterday.

Bolton is a Lombard real estate dealer. He had volunteered to deliver material to a project held in idleness by pickets of the Du Page County Building Trades council. The building project has been halted for more than six weeks.

Bolton volunteered because he felt the labor trouble was preventing other building in Lombard and thus delaying the return of prosperity. The pickets have so effectively prevented deliveries that the project, construction of two homes, has progressed no farther than partial excavation.

Works Under Landis Award.

William Wallace, a La Grange contractor, has been trying to build the houses under the plan of the Landis Award Employers' association, of which he is a member.

Mayor J. C. Alderman, Chief of Police Fred Groote, and Groote's police force of three men were present yesterday morning when Bolton drove up to the site at Ash and Martha streets with a load of gravel. Bolton dumped it unmolested, although one of the twenty-five pickets cursed him.

In the afternoon Bolton tried to deliver a small excavating machine from Roselle, ten miles northwest of Lombard. He was on Illinois highway 53 when he saw the terrorists approaching in four cars. They tried to block his path. When he refused to stop they smashed his windshield with a rock. Shattered glass cut his head.

Chase Him on Highway.

Turning, the terrorists gave chase. From their running boards they hurled more rocks at him. East in North avenue he raced toward Lombard, which lies just south of this road. But the terrorists were gaining. At the extension of Main street he leaped from his truck and fled into the Tower barbecue stand, whence he telephoned Chief Groote and Sherif Arthur Bennett. Six of the terrorists trapped him as he left the telephone.

He ran into the kitchen with a blackjack and a crowbar he had brought for protection. They took the weapons from him and beat him mercilessly over the head until he fell. In his agony he crawled under the hot cooking stove, but they dragged him out and beat him again.

Owner Fears a Battle.

Vincent Lauer, owner of the restaurant, tried to hold the hoodlums off with a revolver, but they warned him not to shoot and he feared to give battle single handed.

Leaving their victim helpless upon the floor, the terrorists departed, laughing. He was taken to the Elm-

SHAKEDOWNS LAID TO BERRY AND OPPONENT

Gutter Politics Hit by Senator Walsh.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—[Special.]—A major political scandal in Tennessee and a number of other disclosures which may shake the Democratic party to its foundations were made public by the senate campaign investigating committee today.

The shaking down of both federal and state employés, the buying of votes on a huge scale, the raising of funds by intimidation—all are being indulged in by the two rival candidates for the Democratic nomination for senator in Tennessee, the committee declared.

Predict Election Contest.

The opponents are Senator George L. Berry, seeking renomination, and Tom Stewart, supported by E. H. Crump, Memphis political boss. No matter which one wins, the committee said, there probably will be an election contest before the senate itself.

The announcement was the climax of a month's work by committee investigators which resulted in a number of revelations today, all involving Democratic candidates. The fact that the committee has a Democratic majority lent significance to its findings.

The committee uncovered evidence that an administration alphabetical agency, the Farm Security administration, had intervened in the Democratic primary campaign in South Dakota. Postmaster General James A. Farley was asked to investigate the use of the agency's government frank in spreading propaganda in behalf of former Gov. Tom Berry, Democratic candidate for the senate.

Illinois Inquiry Due.

A decision to investigate charges of the misuse of federal money in the senatorial primaries in Illinois, Indiana, and California was made by the committee. There were indications that an exposé, somewhat similar to the Tennessee scandal, would be reported early next week in regard to the contest in Kentucky between Senate Majority Leader Alben W. Barkley and Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Headquarters of the Democratic national committee was frankly appalled by the committee's report. Senate investigators are now working in ten states inquiring into irregularities charged against Democratic candidates. Under the leadership of Chairman Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], the committee seems determined to probe to the bottom of all allegations, regardless of political consequences.

Senator Sheppard Active.

Some of the strongest language ever used by a senate committee was employed in denouncing the candidates in Tennessee. Announcing that the information received had led the committee to send additional investigators immediately into the "hog and hominy" state, Senator Sheppard said:

"Apparently every scheme and questionable device that can be used in a political contest to raise funds to influence votes and control the election result is in full swing. Regardless of action that may be taken in the courts to punish those practicing illegal election methods and those exercising political pressure, there are indications that the senate may be called upon to consider the probability of excessive money being used in behalf of the victorious candidates."

Berry Is Wealthy.

Senator Berry is known as an exceedingly wealthy man. He achieved notoriety for his unsuccessful attempt to collect five million dollars from the government for alleged damages to land he had leased prior to its flooding by Tennessee Valley authority operations. His candidacy is backed by the state machine led by Gov. Gordon Browning.

Senator Sheppard added another prediction of senate action regarding the Tennessee situation when he discussed the evidence of the shaking down of employés.

"The committee is of the opinion," he said, "that the evidence already before it with respect to assessments of federal employés by one group par-

Fight Attempt to Halt Sidley Death Inquiry

BY WAYNE THOMIS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TORONTO, Ont., July 27.—[Special.]—Four of the five executors of the will of Mrs. Mabelle Horlick Sidley, malted milk heiress, today filed formal notice seeking to halt a coroner's inquests into her death. It was indicated that these executors are coöperating with W. Perkins Bull, Toronto attorney in whose home Mrs. Sidley died on July 6. Bull was bequeathed a third of her fortune, estimated at from three to nine million dollars, in a will made three months before her death.

The petitioners' attorneys are to seek an injunction tomorrow before Justice Ainslee W. Green of the high court. They will be opposed by Crown Counsel C. P. Hope, who will demand that the coroner be permitted to use all his powers investigating the heiress' financial affairs and the circumstances surrounding her death.

Son Urges Inquiry.

William Horlick Sidley, it has been established, is urging the official inquiry. He is the son of Mrs. Sidley and the fifth executor. He was left a share equal to Bull's in the will. An earlier testament, made in 1934, gave him the bulk of his mother's property.

The executors who are opposing him are William Horlick, brother of the heiress; Col. B. F. Ferrand, Miss Andrea Pultz, and Bernard F. Magruder. They ask that the coroner be forced to stop the inquest; that he produce all papers and records in connection with the case in court; that the coroner and Dr. Ray Farquharson be questioned by a special court examiner, and that the officials take notice that an affidavit of Bull will be read.

Believe Bull Sought Injunction.

This last provision was taken to mean that the four executors will fight to have the will upheld. This, of course, would mean help for Bull in establishing his claim under the document. Crown attorneys said that

1,000 BABY CHICKS WILL SEE 2 RACINES IF ALL GOES RIGHT

Racine, Wis., July 27.—[Special.]—Racine postoffice authorities tonight breathed easier—for they finally had disposed of 1,000 baby chicks that had threatened to become a major problem.

Investigation produced no Lyle Pearson in Racine or hereabouts. In the meantime the chicks continued to peep in their cardboard cartons.

Finally the firm that sent the chicks wired Racine that the peeping cargo was intended for a Lyle Pearson, alright, but for a Lyle Pearson in Racine, Minn. So tonight the 1,000 chicks were en route to another Racine—this one in Minnesota.

NURSE FIGHTS OFF ASSAILANT NEAR HOSPITAL

Albany Park police squads early today were seeking a sex moron who assaulted Miss Ann Toman, 35 years old, a nurse. As the result of her experience, Miss Toman, who lives at 3653 Newland avenue, was under the care of physicians at the Belmont hospital.

Miss Toman had been staying at the hospital assisting in a maternity case. Shortly before midnight she went out to a restaurant for coffee. While returning she was seized by a man in front of 3211 North Karlov avenue.

The moron, short, stocky, and about 38 years old, dragged her into a courtway, tearing her dress and trying to stifle her screams. Miss Toman fought him off and ran to the hospital nearby, where she collapsed.

At the home of Sherif John Toman it was said Miss Toman is not a relative.

Cow Wades 40 Miles, but Not to Water Her Milk

Austin, Tex., July 27.—(AP)—A Travis county cow could claim some kind of an aquatic record today. She was led out of the Colorado river's torrent—forty miles downstream from her home pasture. The bovine's only concern seemed to be munching grass.

Little Girl of Days Gone by Gives a Party

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

Twenty-three years ago little Marianna Drew was burned to death on the beach of her parents' home, 707 Sheridan road, Evanston. Five years later her father, Herbert Drew, secretary of the Northern Railway Supply company, fell ill and died. Three more years saw a second daughter, Margherita, sicken and die with infantile paralysis.

Yesterday 1,500 boys and girls romped on the Drew lawn. They were Chicago orphans, tattered little Mexicans, Italians, Negroes, the city's poor children of every nationality.

Pour Into Garden.

They poured into the garden in bus loads. Freckled boys and starched little girls came from the Northwestern university clinic, Chase house, Madonna center, the Illinois Children's Home and Aid society, Lady of Pompei parish, St. Philip's parish, and a dozen other communities, and settlements.

For an hour they raced over the lawn that stretches a block down to the lake. They shied around zinnia beds, blaring their noisemakers happily and popping bright gift balloons.

Coco the clown, a stranger to the little ones, was there. They shrieked and clapped, the perfect audience. He left them, friends. Then in trotted a troop of four Shetland ponies, who kicked and danced and bucked around their little ring. A corps of white Spitz dogs barked and bowed. Two elephants lumbered in and waltzed.

It Was a Grand Party.

That was not enough. There were 1,500 pasteboard boxes, stuffed with sandwiches, fruit and cookies. It was a grand party.

Mrs. Drew, who is openly sentimental about her young friends, explained its success succinctly:

"We always have a big one in bad years. It's the one sure way to brighten things up for all of us."

But none of these 1,500 children knew that they were there because twenty-three years ago little Marianna Drew was burned to death.

tieipating in the Democratic primary contest for United States senator, and of state employés by the other group, points sharply toward an election contest in the United States senate regardless of which group's candidate triumphs."

A report on the Kentucky senatorial contest between Barkley and Chandler had been expected today but was delayed until next Monday or Tuesday because an investigator presented a one-sided report, according to Senator David I. Walsh [D., Mass.], member of the committee. The investigator presented evidence implicating Chandler only and not Senator Barkley, it was reported.

Kentucky Revelations Next.

"Conditions in Kentucky are not as bad as in Tennessee," Senator Walsh said. "Both sides have been guilty of sharp practices in Kentucky, but there is not the gutter politics, pure and simple, which has been found in Tennessee. Next week's report will permit the public to determine the brand of politics in Kentucky."

Committee members were indignant regarding the intervention of the Farm Security administration in the South Dakota primary. They received this information from Chan Gurney, Republican candidate for the senate, and found it, after checking to be correct.

The government agency, it was revealed, had mailed under government frank a letter addressed to most newspapers in the state. Sent out by Frank D. Kriebs, the agency's state representative, the letter attempted to describe the benefits to farmers received from the agency and mentioned that the Democratic candidate for the senate, former Gov. Tom Berry, "had helped to bring about" such benefits.

Vote Georgia Inquiry.

The committee voted to send an investigator to Georgia to inquire into the charge of Senator Walter F. George, [D., Ga.], that a high ranking federal employé in that state had been discharged because he was backing Senator George for renomination. Senator George is one of the Democratic senators marked for President Roosevelt's purge of the party of those members of congress who have opposed some of his policies.

The investigator dispatched to Illinois by decision of the committee will look into charges preferred by A. H. Greening, former Republican state's attorney of Sangamon county, that federal aid road funds were misused in the senatorial primary last April in which Representative Scott W. Lucas defeated United States District Attorney Michael L. Igoe.

The committee did not specify the nature of charges which caused it to decide to investigate the Indiana campaign.

MR. WAUKEGAN BARES SECRET OF HIS FAMILY LIFE

In the average Waukegan family there are 4.75 persons, including 2.41 children. Most of the families have their own automobile and a great majority have radios. And the average weekly meat and grocery bill is $12.40.

This was disclosed yesterday in a survey by the Waukegan board of education and the parent-teacher associations. From 1,031 replies to a questionnaire they projected an analysis of the 9,500 families in town.

This report found that 8,436 families have automobiles; 8,911 have radios [258 owned 3 or more]; 3,325 own dogs, feeding them 30,923 cans of prepared dog food a month, and 7,576 families burn coal for fuel. Among the housewives, 1,739 smoke and 7,769 do not.

CRA TO RESTORE FULL ALLOWANCE FOR AUGUST RENT

Allowances for rent will be restored to Chicago relief clients in their August budgets, Leo M. Lyons, Chicago relief administrator, announced yesterday. Only a half month's rent now is paid by the relief administration. Lyons said the extra relief appropriation bill passed by the special session of the legislature, which provides $400,000 for the state in addition to $3,400,000 a month already available, makes the rent restoration possible. The full allowance is $15 for unheated flats, $20 for heated flats, and $5 where a family includes seven or more persons.

RFC WILL LEND AS PWA SPENDS TO PRIME PUMP

Scheme Permits Wider Works Program.

Washington, D. C., July 27.—(AP)—Jesse Jones threw resources of the Reconstruction Finance corporation behind the public works program tonight. This made possible a large expansion of the pump-priming operations through which the Roosevelt administration hopes to hasten economic recovery.

Jones and PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes, two big money men of Roosevelt's spending-lending program, agreed that wherever possible RFC would make loans for public construction and PWA would conserve its money exclusively for outright grants. Hitherto, PWA has been making loans and grants.

Can Loan 1½ Billions.

Under the new system it will be possible, officials said, to undertake more big projects such as roads and bridges than if PWA had to supply all the money. The last congress gave Jones' agency power to lend 1 billion 500 millions to states, cities, and business men.

Officials explained that RFC would be limited to revenue producing projects such as roads, bridges, subways, and others designed to pay off the loan from toll charges.

New York's proposed 70 million dollar tunnel from the battery to Hamilton avenue in Brooklyn, officials said, possibly would be one of the first cooperative RFC-PWA enterprises. They mentioned Pennsylvania's proposed 60 million dollar all weather highway and Chicago's 35 million dollar loop subway.

Interest Rate to Be Cut.

For the new loan grant scheme to be widely adaptable, informants said, RFC necessarily would have to reduce its usual interest rates. They have ranged above the 4 per cent charged by PWA, and currently most municipalities can obtain local financing at less than 4 per cent.

This usually applies, however, to local purchase of city corporate bonds for PWA projects. The RFC-PWA combination, authorities explained, was aimed principally at the purchase of revenue bonds which rested on the success of a PWA project and frequently were less attractive to private money.

WPA OUSTS TWO FOR TAKING BRIBE AT SAFETY LANE

Two WPA workers, convicted Tuesday of accepting a bribe from a motorist at a city safety lane examination, have been dismissed. Carl Morgan, an official in the WPA employment division, said they never would be returned to WPA rolls. The safety lanes are manned by WPA workers under direction of city supervisors.

The discharged men are Lawrence Darling of 1925 23d street and Henry Hockstra of 636 South Ashland avenue. They were placed on probation by Judge Frank M. Padden in Trafic court. Darling admitted taking $1 from Edward Weber, 1635 South Homan avenue, for issuing a safety sticker when Weber's car did not pass the test. Hockstra was accused of sharing in the bribe. Weber was fined $50.

EARLE'S MACHINE CRUSHES FOES OF WHITEWASH PLAN

Steamroller Amendments to Passage Stage.

Harrisburg, Pa., July 27.—(AP)—Riding roughshod over a flurry of Republican opposition, Democratic strength today placed the bulk of Gov. George H. Earle's program to check a grand jury investigation in position for final consideration in the Pennsylvania house of representatives.

Voting in concert, the big Democratic majority amended and passed on second reading four of five administration measures, designed to take over the projected Dauphin county inquiry of Earle and thirteen associates.

A fifth bill—providing that all grand jury investigations of civil officers subject to impeachment be held in public—was withheld and Floor Leader Herbert Cohen indicated it might be "pickled."

"Not Essential," Says Earle Leader.

"It really isn't essential to the investigation program," Cohen explained, "and there is serious doubt as to its constitutionality. We're absolutely certain that the other four bills are valid."

Most significant of the amendments is one which would stiffen the penalty that could be imposed upon any one who withheld evidence and records sought by the legislature.

The bill was changed to allow imprisonment for contempt of this nature until the 1939 regular session discharged the prisoner. Previously the imprisonment would have been merely "until discharged."

Gov. Earle's chief objective is to force District Attorney Carl B. Shelley, conducting the grand jury inquiry, and former Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti, who first made the charges, to divulge their material and make it public.

Carry Fight to People.

In their drive against the Democrats, the Republicans went to the people.

In the senate, the question of the constitutionality of the program was raised.

Senator Gilbert Wolfenden, Republican, said: "There is no question that it is bad legislation, sacrificing principle to save individuals. It is my personal opinion that the measures are unconstitutional."

Democratic Senator Anthony J. Cavalcante, who bolted from the party organization, echoed Wolfenden's sentiments, declaring the bills "clearly unconstitutional."

Ruth Judd, Trunk Slayer, Under Physician's Care

Phoenix, Ariz., July 27.—(AP)—Winnie Ruth Judd, trunk slayer once condemned to the gallows, was under a physician's care at the state hospital today after swallowing a strong sedative. Dr. B. M. Berger, hospital superintendent, said Mrs. Judd obtained the tablets yesterday without the knowledge of attendants. He said her condition was not serious. Mrs. Judd killed two friends, Hedvig Samuelson and Agnes Anne Leroi, in October, 1931. The dismembered bodies were packed in a trunk and shipped to Los Angeles.

26 Months Old and Already in Training as Human Fly

Madison, S. D., July 27.—(AP)—Twice within the last week, Mr. and Mrs. John Augustad have found their son Frederick, 26 months old, climbing the farm's 60 foot windmill tower. The first time he was up 30 feet when halted; the second time he was within 10 feet of the tower's top. Frederick's father today cut off the lower three feet of the windmill ladder to put it beyond the child's reach.

Proposed opening of South Damen avenue between 74th and 75th streets. Approval by the Public Works administration of a grant of $221,727 was announced yesterday. The subway will be 3,286 feet long. It will pass under the Chicago and Western Indiana and Wabash railroad tracks.

Work to Start Soon

David R. Kennicott, regional director of the Public Works administration, yesterday announced approval of a grant of $221,727 for construction of a trafic subway in Damen avenue, under railroad tracks at 76th street. The subway is to cost $572,000.

Arthur Engh, supervising engineer for the board of local improvements, said construction will start within four weeks. The subway, which will be 3,286 feet long, including improvements, will pass under the Chicago and Western Indiana and Wabash railroad tracks. It will provide a crossing between those now at Western avenue and Wood street.

Lake Forest filed an application yesterday for a $94,500 grant to finance waterworks improvements. The project is estimated to cost $210,000. The waterworks system was installed in 1880 and is inadequate, according to Mayor Kent Chandler.

HOUSING OFFICIAL CALLS ILLINOIS A BACKWARD STATE

Nathan Straus, administrator of the United States housing authority at Washington, visited two Chicago slum clearance projects yesterday on a national tour. In a press conference he called Illinois a backward state for failing to take advantage of federal grants for housing projects.

The recent special session of the general assembly refused to exempt all housing projects from taxation, an action necessary, according to Straus, to make the state eligible for 80 million dollars he said had been earmarked for the state.

At noon Straus visited the site of the South Parkway Gardens, a 1,600 family project at South Park way and 37th street. In the afternoon he visited the Jane Addams homes, already completed.

MR. FIREY GETS HOT, BUT JUDGE COOLS HIM OFF

On the night of July 20, Bert Firey, who weighs 200 pounds, threw his weight around considerably in River Forest. It took a police squad a mile to catch him after a trafic accident and another two hours to subdue him then and later in the station.

All of this added up last night to $650 in fines and court costs imposed by Police Magistrate Roy O'Brien of River Forest. Firey will begin serving his fine in a 300 day jail sentence in the county jail today unless the money is paid, the magistrate said.

He was convicted on charges of leaving an accident, driving while intoxicated, resisting arrest, and driving without proper license plates. Police had two other complaints they did not use; breaking jail and assault and battery.

FUSSING ROTHS' CHARGES TO BE HEARD ON AUG. 3

The quarreling Roths were in court again yesterday.

This time Michael Roth, a storage company man, charged his wife, Marvel, former show girl, with being disorderly. Previously she had accused him of the same thing. But her charge was dismissed, the court holding that she really wanted to see him when he called on her. Mrs. Roth's divorce suit is pending.

Roth also signed a complaint charging disorderly conduct against his wife's friend, Miss Carmen Mosely, a nurse, of 3138 Warren boulevard. She, in turn, accused him of assault and battery. Mrs. Roth and Miss Mosely asked for jury trials, and Judge Oscar S. Caplan set hearings on all complaints for Aug. 3 in the jury court.

Miss Mosely was a witness against Roth last Friday, saying Mrs. Roth found it difficult to get rid of him when he called at her home at 4712 Drexel boulevard. On Tuesday Roth told her that was untrue and struck her in the mouth, she charges.

LUCAS FORESEES FINAL DEFEAT OF G. O. P. OLD GUARD

DemocratSenateNominee Speaks at Salem.

Salem, Ill., July 27.—(AP)—Scott W. Lucas, democratic nominee for United States senator, declared in a political speech here today "when we send the reactionary Republican old guard down to defeat this time it will be the last we'll hear from them."

He called upon "all factions of the Democratic party to unite in the fall campaign and wipe out the last remnant of the old guard Republicans."

Lucas, Havana congressman, was the Democratic day speaker at the annual Soldiers' and Sailors' reunion.

Senator Brown Ill.

United States Senator Prentiss M. Brown of Michigan, chairman of the Democratic national senatorial campaign committee, was forced to cancel his scheduled address because of illness. He became ill this morning at Carlinville after leaving his train to come here by automobile.

Most of the Democratic state candidates attended the meeting.

"The Republicans haven't got a program to offer the people in the fall election campaigns," Lucas declared. "They have nothing to substitute for the humanitarian program launched by Democratic leadership, except vague, shadowy and questionable promises to give the nation something better.

Points to Program.

"No one will attempt to say that everything the New Deal has done has been perfect, but at least the New Deal offers a program—a forward-looking, progressive, positive program the objectives of which no one can question."

Lucas asserted "progressive Republicans are deserting the reactionary faction of the Republican party, because there's nothing else for them to do."

FIRE AT OPTICAL COMPANY.

A fire in the work room of the American Optical company, on the seventh floor at 40 South Wabash avenue, was extinguished yesterday after it caused about $100 damage.

THE COAST GUARD TAKES DIETERICH PARTY ON CRUISE

United States Senator William H. Dieterich and a party of seven friends are due in Chicago tomorrow after a ten day cruise on Lake Michigan in the coast guard cutter Ossippe.

They have been visiting stations on both sides of the lake, it was learned yesterday, as guests of Commander Norman Ryder Stiles on his annual tour of inspection. Last night they were at Manistique, Mich., where Senator Dieterich said he was on a vacation cruise with friends.

In the party were Thomas Temple Hoyne, collector of customs for the port of Chicago; Congressman Leonard W. Schuetz; Federal Judge Leroy Adair of Quincy; Ernst Buehler, chief attorney of the sanitary district; Vincent Dallman, newspaper publisher and collector of internal revenue at Springfield; Mark Penick of Quincy, a former congressman, and the senator's son William J. Dieterich.

BLAMES LABOR 'ROYALISTS' FOR RAILS' PLIGHT

Co-ordination Plan Urged at Bar Meeting.

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., July 27.—[Special.]—The plight of the nation's railroads was blamed on labor "royalists" and the interstate commerce commission at the 61st annual convention of the American Bar association here today by Leslie Craven of New York, former counsel for the government in a coördination program.

The railroads face more bankruptcies, and ultimate government ownership unless remedies are applied immediately, Cravin said. The losers will be the thousands of security holders, he said, and warned these investors must prepare themselves to take big losses.

One remedy would be a revival of the railroad coördination program, he said. Another would be to remove burdensome restrictions enforced by the commerce commission. Railroad reorganization difficulties should be taken out of the courts, he added.

Hit Dictatorial Procedure.

While this discussion occupied part of the day, the way also was cleared for final official action tomorrow on the chief controversial subject at the convention. It is a report charging dictatorial procedure by federal administrative boards. It was approved by the association committee on administrative law and goes before the convention house of delegates tomorrow afternoon.

In discussing the railroad situation, Cravin praised the coördination program which failed to go through. He said that this plan would have eliminated much unnecessary duplication of facilities, extravagance, and cutthroat practices.

"Before the 1936 election," Craven declared, "congress permitted the coordination law to lapse, under pressure of organized labor.

Cites Political Fear of Labor.

"There was a political fear of labor, which claimed 75,000 jobs would be lost in consolidations; this fear brought chaos," he said.

"The situation has grown from bad to worse. Now 30 per cent of the lines are in bankruptcy. No one is making fixed charges and some of the strongest are not even making operating expenses. On account of the small group of labor men who might be hurt, the railroad industry is permitted to remain in disorder while the country pays the bill. This is not democracy. It is administration of the law for the benefit of a privileged class, a group of labor royalists. They look as bad to me as a group of capital royalists.

"More bankruptcies are around the corner unless we solve the problem. There will have to be government ownership or government subsidies because the government has not taken simple steps to put the house in order."

Attacks I. C. C.

R. B. Fletcher of Washington, D. C., said the interstate commerce commission is the "most obsolete thing" about the railroad situation. Fletcher is general counsel for the American Association of Railways.

"Let the lines alone," he urged. "Let them guarantee reasonable, nondiscriminatory rates. They can do it if allowed to meet competition."

The indictment of Roosevelt administrative agencies, which is to be presented to the delegates tomorrow afternoon, was drawn by Roscoe Pound, dean emeritus of the Harvard law school. It attacks ten tendencies of the alphabet boards. They are:

1. Decision without a hearing, or after hearing only one side. [A reference is made to the action of the bituminous coal commission in setting minimum price orders without notice of hearing or finding of fact.]
2. Decision on the basis of matters not before the tribunal, or on evidence not produced.
3. Decisions on the basis of preformed opinions and prejudices. [This referred to conduct of the securities and exchange commission.]

Finds Lack of Determining.

4. Regarding the administrative function as one of acting rather than determining.
5. Disregarding of jurisdictional limits.
6. Doing what will "get by," yielding to political pressure at expense of the law.
7. Arbitrary rule making for administrative convenience at expense of important interests.
8. Falling into a perfunctory routine.
9. Exercising of jurisdiction by deputies.
10. Mixing up rule making, investigation, prosecution, judges' and advocates' functions.

As a remedy the Pound report urged safeguarding the right of courts to review findings of administrative boards. It is the duty of courts to ascertain whether the findings are proper or are arbitrary pronouncements.

Labor Board Assailed.

Another assault on the policies of the National Labor Relations board was made by the committee on labor employment and social security.

"The provisions of the labor relations act itself," the committee said, "make it inevitable that to a large degree the labor board and its subsidiaries must be regarded as the partisans of one class against the other.

"It is inevitable that the result must be to intensify class antagonism. Enforcement of the act has not promoted that better mutual understanding and coöperation hitherto believed indispensable for the solution of the problems in the relationship of worker and employer."

In reference to the social security act the committee said: "The reserve [from collections under the act] to be invested by the government is nothing more than a bookkeeping device. Investment of the reserve in government securities is certain to discourage efforts toward government economy."

Favor Appointing State Judges.

The delegates also heard a recommendations for the appointment, instead of election, of all state judges. The appointments would be made by the governor or the legislature, or by their dual act. The recommendation was favorably received and was sent to the association board of governors.

A resolution was drawn approving President Roosevelt's attitude in calling the conference of nations to consider the plight of racial and political refugees from Germany.

The speaker at the night session was Lord Macmillan, a lord of appeal in London, England. The title is one of the highest in the English courts. He discussed legal education.

Taken from Ledge

This woman, giving the name of Betty Vorunion of Irvington, N. J., was coaxed from the top of a sixteen story building on 5th avenue, New York, yesterday. Police took her to a hospital.

BLONDE REVEALS EFFORT TO STOP 17 STORY PLUNGE

Claims Plea Would Have Saved Man on Ledge.

New York, July 27.—[Special.]—A blonde blues singer, who might have saved John Warde from his bizarre seventeen story suicide leap last night, stood helplessly in the crowd and watched him die.

Camille La Mont. [A. P. Wirephoto.]

This was the story told today by Camille La Mont, who said she was Warde's sweetheart and had talked nim out of killing himself several times.

Warde hurtled 200 feet to nis death from a narrow ledge on the Hotel Gotham at 55th street and 5th avenue before the horrified eyes of thousands. For eleven hours he had wavered on his perch, spurning all pleas of relatives, friends, and police to abandon his plan.

Miss La Mont, who is 22 years old and of Greenwich Village, said she rushed to the scene as soon as she learned of Warde's suicide scheme. She was turned back at the hotel steps by police, she said, despite her pleas she was Warde's sweetheart and could persuade him to save himself. After another attempt, she related, she joined the crowd and waited until he crashed to the street.

Curious Throngs Return.

Curious throngs gathered today at the scene and gaped and pointed at the ledge which had been Warde's perch. Souvenir hunters in the crowd picked up pieces of shattered glass from the hotel's canopy which the body struck in its whirling plunge.

Tonight Warde lay alone in death in an east side mortuary. A private funeral will be held for him Friday in Brooklyn.

Unofficial estimates of the cost of Warde's leap—to the city, the hotel, and merchants in the vicinity—ranged upward from $100,000.

Business was at a standstill in all the shops near by during the hours Warde occupied the ledge. A thousand policemen and firemen, two ambulances, and a number of police cars were at the scene.

The suggestive influence of Warde's suicide led today to other plunges and a number of false suicide alarms to police.

Girl Saved from Leap.

Several persons called police this afternoon to report they had seen some persons on a window ledge on the eighteenth floor of the Empire State building, getting ready to jump. Six radio cars sped to the scene, but found no one.

A crowd gathered at 5th avenue and 32d street when a girl poised herself on the edge of the roof of a sixteen story building. The spectators saw her walk to the edge several times, look over, and then back away.

Police who hurried to the roof found her crouching in an elevator shaft, crying. She said she was Betty Vorunion, 24 years old, of Irvington, N. J. She was pretty and well dressed. Police took her to Bellevue hospital for observation.

Mrs. Bertha Kriz, 56 years old, was seriously injured today when she jumped or fell from the roof of her three story home in Queens. Thomas O'Connor, 49 years old, a court clerk, was injured fatally a few hours earlier when he fell or jumped from a third floor window in the Bronx, where he lived with his cousin.

Gift for Girdler

James B. Pond, lecturer, in Philadelphia with jaguar to be presented to Thomas Girdler, steel company president.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 27.—(AP)—Marguerita, a 120 pound jaguar, is on her way to Tom M. Girdler, chairman of the Republic Steel corporation. She was found in a Venezuela-Colombia border jungle by engineers of the steel company, who were laying a pipe line. They sent her to Girdler as a gift. Marguerita arrived here on the oil tanker R. P. Resor.

HIS LAWN BEST UNTIL IT STARTS GROWING BALD

Raymond Miller, 2018 North Kedvale avenue, woke up last Sunday morning, looked out the window, and decided he'd better buy some hair tonic for his lawn. During the night a square foot of sod had been removed.

Tuesday morning it appeared that dandruff or termites had set in. This time Miller found two more square feet of fresh green sod gone.

Mr. Miller took his troubles to the police yesterday. And he explained why his lawn seemed to be developing alopecia. After three years of cultivating a particular grass his lawn this summer was acclaimed the finest in the neighborhood. Miller isn't sure whether the trouble is jealousy or covetousness.

VANCOUVER PIER IS DESTROYED IN $1,000,000 BLAZE

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 27.—(AP)—The Canadian Pacific railway company's pier D was destroyed today by a $1,000,000 fire which for a time threatened the entire Vancouver water front. Razed with the 1,000 foot pier and its superstructure of passenger and freight buildings were a freight shed and four box cars.

The value of the pier itself was placed at $500,000 and the other losses at an equal amount. Billows of smoke and forks of flame still poured from the pier tonight, but firemen had the blaze under control. Police were investigating the possibility of incendiarism.

The steamships Princess Charlotte and Princess Adelaide moved out as the fire started.

NEW MAURETANIA LINER WILL BE LAUNCHED TODAY

BIRKENHEAD, England, July 27.—(AP)—Fingertip pressure on an electric button tomorrow will launch the new liner Mauretania, designed to cater to the lower priced trans-Atlantic tourist trade. Lady Bates, wife of the Cunard Line chairman, Sir Percy E. Bates, will perform the ceremony.

The new liner, to be of 33,000 to 40,000 gross tons, is the largest ever built in England—which excludes the new Queen Elizabeth and the Queen Mary, built in Scotland.

The Mauretania will have 10 decks, one of which will be used for sports and another for sun bathing. Trial runs are to start early in 1939.

SCOTSMEN GAPE WHILE CARNEGIE HEIRESS IS WED

$8,000 Castle Luncheon Awes Tiny Town.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 27.—Miss Louise Carnegie Miller of New York, granddaughter of Andrew Carnegie and heiress to millions, today was married to J. F. Gordon Thomson, an obscure Edinburgh lawyer, in Dornoch, Scotland. Thomson is 40 years old and his bride, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roswell Miller, is 18.

Arrow points to Scotland town where Carnegie heiress was married.

Wedding Costs $25,000.

The wedding, which cost an estimated $25,000, was conducted on a scale of lavishness undreamed of in Dornoch. More than 2,000 persons—including wedding guests from New York and London—streamed into the quiet little town of 750. Scots from miles about came to try to get a peek at the wedding and the trafic jams were terrific. Shopkeepers, townsmen, and farmers were drafted to help the one local constable control the crowd.

Three hundred guests—many of them wearing kilts—were packed into the little cathedral, and 500 attended the $8,000 wedding luncheon in Skibo castle, fifteen miles away. Skibo castle was the favorite home of Andrew Carnegie, who died in 1919.

There four chefs and fifty waiters imported from London served an elaborate luncheon shipped up with them. The repast included lobster cooked in vodka, chicken, and canteloupes and peaches from southern France. It was washed down with 800 bottles of champagne.

On American Lines.

"We are doing this wedding on American lines," said the bride's father.

Uninvited spectators mobbed the entrance to the cathedral for a glimpse of the wedding party, and the amateur police had their hands full to keep order. The church, which was built in the thirteenth century, has known more weddings of sheepherders and milkmaids than of heiresses.

For today's occasion an awning was installed and a red carpet was laid down in the aile. Amplifiers carried the responses of the bride and the groom to every corner of the church. The ceremony was conducted by three ministers.

Flags Hang Over Highway.

Miss Miller drove from Skibo castle to the church under strings of flags hung across the highway. An American flag fluttered over the castle, but none was displayed in Dornoch. Authorities searched everywhere, but could not find one.

Carnegie, who made a fortune estimated at between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 [most of which he gave away] in steel manufacturing in the United States, spent several months each year at the castle in his native Scotland.

The bride's parents were married in the Carnegie residence in New York four months before the death of the steel magnate. Her mother is the former Margaret Carnegie and her father is the son of the late Roswell Miller of Chicago, at one time president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad.

2 SOLDIERS TRAPPED ON LEDGE AT SIDE OF RIO GRANDE CANYON

Marfa, Tex., July 27.—(AP)—Two adventurous soldiers are trapped on a high ledge overlooking the flooding Rio Grande river. They sent a note by rope to rescuers atop the 1,500 foot wall today that they are in good health but that a companion had drowned.

Col. R. H. Lewis, commander of Fort Russell, said the two men, Sgt. Clyde Ryberg and Private Clarency Hansen, who started down the treacherous nine mile stretch of Santa Helena canyon on inner tubes last week-end with Private Harry Buckman, would be rescued by boat. An army plane will be used tomorrow to search the river for Buckman's body.

A searching party from the fort located Ryberg and Hansen last night.

10 P. M. CURFEW IS PROPOSED FOR MOSCOW PUPILS

[Copyright: 1938: By the New York Times.]

MOSCOW, July 27.—Soviet school authorities again are voicing anxiety about children outside school hours. At a meeting yesterday of the presidium of the Moscow soviet Eugenia Sergoyeva, directress of the city educational department, discussed lax discipline and blamed it on lack of proper home influence.

She proposed that school children wear a scholar's badge; that those under 15 be forbidden to be in the streets after 10 p. m., and that the number of musical and artistic clubs and workshops for children be increased.

A year ago a proposal that children wear a scholar's uniform fell through because of the shortage and high cost of cloth.

The real cause of the trouble is overcrowding, from which the city still suffers. In Moscow proper the average family of five persons has only one room.

RAPIST SLAYER IDENTIFIED AT MURDER TRIAL

Robert Nixon, colored, confessed rapist-killer, was pointed out to a jury in Criminal court yesterday as the man who killed Mrs. Florence Johnson with a brick on May 27. The jury, which was completed early in the day, is qualified for the death penalty. Judge John C. Lewe is hearing the case.

Mrs. Johnson, 34 years old, wife of a city fireman and mother of two children, was slain as she slept in her apartment at 4631 Lake Park avenue. Nixon and Earl Hicks, colored, were arrested for the crime. Hicks has pleaded guilty and will testify for the state.

Miss Margaret Whitton, a sister of Mrs. Johnson, testified she was awakened the morning of the murder. Running into the hall, Miss Whitton said she saw Nixon fleeing from the apartment. Nixon has confessed the murders of several other women.

Boys, Girl Dig Sand Cave; Slide Kills Four of Them

Join Business in Fighting Maytag Closing Edict.

BY CHARLES PURVIS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Newton, Ia., July 27.—[Special.]—Resentment against Gov. Nels G. Kraschel for keeping the Maytag Washing Machine company plant closed under martial law led today to an appeal to Democratic leaders to take cognizance of his arbitrary action.

This new condemnation was accompanied by charges here that the chief executive, who has been indorsed for reëlection by the C. I. O., is favoring the C. I. O. strikers at the Maytag factory in an effort to win the statewide support of labor.

Telegrams were sent from Jasper county, which is chafing under military law, to members of the Democratic state central committee and to candidates for state offices on the Democratic ticket. They were forwarded to Des Moines where the Democratic state convention was held today.

Widely Known Farmer Protests.

The messages were dispatched by F. L. Hummel, a widely known Jasper county farmer, a former master of the Iowa State Grange, and active in county Democratic circles. His communication read:

"It is my thought that Gov. Kraschel is doing Democratic party irreparable damage by his arbitrary closing of Maytag factory. It is of serious concern to every Democratic candidate and to Democratic party in Iowa. Immediate action necessary to safeguard Democratic victory in November."

Business men in Newton and others affected by the strike, which has tied up the town's main source of employment since May 9, also voiced resentment against the governor's actions.

Governor Listens to C. I. O.

"About 99 per cent of the business people feel the governor sent troops here to assist the C. I. O. in keeping a picket line about the Maytag plant," declared Frank Drake, president of the Newton Chamber of Commerce.

"In reality that's what it amounts to, for the governor closed the plant and it has been kept shut on his orders. It certainly appears that Kraschel is favoring the C. I. O., for he is doing just what it wants. He went into office on President Roosevelt's coat tails and now appears to be doing all he can to support the administration's baby—the C. I. O.

"The strike already has cost Newton business men half their business, by a conservative estimate. Not only has the Maytag pay roll of $25,000 a week been stopped, but the strike has caused so much unrest here that farmers would rather not come to Newton to trade. Furthermore, it has frightened people who were ready to build homes, do some remodeling, or make other investments, keeping them from spending their money at this time."

Indorsed by C. I. O. Council.

The governor was indorsed for reelection by the St. Louis Industrial union council on July 22. The St. Louis Industrial Union council is made up of representatives from each C. I. O. union in St. Louis. It corresponds in the C. I. O. ranks to the trades and labor assembly in the A. F. of L. A resolution adopted by the council said:

"We are firmly convinced your action against the reactionary die-hards of Iowa, and in behalf of people who believe in progress and democracy, will find wide acclaim throughout the nation. This body expresses full support of your actions and sincerely hopes your success in the fall elections will make possible the realization of President Roosevelt's program in Iowa."

Loyal Workers Scent Politics.

F. A. Woodrow, chairman of the group of 600 loyal workers who have sought without success to return to their jobs at the Maytag plant, declared: "It looks like politics to me."

"When a group of back-to-work men went over to Des Moines several weeks ago to see the governor," Woodrow said, "we were told by his executive secretary, G. W. Kirtley, that we were putting the governor in a difficult position, with him being in the middle of his campaign."

"I think that at least 1,000 of the 1,300 employés who were at work at the plant when it was closed by the C. I. O. strike would return to work now if they were given protection. The governor once told us we should have protection and the right to work, but he has backed down on so many of his statements we don't know where we stand on what he says."

400 Strikers on Relief Rolls.

Woodrow said that about 400 Maytag strikers now are on relief, but only thirty of that number were back-to-work advocates. Jasper county taxpayers, particularly farmers, have expressed vigorous opposition to the governor's order to military authorities that county aid be given all strikers.

Neal Hammer, secretary of the chamber of commerce, said Newton business men have little objection to the presence of the National Guard, but they do object to the troopers keeping the plant closed.

"Farmers, especially, feel they are having to finance the strike because of the heavy relief burden it has caused in addition to the sum of $750 a day it costs the state to keep the troops here," said Hammer.

"I would estimate that about a quarter of a million dollars in retail sales have been lost since the strike began. Rural patronage is going elsewhere to avoid the unpleasantness here. A salesman for a wholesale firm told me his business had fallen off appreciably in Newton, but that there had been a corresponding pickup in communities near here."

Voices C. I. O. Philosophy.

Gov. Kraschel addressed the Democratic convention at Des Moines today, but did not mention specifically the Maytag strike. He did, however, express the C. I. O. philosophy of work entitling one to an interest in the business by declaring:

"Iowa expects that all able bodied men shall work and Iowa expects that the employers of labor shall be fair.

"Iowa expects that all property shall have its rights preserved, but Iowa also expects that property assume its responsibility to society by helping to protect those who, by the sweat of their brows, produced property. Ownership of property by a nonworker does not exempt that property from its responsibility to the worker who produced it."

Republican Picked to Win.

The belief appears fairly general among business people that Kraschel is making a play for the labor vote, but will lose by the move. It was pointed out that sentiment in Newton, a community of 11,000, is nearly evenly divided on the strike, and that most of the 25,000 persons in the county outside Newton are overwhelmingly against the governor's tactics.

Kraschel is opposed in the November election by George Wilson, an attorney of Des Moines.

Wilson, a Republican, nearly beat Kraschel when the latter was elected in 1936. Many persons here believe Wilson will succeed this time, and feel certain that he will carry this county by an overwhelming vote.

Wins Full Custody

Mrs. Patricia Mars Feeney with her former husband, William Henry Furst, after court hearing.

Mrs. Mary Mars Feeney, heiress to the Mars candy fortune, yesterday was awarded permanent custody of her two children by a former marriage. The father, William Henry Furst, a race horse trainer and owner, told Judge Oscar F. Nelson he would waive his rights.

Her attorney, Robert E. Cantwell Jr., told the court that Furst was now married to a night club singer and that in his work he travels to various race tracks throughout the country. The children are William H. Jr., 3 years old, and Robert, 2.

When a divorce was granted a year ago the mother was given custody of the children ten months of each year. The Feeneys live at 930 Ashland avenue, River Forest, with her mother, Mrs. Ethel V. Mars. Mrs. Mars operates a nationally known candy company established by her husband, who died several years ago.

TERRORIST GANG BEATS LOMBARD REALTY DEALER

Father of 5 Is Attacked in Building Dispute.

hurst hospital, where he told his story in periods of consciousness. He said an official of the trades council was in the gang that stoned him.

His mother, Mrs. Laura Bolton, 70 years old, said the terrorists evidently had learned his plans Tuesday night. The family was annoyed during the night by mysterious telephone calls from men who asked for him and then hung up the receiver. Bolton is 33 years old, the father of children whose ages range from 9 months to 6 years.

Earlier Victim Chased Away.

Samuel Passarelli, a Chicago masonry contractor who was the victim of a previous slugging in a dispute over the same project, was chased away from the project earlier yesterday. His pursuers smashed the windows of his car and allowed him to go.

Officials of the Landis Award Employers association expressed concern last night because William F. Heibel of West Chicago had failed to arrive with a truckload of materials. Heibel previously had been forcibly prevented from making deliveries.

Yesterday's attack followed appeals to Gov. Horner, Du Page county authorities and the Lombard police for protection of workmen on the project. The state labor department investigated some time ago and reported it could find no evidence of the violence.

Arrests? Arrest Whom?

Du Page county officials had made no arrests last night. They said they were disappointed by the lack of cooperation from the contractor and the officials of his association. The county officials said no complaints had been signed.

Sherif Arthur Bennett said two deputies from his office investigated when called to the scene by telephone. But the sherif said he could make no search for the terrorists until he knew who they are, and that he had been given no names.

Russell W. Keeney, state's attorney, went to the hospital last night to interview Bolton. He said Bolton told him he did not know the terrorists, although he believed he could identify them if he saw them again. Keeney said he would investigate one suspect whose name Bolton gave him.

Chief Groote said the attack occurred outside Lombard.

Grows Out of Arbitration.

The Landis Award Employers' association is an organization of contractors who operate on the open shop system. It is an outgrowth of the celebrated arbitration of wage disputes in the building trades made in 1921 by Kenesaw Mountain Landis, then a federal judge.

The contractors pay less than the union scale. The minimum for mechanics is $1 an hour, according to Charles P. Peirce, executive vice president of the association. The minimum for most laborers is 65 cents an hour, although some work on a 75 cent minimum. The employers do not draw a strict line between the various trades, but reserve the right to let men of one trade use the tools of another. Thus, for example, a bricklayer may on occasion do plastering.

Earl Rieck, secretary and treasurer of the building trades council, asserts that efforts to build the houses in Lombard are a "feeler" by association contractors wishing to employ non-union labor in the area.

Start Work Next Week on New Gresham Station

Construction will start next week on the new $35,000 Gresham district police station. It will replace the present frame structure at 8601 South Green street, damaged by fire last May.

Trail of Terror

Dotted line marks route of Warren R. Bolton, Lombard business man from Roselle (1), where he had gone for excavator to be used on construction project being picketed by strikers in Lombard. He was driving south on route 53 when terrorists attempted to block road (2). They followed him, throwing stones at him. Bolton, severly injured, turned east into North avenue and jumped out of car in front of barbecue stand (3). He called police there. The strike terrorists entered the barbecue stand and beat him. The home building project is at Ash and Martha streets (4).

JUDGE RELENTS AND SITDOWN STRIKE IS ENDED

When Judge Samuel H. Trude, in Renters' court, ordered the eviction yesterday of the Emmel family from 2239 North Sawyer avenue, Mrs. Marie Emmel sat down.

So, in a flaxen-haired row beside her, did Maja, Eleanor, Irmgard, and Karl Jr., the youngest of her seven.

"We'll sleep on the benches if we have to," Mrs. Emmel asserted. "It's better than the streets."

One hour passed and still they sat. Two hours. Three hours. Four hours. And finally the judge gave in.

"All right," he said with annoyance. "I'll extend that until Aug. 2. I don't want any sitdown strikes here."

The Emmels are tenants of the Home Owners' Loan corporation and were sued six weeks ago for nonpayment of their $35 a month rent. Previous extensions of the eviction date totaled forty-four days. Mrs. Emmel explained:

"When prospective landlords learn my husband makes $55 a month on the WPA, they turn us down."

LINK C. I. O. CZAR TO COMMUNIST PLOT CHARGES

Detroit, Mich., July 27.—(AP)—John L. Lewis' name was brought into the trial of four suspended vice presidents of the United Automobile Workers of America today and a defense attorney promptly charged that Homer Martin, U. A. W. A. president, was trying to link C. I. O. Czar Lewis with what Martin has termed a communist conspiracy to wreck the union.

Martin emphatically denied the assertion, made by Maurice Sugar, and said it indicated Sugar's "persistent attempt to misrepresent the facts."

Sugar said the first witness at the trial, F. J. Michel, U. A. W. A. executive board member from Racine, Wis., told of a board meeting at Washington in April, 1937, at which Lewis requested permission to name an administrator for the union.

Sugar charged that Michel's testimony indicated the Martin group "contends that Lewis was one of the 'conspirators' aligned with the defendants in delivering the international union to the communist party."

C. I. O. SEEKS TO PACIFY COURT IN FOUNDRY STRIKE

Will Ask Judge Today to Dismiss Charges.

Judge Ralph J. Dady of Waukegan will be asked today to dismiss, vacate, or modify contempt sentences against ten persons. They are among the many who defied authority during the seven weeks of lawlessness that marked the Committee for Industrial Organization's strike at the Chicago Hardware Foundry company at North Chicago.

When the strike was settled on July 23 the company signed a memorandum in which it agreed to recommend that all charges growing out of the strike be dropped. The company made it clear that it could only recommend; that it could not guarantee. President E. B. Sherwin last night said he would ask the court to deal leniently.

Asks NLRB to Drop It.

In return the C. I. O. union agreed to withdraw all charges it had filed against the company before the National Labor Relations board. Yesterday Van A. Bittner, who is in charge of activities of the Steel Workers' Organizing committee in the midwest, wrote to Leonard C. Bajork, regional director of the NLRB, and asked leave to withdraw the charges. The board will study the proposal.

Today Lester F. Collins, attorney for the C. I. O. will appear before Judge Dady. He will be flanked by John Riffe of East Chicago, subregional director of the S. W. O. C.; John J. Brownlee, personal representative of Bittner, and Harry E. Scheck, conciliator for the United States department of labor.

Attorney Collins will ask Judge Dady to throw out the sentences he imposed upon men who treated the Circuit court, the judge himself, and all the law agencies of Lake county with contempt and defiance. Leading this list of ten is the name of Robert Wirtz, a former school teacher and now a student at Northwestern university.

Gave Him 120 Days.

Judge Dady sentenced Wirtz to serve 120 days in jail, and as he passed sentence he said:

"Wirtz is guilty of willful and deliberate contempt. He has had a better than average education. He has taught school. It is possible he is sincere, but he has ideas that are not the ideas of this country."

Then the judge read from handbills, admittedly edited and distributed by Wirtz. "Judge Dady has declared war on the citizens of Lake county," read one. "Thugs are being recruited and armed by Sherif Lawrence A. Doolittle and Judge Dady," read another handbill.

"I do not believe there is any fair minded person in Lake county who believes there is any excuse for these statements," said Judge Dady as he passed sentence.

Reads Acts of Contempt.

The judge went on down the list, reading out the instances of defiance and contempt charged to each of the remaining nine. Then he passed sentences of from twenty to thirty days in jail against them all. The ten have appealed.

When the contents of the agreement that settled the strike were brought to Judge Dady's attention, he said sternly: "Contempt is a serious thing." Asked if he had any further comment on the company's deal with the C. I. O., he said abruptly: "I have not."

After Attorney Collins and his entourage have made their request to the judge today, they will move to the office of First Assistant State's Attorney George W. Field, who is acting in the absence of State's Attorney Charles Mason. They will ask that Field move to quash twenty indictments charging strikers and others with conspiracy to intimidate by combination.

Will Cite the Agreement.

They will tell Prosecutor Field that their request is along the lines of the company's agreement. They will ask the state's attorney's office to become a party to a deal with the C. I. O.

In addition Collins will ask that Field nolle pros seventeen charges of unlawful assembly and disturbing the peace. Informed yesterday of these forthcoming requests, Field replied:

"I have set the seventeen charges of unlawful assembly for trial on Aug. 3 before Justice of the Peace Henry Wallenwein. And that's that."

The contempt cases grew out of defiance of the court's order against mass picketing and blockading of the foundry gates. Loyal workmen were prevented from entering, even after a storm had flooded the plant. Because crews could not go in to protect machinery and sand moulds, damage in excess of $20,000 resulted.

More at Foundry Gates.

The twenty indictments charging intimidation grew out of similar tactics at the foundry gates. The seventeen charged with unlawful assembly interfered with Sherif Doolittle when he broke up a forbidden indignation meeting on the courthouse lawn in Waukegan. The meeting was in protest against an appropriation of $10,000 by the Lake county board, to permit Sherif Doolittle to hire special deputies.

Aided by these special deputies, armed with tear gas, the sherif broke the blockade at the foundry on July 19 and scattered the pickets. Four days later the strike was settled.

BEG YOUR PARDON

An item July 22 stated that Frank Mueller, 33 years old, 909 Willow street, was sentenced to serve twenty days in jail in connection with the theft of liquor from a tavern. Mueller was questioned by police but was released without any charge being placed against him.

SPANISH BATTLE RAGES IN STREETS OF FRANCO BASE

150 Rebel Planes Bomb Gandesa Attackers.

HENDAYE, France [at the Spanish frontier], July 27.—(AP)—The Spanish government announced tonight that its three day old Ebro river offensive in eastern Spain had carried Catalonian shock troops into the streets of Gandesa. There they grappled hand to hand with the rebel forces that once had driven them from the town.

Wedged loyalists pushed into rebel territory indicated by arrow.

Since April 2 Gandesa has been Generalissimo Francisco Franco's south Catalonian headquarters. The town is a control point for roads running east to the Ebro, south to Tortosa and west to Caspe and Alcaniz, commanding the entire region.

Entry of the town capped a surprise thrust of more than 15 miles from the banks of the Ebro in which the government reported the capture of fifteen villages and 4,000 prisoners.

Counterattack by Air.

The advance into Gandesa was said to have been effected despite some of the war's heaviest rebel aerial operations—a day in which 150 heavy bombers unloaded explosives on the encroaching infantrymen hour after hour. The planes each carried two tons of 225 pound bombs. Franco relied on his planes to halt the government thrust. A Burgos report said this was "the first battle in which the air force had the première rôle."

The government, hitherto lacking in planes, challenged Franco's aerial superiority. Throughout the day squadron after squadron of blunt-nosed "Chatos"—Russian type pursuit planes—tackled the relays of heavy bombers. There were many aerial battles.

Rebel advices admitted the Catalonians were "attacking Gandesa madly" and ascribed the fury of the offensive to the fact that rebel bombing planes had "destroyed" the three pontoon bridges on which the loyalists had crossed the Ebro on Monday and on which they depended for contact with their bases. All permanent bridges over the Ebro had been dynamited by loyalists in the April retreat.

Break Rebel Supply Lines.

Before Gandesa, the Catalonian infantrymen burrowed their way across the sandy ground or sought the cover of scrub pines to escape the rebel bombardments. They edged forward at intervals while supporting artillery in Los Caballos hills, northeast of Gandesa, shelled the city and lines of reinforcements being rushed up to the front from Saragossa and Alcaniz.

Government reports said the rebels were unable to use the Gandesa-Castellon road because it had been cut in several places, especially in the vicinity of Pinel de Bray. The government reported an advance all along the 90 miles of Ebro river front from Amposta, at the river mouth, inland to Flix.

Gandesa fell on April 2 to a fierce thrust from the Aragon region by Italian troops under Gen. Garcia Valino—part of the general offensive which carried Franco's red and gold banners to the Mediterranean at Vinaroz.

Tarragona Air Bombed.

BARCELONA, July 27.—(AP)—Ten Junkers [German made] bombing planes heavily bombed Tarragona, on government Spain's east coast 50 miles south of Barcelona, this afternoon. The big planes dropped both explosive and incendiary bombs. Several buildings were set afire. The number of casualties was not immediately available.

SLAYER OF LOVE RIVAL IS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

A coroner's jury yesterday held August Kuehl, who knifed his successful love rival to death, to the grand jury on a charge of murder. Kuehl is 25 years old and a mechanic. He lives at 1612 Fullerton avenue. His former sweetheart, Miss Iris Tibor, 18, a waitress, lives at 1616 Fullerton avenue. The slain man was Robert Samac, 21, of 2740 Kimball avenue. Kuehl said he stabbed Samac when Samac struck at him with a piece of iron pipe. Except for this, Miss Tibor and her brother, George, 14 years old, substantiated his story. The fight started when Kuehl asked Miss Tibor to get out of Sumac's automobile in front of her home.

HELP KIDNEYS PASS 3 LBS. A DAY

Doctors say your kidneys contain 15 miles of tiny tubes or filters which help to purify the blood and keep you healthy. Most people pass about 3 pints a day or about 3 pounds of waste.

Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning shows there may be something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

An excess of acids or poisons in your blood, when due to functional kidney disorders, may be the cause of nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

BRITISH VESSEL SINKS AFTER 3D RAID BY REBELS

MADRID, July 27.—(AP)—A rebel seaplane today bombed and sank the British freighter Dellwyn in the British leased port of Gandia in eastern Spain. There were no casualties. Two bombs struck the vessel as it was unloading a cargo of coal.

The Dellwyn was the target of a seaplane on Sunday and Monday nights. In those attacks the bombs fell harmlessly into the water. The successful attack came just one month after the British freighter Farnham was sunk by the rebels at Alicante.

In the interval there had been no other attacks on British shipping and Britain made repeated protests to Generalissimo Francisco Franco. More than sixty British ships had been attacked during the Spanish civil war.

[Prime Minister Chamberlain told the British house of commons Tuesday that rebel authorities had agreed to a proposal to investigate bombings of British ships, which appeared to London to have been deliberate. The rebels would pay compensation if a two man commission of British and rebel naval officers agreed that an attack was deliberate.]

Attack Enemy 20 Miles Nearer Hankow.

SHANGHAI, July 28.—[Thursday.]—(AP)—The Chinese-Japanese war today rolled into Hupeh province—the eleventh of the twenty-four Chinese provinces to be afflicted by land combat in the struggle.

The Chinese, admitting "a strategic withdrawal" from Kiukiang, gateway to Hupeh and the metropolitan Wuhan area including Hankow, dug in on a new defense line twenty miles up the Yangtze river and just ahead of the Japanese offensive.

The new defense line runs south from Lungping, on the north bank of the river, to Teian, thirty miles south of Kiukiang on the railroad to Nanchang, formerly Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's greatest air base. Kiukiang, which is 135 miles downstream from Hankow, fell Tuesday.

Cholera Among Refugees.

Chinese officials reported that cholera had broken out among refugees from Kiukiang and among the Chinese forces. Thirty-nine foreigners, including nine Americans, remained at Kiukiang or aboard the American and British gunboats Monocacy and Cockchafer and the British steamer Wenchow.

Advancing upriver against the Lungping-Teian line, intent upon smashing it and shoving ten miles farther westward to Tienkiachen and Wusueh, site of a submerged river boom, the Japanese carried their invasion into eastern Hupeh, part of a province of 71,000 square miles and 29,000,000 population.

Damage to Foreign Property.

A Japanese survey after the capitulation of Kiukiang was said to have disclosed considerable damage to foreign property.

Embassies at Hankow, following the lead of the Chinese foreign ministry, were preparing to leave for Chungking, 500 air miles farther up the Yangtze valley. The Chinese foreign ministry closed yesterday pending removal to Chungking.

The American Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and his staf plan to depart from Hankow on Aug. 2 aboard the United States gunboat Tutuila.

LONDON, July 27.—(AP)—Haile Selassie, fallen emperor of Ethiopia, today won judgment in chancery court against Cable and Wirless, Ltd., for $53,065 which he claimed under an agreement for radio and telegraphic service between Addis Ababa and London. Judgment was given in March against Haile Selassie, but he appealed the case and was granted a new trial.

SLAYER OF WIFE, RIVAL DESCRIBES FATAL SHOOTING

Policeman John F. Lewe yesterday told the police trial board his story how he shot and killed his wife and her sweetheart, Harry Johnson. Lewe was exonerated by a coroner's jury. Assistant State's Attorney Emmett Moynihan said that criminal charges will not be pressed. Lewe testified that he shot Johnson in self-defense and that some bullets went wild and struck his wife, Phyllis. The shooting occurred June 7 near Wabash avenue and Randolph street. Lewe has been suspended since. The police board is expected to give its decision in a few days.

JAPS MAKE PLEA FOR DEFINING OF SIBERIAN BORDER

TOKIO, July 27.—(AP)—The Japanese foreign office spokesman said tonight that the "government keenly feels the importance of definitly redemarcating" the Manchukuo-soviet Russian boundary, a long standing point of friction in the far east.

A dispatch from Hsinking, Manchukuan capital, today said that officials expressed readiness to compromise with Russia over the July 11 Changkufeng incident, the first of three disturbances which brought Russia and Japan to a near crisis this month.

The third clash was disclosed today by the Japanese foreign office with the observation that it was "not to be taken seriously." Manchukuo, however, protested the incident on July 23, two days after it happened. About sixty Russians landed from a gunboat on an island of the Ussuri river and "apparently reënforced by 100 men the following day" invaded Manchukuo south of Khabarovsk and set fire to two small villages. Five hundred Manchukuans attacked them and they retired.

ARAB RELIGIOUS LEADER SLAIN IN NEW OUTBREAK

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

JERUSALEM, Palestine, July 27.—An Arab religious leader was assassinated today in Acre, sending a new wave of terror through the Holy Land, which has been the scene of numerous bombings and slayings during the last three weeks.

Sheik Hevzi Abdul Hamid, head of a mosque in Acre, was killed by a gunman who fired three shots and escaped.

The slaying occurred just as authorities, while not relaxing their vigilance, were relieved by the apparent abatement of racial disorders between Jews and Arabs.

The Jewish population immediately fled from Acre, fearing new outbreaks of the guerilla warfare that has troubled Palestine since July 5.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 27.—All Jews of German nationality living in Germany must apply for police identification cards bearing their finger prints, under a decree issued today by Wilhelm Frick, home minister.

The decree, effective Oct. 1, also applies to all young Germans liable to do military service on becoming 18 years of age. It was explained that conscripts will need the cards for dealings with authorities on military matters.

All other Germans 15 years old may apply for cards if they wish.

Aryan Maids Restricted.

Return Open Verdict on Poison Death of Engineer

A coroner's jury was unable to decide yesterday whether John Douglas Keener, 36 years old, a consulting electrical engineer and former Princeton university student, died by his own hand or by accident. Keener was found dead on July 13 in his home at 5540 Hyde Park boulevard. A chemical analysis attributed death to alcohol and poisoning from a sedative.

JUDGES ORDER DEFIANT BAILIF HORAN TO JAIL

In Contempt for Refusal to Rehire Deputies.

sitting with you. The law makes no provision for more than one judge in any one branch of the court."

"Your objection will be noted; proceed," ordered Judge Sonsteby.

Objects to Speaking First.

"I don't think it is up to me to begin," said Cashen, also a former assistant state's attorney. He said he expected the other side to make the first move, but Judge Sonsteby thought otherwise. For a minute Cashen hesitated and then asked and obtained permission to read the written document he had filed in the morning.

This recounted the discharge of the fifty-five deputy bailifs last March and April. It acknowledged receipt of an order from the judges to reinstate them and went on to explain why Horan didn't obey. He said it would be an unnecessary expenditure of public money to put those ex-bailifs back on the pay roll because they were not needed.

The answer also stated Horan's belief that the judges didn't have the power to punish him for contempt of court because, he claimed, the order of the judge was an administrative act and not a judicial act. He agreed that the court could punish disobedience of a judicial act or order.

One Thing or Another?

"Is he going to do one thing or another?" impatiently interrupted Judge Thomas A. Green. "If he is going to obey the order of the court to reinstate the balifs he will purge himself of contempt. If not, we'll take action."

To the direct question, Cashen replied that Horan had answered it in the written document. Horan said nothing. Judge Green announced he was satisfied: "The answer is a refusal and it is so shown."

Cashen cited a recent decision by the Supreme court to the effect that three circuit court judges had erred by sitting together to hear one case.

When, a few minutes later, it was Friend of the Court Soble's turn to speak, the twenty-seven jurists trying one defendant were reminded that three judges had sat en banc—together—to try the Sanitary district officials—and the Supreme court said that was all right. Cashen, supported by Judge Dougherty, explained that the defendants had not objected to the surplusage of judges.

No Evidence, No Witnesses.

That was all. No evidence. No witnesses called. No summation or closing arguments. The trial, said by lawyers to be unique in many respects but principally in that it is probably the only trial in Chicago history where there were twenty-seven judges to one defendant, was over. The judges retired to Judge Sonsteby's chamber.

Twenty minutes later all emerged and Judge Sonsteby announced that Cashen's motion to dismiss the proceedings against Horan had been overruled. Soble's motion to strike Horan's answer had been sustained. Judge Joseph B. Hermes read the other findings.

The order was that Horan be confined in the county jail until he complies with the previous order to give back stars and credentials and payroll status to the fifty-five bailifs. Under the order, if carried out, Horan might become a forgotten man like others sentenced on such a basis. An example is that of Daisy Tegtmeyer, now in her sixth year in the county jail because of her refusal to obey a court order to tell what became of certain money.

Asks Delay for Appeal.

Lieut. Richard Barry of the detective bureau was designated an ex-officio bailif, to seize Horan and take him to the county jail. Then Attorney Cashen's motion for a stay to perfect an appeal was granted and Horan quickly signed a bail bond.

Horan was smiling as he walked out to face newspaper reporters.

"Certainly I am going to appeal," he said. "I'm going to find out if, as an elected official, I am responsible to the people or if I am just a puppet of the judges."

The strategy of Horan's move was explained later. He will have the opportunity of getting an opinion from the Appellate court on his defiance of the judges he was elected to serve as balif. If the opinion is against him he can save himself from jail by restoring fifty-five names to his pay roll. If in his favor he will gain prestige and political power—and who can tell what else?

Local Governments' Debts Cut 38 Millions in 3 Months

The six major local governments in Cook county cut their total debts by nearly 38 million dollars in the second quarter of 1938, it was disclosed yesterday in an analysis of midyear financial statements. The reporting governments are the city, school board, park district, sanitary district, county, and forest preserve.

The big debt reductions were recorded as collection of 1937 property taxes permitted the retirement of bonds and tax anticipation warants. The first instalment of the 1937 taxes fell due June 1.

The debts of the governments totaled $502,011,703 on last June 30, compared with $539,996,056 on March 31, a reduction of $37,984,353 in three months.

$96,459,602 Cut in Year.

Coupled with the large scale paying of debts in the last half of 1937, the reduction in the recent quarter brought the total debt cut for a twelve month period to $96,459,602. The debts of the governments totaled $598,471,305 in the middle of 1937.

The huge reduction in one year was due to the fact that three real estate and two personal property tax penalty dates occurred. The first penalty date on 1936 taxes was Aug. 1, 1937.

The reduction in the second three months of 1938 was recorded as follows:

	June 30, 1938.	Mar. 31, 1938.
Tax warants	89,901,876	108,460,625
Floating debt	20,300,424	20,925,230
Totals	$502,011,703	$539,996,056

The net bonded debt figure is computed by subtracting sinking fund money on hand from the total of outstanding bonds and accrued interest. The floating debt consists of unpaid bills and pay rolls, judgments, and other current obligations.

As no penalty date will occur in the present quarter there probably will be an increase in the debts, tax experts said. The tax warant debt is expected to rise as the governments borrow money for current operations without large offsetting payments on old warants.

All Show Debt Decreases.

Each of the governments showed debt decreases in the second quarter of 1938 and for the twelve month period, as follows:

	Reduction—Second quarter 1938.	Reduction—Twelve mos. to June 30.
City	$13,577,292	$36,857,761

ARMY TO TRAIN 500 OFFICERS IN TACTICAL PRACTICE THIS FALL

Washington, D. C., July 27.—(AP)—The war department announced today that about 500 officers would be trained in forthcoming war games at Fort Knox, Ky., for commands they would fill in actual conflict.

Regular and National Guard officers and about 2,000 men of the skeletonized 2d army will participate in a defense against a simulated northward invasion through Tennessee Sept. 4-25.

The large scale command post exercises are a part of the most extensive summer peacetime training in the army's history, involving more than 400,000 officers and men. Officers and men will be drawn from Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, Wisconsin, Indiana, Kentucky, and West Virginia. The 2d army is commanded by Maj. Gen. Hugh A. Drum with headquarters at Chicago.

RULES TRANSFER OF PRISONER TO MENARD ILLEGAL

Judge Oscar F. Nelson ruled yesterday that Frank Schlieben was committed illegally to the state prison for the criminal insane at Menard. In January Schlieben ended ten years in Stateville prison for killing his sweetheart in a quarrel over 15 cents. Then he was transferred to Menard on orders of Judge E. H. Wegener in Randolph county.

Judge Nelson held that the sanity hearing should have been held in Cook county, where the murder occurred. He directed that Schlieben be examined in the Psychopathic hospital Saturday. If he is insane, he will be placed in a private institution. If he is found to be sane Schlieben will be freed, the court indicated.

Dr. Alex S. Herschfield, former state alienist, testified before Judge Nelson that Schlieben is sane. His services were retained by the prisoner's father, Stanley Schlieben, 1509 Superior street.

Boy, Year Old, Is Killed by Wire of Home Lamp

Evansville, Ind., July 27.—[Special.]—Danny Rae Gish, 1 year old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Gish of 2106 North 5th avenue, was electrocuted today by a short circuit in a floor lamp. His father found the child lying across a hot air register, his head resting on the base of a floor lamp. There were burns on his face and a thigh.

Bilbo's Divorced Wife May Seek His Seat in Senate

Jackson, Miss., July 27.—(AP)—Mrs. Theodore G. Bilbo, divorced wife of United States Senator Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi, said today she is considering opposing her former husband for the senatorial nomination in 1940. Mrs. Bilbo was divorced from the senator last week after thirty-four years of married life.

BACK FOR MORE SCHOOLING AFTER 37 YEAR WAIT

Fifty years ago Mrs. Theresa H. Archibald, who now is 68 years old, began teaching. Forty-six years ago she attended the University of Chicago in its opening year. This summer she is back on the Midway to get her doctor's degree.

Mrs. Theresa H. Archibald.

In 1892, she recalled yesterday, she came to Chicago from Kalamazoo, Mich., to teach the fourth grade in the old Fernando Jones school at Harrison street and Plymouth court. But she wanted to teach high school subjects, so her principal recommended the new university, saying it soon would extend its influence not only over the city, but throughout the country.

She attended from 4:30 to 6:30 each afternoon, she said, at the extension school held in the Fine Arts building. But when she left Chicago in 1901 she still had no degree. She got that later, an A. B. and an A. M., at the University of Texas. Since 1912 she has been principal of the elementary school at the State Orphans' home at Corsicana, Tex.

"I still think it's smart to go to school," she said.

VANGUARD OF STATE'S TROOPS PITCH TENTS FOR ANNUAL TRAINING

Rockford, Ill., July 27.—[Special.]—Army trucks from every part of the state rumbled into Camp Grant this morning, bringing 900 advance troops to complete preparations for the annual encampment of the Illinois National Guard, beginning Saturday.

The soldiers, representing every unit in the 33rd division, had pitched tents by noon. The main body of the division, which will total more than 9,400 men and officers, will start arriving at the camp by train and trucks shortly after midnight Friday.

The coast artillery, now at Camp Logan and Fort Sheridan, will arrive the last of next week to participate in the final week of training here.

ADA LEONARD, STRIP DANCER, CONDITION FAIR

Ada Leonard, strip tease dancer, who refused to undergo an operation for appendicitis because she objected to having a scar on her body, was reported in fair condition in Grant hospital yesterday. Miss Leonard was stricken ten days ago. The appendix broke and peritonitis set in. Under the care of Dr. Karl Meyer she has received two blood transfusions and a third is being considered. Meantime the figure which she displays in burlesque theaters and night clubs is packed in ice.

Do You Spend
Sleepless Nights?
... Tossing Endlessly, Waiting for Rest that Refuses to Come

Are you unable to relax, your nerves tense and "on edge?" Are you losing weight? Do you lack the pep and vigor you want for your work and play? Is your appetite poor?

Any or all of these are important warnings—the first DANGER SIGNALS of impending ill health? There's not one of them that you can safely laugh off! Not one that it isn't foolhardy to ignore—thinking that it will "run its course" and that you'll get back to "par" without any help.

So, when you first begin to feel run-down, jittery and "out-of-sorts," that's the time to act. And the best thing you can do is to go see your doctor. He is the one person who can set you right. Now he may recommend the scientific food-drink, MALVAZ, as just the "pepper-upper" you need. Many doctors know how, for years, the rich, vitalizing nourishment in MALVAZ has helped build up and maintain a normal, healthy tone in the systems, of thousands of folks, who use lots of energy, or were nervous or underweight.

And MALVAZ is not hard to take. In fact, many people drink it for the taste and stimulating pleasure alone. So we urge you to build up your health—drink MALVAZ—keep fit! Phone CANal 6500 for a carton now!

GERMANS ATTACK PROPOSED CZECH MINORITIES LAW

Brand Prague's Offer as "Unacceptable."

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, July 27.—The German press, which is controled by the Nazi government, tonight unanimously branded the nationalities statute proposed by the government of Czechoslovakia as "wholly unacceptable" and "in no way leading to peace."

The papers charged that the wishes of the Sudeten German [pro-Nazi minority in Czechoslovakia] were ignored completely, and that "so many strings and loopholes are attached to the few concessions the Czechs made that they are practically valueless."

European capitals had waited anxiously for the Czech government's draft of the new minorities law. It was hoped this law would allay the danger of war from the friction between the Prague régime and the 3,250,000 Sudetn Germans in Czechoslovakia, who have Adolf Hitler's backing in their autonomy demands. Last night the statute was published unexpectedly—as a result of prodding by France and Britain, some observers said.

Promises Democracy.

The proposed statute promised a "spirit of democracy and humanity." It would grant concessions in school administration, government jobs and the use of languages.

[In Prague it was reported Premier Milan Hodza was drafting a second law to deal with local self government and the degree of autonomy for Czechoslovakia's minorities, including Poles, Hungarians, and other groups as well as Germans].

The Berliner Tageblatt said the minorities law is "only a repetition of small promises made to German groups last year." The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung spoke of "scandalous disregard for German demands," and the Berliner Nachtamusgabe referred to the statute as a "burocratic piece of paper in complete contradiction to Henlein's eight points."

This was a reference to Konrad Henlein, Nazi leader of the Sudeten Germans, who on April 24, laid down eight demands which he said must be met by the Czech government.

Hitler to See Henlein.

Reichsfuehrer Hitler, who is now in Beyreuth for the Wagner music festival, will return to Berlin tomorrow and then leave for Breslau to confer with Henlein during the week-end. Henlein is attending a German festival of gymnasts in Breslau, and Hitler's presence will be the occasion for a demonstration in which 30,000 Sudeten Germans are expected to take part. Breslau is but a few miles from the Czech border.

Hitler and Henlein will discuss the new aspect of the Czech-German problem growing out of the announcement Monday that Viscount Runciman, former president of Great Britain's board of trade, will go to Prague as a mediator in the Czech-Nazi dispute.

France Gives Warning.

PARIS, July 27.—(AP)—France tonight served warning that the naming of Viscount Runciman, instead of a Frenchman, as a mediator in Prague in no wise altered France's determination to fight for its Czechoslovak ally. Sources close to the foreign office said this move did not mean France was "no longer interested in that part of Europe." This was interpreted in some quarters to mean that France will not stand by idly while Berlin puts pressure on the Prague régime.

Gets Alimony

ZITA JOHANN.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27.—[Special.]—Married or not, from a legal standpoint, Zita Johann, former Broadway actress, is entitled to $100 a week temporary alimony from John McCormick, Judge Leslie E. Still decided. McCormick, motion picture agent and former husband of Colleen Moore, contended he and Miss Johann were not legally married when they went through a wedding ceremony in 1935. He also said Miss Johann's divorce from Broker John Hausmann, obtained in Mexico, was void in California.

KILLER TRAPPED WITH RUM; CAN'T EXPLAIN SLAYING

Chico, Cal., July 27.—[Special.]—After driving through the hills for eight hours with the body of a woman friend beside him, Walter Ross, 27 years old, was in jail tonight, trapped by his fondness for liquor.

The woman, Mrs. Dave Boyd, 31 years old, wife of a tavern owner and formerly a school teacher, had been shot by Ross, officers said. They were forced to wait until Ross, who is an electrician, sobered to obtain an account of the tragedy.

Ross, who had threatened members of a posse closing in about him, was captured after he had been plied with drink in a mountain tavern.

The slaying took place yesterday, and Ross was located today at the tavern of Mrs. Grace Taylor.

"I'll kill the first man who tries to take me," Ross threatened. Mrs. Taylor started serving free drinks. When she signaled that it was safe for the posse to enter, Ross was so intoxicated he could not explain the killing.

4 FIREMEN HURT IN BLAZE NEAR A BUSY CORNER

Three firemen were overcome by smoke and gas and a fourth was cut severely during a fire last evening at the Maurice M. Lamm Clothing company, 1177 Milwaukee avenue. The fire which started in the basement was discovered at 6:30 p. m. Trafic was jammed more than an hour at the nearby intersection of Milwaukee avenue and Division street.

Lieut. Anthony Jablonski of engine company No. 30 was overcome by gas and smoke, as were Firemen Edward Mucha and Robert McCullough of the same company. Fireman John Neville of engine company No. 28 was struck in the shoulder by an ax, wielded in the smoke fogged interior by a fellow fireman.

Chief Paul Swiefka of the 5th battalion was unable to determine the cause of the fire and asked Assistant Corporation Counsel Earle R. Downes to make an investigation. Damage was estimated at from $5,000 to $10,000.

ENGINEER TELLS DESTRUCTION OF STATE ROAD BIDS

U. S. Probes Possibility of Collusive Figures.

Estimates on which bids for 23 of 28 county highway projects for 1938 were based, have been destroyed, Mathew J. Fleming, chief assistant to the state highway engineer, said yesterday. His statement was made to Warren Canady, assistant United States district attorney, who is investigating the possibility of collusive bidding in connection with contracts for the projects.

Fleming indicated that either Thomas Harvey, junior highway engineer, or James Smith, office engineer, destroyed the records. Canady immediately issued subpenas for them, for questioning Tuesday.

Demands Grand Jury Action.

"Destruction of the records is a most unusual procedure," Canady commented. "I want the right man to tell the grand jury by whom the estimates were destroyed and at whose orders."

Investigation of the highway bids was started when F. Linden Smith, director of the state department of public works and buildings, questioned acceptance of the bids by the Cook county board in April.

The total of the bids was $400,000 under estimates of the county's engineers. They were accepted and forwarded to the state for approval. State officials, however, rejected them as too high. Second bids were called for and accepted by both the county and state. The total of these was $872,000 below original estimates.

Suspect Collusive Bidding.

But because many of the same companies bid both times, collusive bidding was suspected, and federal officials launched an investigation. This was made possible because the Public Works administration is supplying 45 per cent of the cost of the contracts.

Fleming told Canady destruction of the records occurred after the original bids had been rejected.

POISON DEATH CALLED SUICIDE.

Abraham W. Levy, sales manager of the Star Watch Case company, committed suicide because of ill health, a coroner's jury decided yesterday. Levy, 65 years old, was found dead Tuesday in his home at 720 Maclean avenue, Kenilworth. He took poison.

Seeking Divorce

MAE BOWER.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 27.—[Special.]—Mae Bower, stage and screen actress, is awaiting trial of her divorce suit against Irving L. Ingraham, heir to a watchmaker's fortune. Her complaint charges cruelty and says that she separated from her husband 28 days after their marriage last March 27. A property settlement has been arranged.

FARMER DIES OF INJURIES.

Jacksonville, Ill., July 27.—[Special.]—Joseph C. Lynn, 64 years old, farmer and live stock raiser of Virginia, Cass county, died last night in a Beardstown hospital. He was crushed last Saturday when a wagon, which he was trying to block, passed over his body.

U. of I. Professor Named to Farm Credit Board

Urbana, Ill., July 27.—(AP)—Prof. T. C. M. Case, head of the department of agricultural economics and member of the college of agriculture staf at the University of Illinois for 20 years, has been appointed to the district board of the farm credit administration. The district covers Illinois, Missouri, and Arkansas.

Berwyn Property Owners Ask $136,000 for Blasts

Twenty-five Berwyn property owners want $136,000 from the sanitary district of Chicago. They charge that dynamite blasting during construction of an intercepting sewer caused their homes to tremble, shake, and be displaced. The suit was filed in Circuit court yesterday by Attorney Otto W. Jaburek.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

PRINCIPLES IN STORE

By CALEB

YEARS AGO the founder of our store startled the business world of his day when he made the simple statement that "The customer is always right."

At that time the practice of setting a firm price for merchandise and adhering to it was still somewhat new. It had long been the custom to trade and bargain over most of the items sold. Likewise the old motto, "Let the purchaser beware," was not an unfamiliar one in the country.

In consequence the uncompromising position that the customer is the most important element in every retail transaction was a bit startling in its implications. Pressed for a definition of his meaning, Mr. Marshall Field said simply, "We set the price on each item at just what we think it is worth. If for any reason it isn't worth that much to the customer who buys it, we'll prove we think it's worth that much by taking it back. And the customer is to be the judge; his decision is final."

Upon that basis our business was begun, and by means of it has grown and expanded its services to the community. More than three-quarters of a century ago it appealed to Field customers as a reasonable way of doing business. We still find it a sound method of operation.

To the practice of unquestioning refunds Mr. Field added the rule—also a trifle startling in those days—that we, and not the customer, were responsible for watching the quality of goods we sold.

It was up to us, Mr. Field said, to see that the customer got precisely what he believed he was getting, and what he intended to pay for. The natural result was increasing care in the buying of merchandise, the development of an acute sense of quality, and of better than mine-run skill and judgment in merchandise. Under such a system we could not stay in business otherwise.

On these broad bases the foundation of our business rests. Times change, methods change, merchandising changes—but these basic things survive. The superstructure we have remodeled innumerable times—but the foundation remains untouched. We see no need or reason for altering it. Mr. Field's precepts and beliefs are just as sound and productive today as they were three-quarters of a century ago.

MOVES TO STOP HEIRESS' DEATH INQUEST FOUGHT

Executors Seek Order to Restrain Coroner.

Bull probably inspired the injunction petition.

They regard the present action as a skirmish preceding a battle to have the April will invalidated on the ground Mrs. Sidley, who came from Racine, Wis., was incompetent when she signed it. Some of the testimony before Chief Coroner Smirle Lawson yesterday tended to show mental unbalance on her part.

The coroner overruled an objection of Attorney D. L. McCarthy to the inquest. He held that the attorney general had ordered the inquiry on a broad scope and he was carrying out the command. Mrs. Sidley had been residing for more than a year in the Bull home here.

Denies Exhumation Report.

Attorney Hope denied today that the Canadian authorities would seek to have her body exhumed if the injunction is granted. Attorney McCarthy said it was impossible under international law to compel the executors through Canadian courts to permit exhumation. He even argued that the inquest could not be reconvened because the body had been sent to Racine.

Crown attorneys said there was ample precedent for completion of the inquest. Canadian law, they said, gave the coroner's office the widest possible latitude in interpreting his rights and duties.

Thomas Henry Bull, a son of W. Perkins Bull, was questioned for several hours today at Queen's Park, the provincial courthouse. Investigators said they still were interested in a trunk young Bull left on the steamer Duchess of Bedford. He left the ship and returned to Toronto at the request of authorities, but the trunk went on to Southampton. The investigators want to know what papers were in it.

DUTCH FREIGHTER WORRIES CITY'S SHIP WATCHERS

The Dutch freighter, Prins Fredrik Hendrik, sailed from Chicago yesterday loaded with 2,000 tons of soy bean meal for Rotterdam. As it passed through the Chicago river from the Seng Waterway warehouse dock, 310 Polk street it was canted to one side due to an uneven ballast caused by emptying of one of the coal bunkers. Crowds lined the river thinking the boat was in danger of capsizing.

Their fears increased when at the Randolph street bridge the tow line to the river tug pulling it snapped and the freighter started to drift toward the raised bridge. No mishap occurred and the tow was resumed. Warehouse officials said the boat would balance itself with lake water in ballast tanks as soon as it left the river.

The ship arrived Monday after delivering anthracite coal at Toronto, Ont., from England. It is a sister ship of the Prins Willem Van Oranje, which arrived here early in the month.

The white flower of a night blooming cereus (cactus) owned by Charles M. Hayes. It is on display at the Edgewater Beach hotel. It blooms about midnight.

From 9 p. m. until the early hours of this morning groups were gathered in the lobby of the Edgewater Beach hotel about a rare tropical plant that blooms but once a year, near midnight. The delicate white petals of the night blooming cereus began opening just after 9 p. m. And from then on until they closed there were interested watchers. The plant is owned by Charles M. Hayes, president of the Chicago Motor club.

AIR LINE TESTS NEW RESPIRATOR FOR HIGH FLYING

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 27.—(AP)—A Northwest Air Lines plane carrying a Mayo Foundation scientist and six members of the air line operations staf arrived here tonight on an altitude flight to Los Angeles to test a new oxygen respiration apparatus developed at Rochester, Minn. The party took off from Minneapolis, Minn., today.

Piloted by Mal Freeberg, chief of maintenance of the eastern division of the air line, the ship carried Dr. W. R. Lovelace, Mayo Foundation fellow, who helped design the apparatus. The flight was made at an altitude of 20,000 feet.

Each person on the plane wore a respirator, fashioned by Dr. Lovelace in coöperation with Dr. W. M. Boothby and Dr. A. H. Bulbulian of the Mayo Foundation. Designed to prevent drowsiness of pilots at high altitudes, the apparatus, in the form of a mask, fits over the nose, leaving the mouth uncovered to permit pilots to use radio broadcast apparatus.

The party was to remain here overnight and take off for Union Air terminal, Burbank, Cal., tomorrow.

PICKABACK PLANE BACK IN ENGLAND AFTER U. S. FLIGHT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, July 27.—The Mercury, long distance upper component of the British composite pickaback aircraft, reached Southampton, England, at 8:20 p. m. [2:20 p. m. Chicago time] today on its return from the United states.

This 8,000 mile round trip is the first Atlantic survey flight for the pickaback. The Mercury started July 19 from Southampton and the next day was launched at Foynes, Ireland, from the back of its elevator plane, the Maia, for the long westward crossing to Montreal, Que., and thence to New York.

HUGHES AND HIS FLYING CREW IN CITY TOMORROW

Plans to let Chicagoans see Howard Hughes and his globe girdling crew were completed yesterday. The five world flyers will arrive at Chicago airport at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

Mayor Kelly, as chairman of Chicago's New Century committee, and other committee members will greet Hughes and his companions at the airport.

A parade will follow when the air heroes reach downtown. It will start at the Congress street plaza, then proceed north on Michigan avenue to Randolph street; west to State street, south to Jackson boulevard, west to La Salle street, and north to the city hall.

Tomorrow night the guests of the city will be given a banquet in the Palmer house by the New Century committee.

CORRIGAN VIEWS WRIGHT PLANE AND IS AMAZED

LONDON, July 27.—(AP)—Douglas Corrigan prowled among relics in the historic British Museum of Science today on his last day in London.

The American aviator's major interest was in the plane which carried Orville and Wilbur Wright in the first sustained flight at Kitty Hawk, N. C., in 1903.

"I don't see how they ever flew that thing," Corrigan said. "It amazes me that it ever got into the air."

Gentlemen! O, Gentlemen! This Is No Time to Quarrel

BUCHAREST, Rumania, July 27.—(AP)—Rumania's beer steins were dry today in the midst of a heat wave. Spigots were turned off when brewers and retailers quarreled over a decree cutting beer prices 10 per cent.

INQUEST DELAYED IN THE DEATHS OF 2 JOHN SMOTERS

An inquest into the death of Little John Smoter, the little cobbler, and Big John Smoter, the big steel worker, was continued yesterday until Aug. 9. The two, who were not related, were found dead, side by side Tuesday in the cobbler's shop at 106 West 119th street.

Big John was shot through the head and the heart and Little John twice in the head and twice in the chest. Two pistols lay beside the bodies.

Mrs. Teresa Cziglecky of 524 West 103d street, told a coroner's jury she had seen the weapons in the comrades' possession. Both men, she said, had wives in Poland. Little John also had three sons and two daughters there, one of whom, Pauline, is now on her way to visit Chicago. Little John, she said tearfully, had promised to marry her if he could get a divorce from his wife.

From neighbors police learned that the two men had quarreled recently when Little John accused Big John of cheating on their joint living expenses. The police theory is that the men engaged in a duel. Ballistics tests will be made in an effort to prove this.

4 Die as Freight Plane Crashes in Kenya Colony

KISUMU, Kenya Colony, July 27.—(AP)—A freight airplane crashed and burned six miles north of here today, killing the crew of four.

CITIZENS RESENT POWER SQUEEZE IN CHATTANOOGA

City Board Gets Rough with Opponents.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 27.—[Special.]—Many Chattanooga citizens today complained that the city's public power board is using intimidation to put over its program of municipal ownership of utilities. Even the traditions of southern chivalry, it was alleged, are being violated by employés and supporters of the board. The whole question is interlaced with the power policies of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Several years ago the city authorized a bond issue of $8,000,000 to buy or build a city owned system. Since then the board representing the city has made an offer to purchase the Tennessee Power company's local facilities for $6,000,000. The threat also was held out that the city would build and compete with the company unless the offer was accepted.

Company Refuses Offer.

The company's reply was that it could not logically break up its closely knit holdings. Besides, it now is negotiating to sell its entire system to the Tennessee Valley authority. However, the company agreed to a discussion if the TVA deal doesn't go through.

Persons opposing municipal ownership have been circulating petitions for the last few days. These petitions protest the issuance of general obligation bonds; they maintain that any bonds issued should be guaranteed only by earnings of the utilities. Also they demand that "to prevent wasteful competition," the city council pass an ordinance prohibiting power line building in sections now adequately served.

Seek to Halt Petitions.

Today the power board, headed by L. J. Wilhoite, sent out its employés to halt the circulation of the petitions.

An elderly woman who was seeking signatures declared that Walter Young Jr., a power board sympathizer, knocked a petition from her hands and cursed her as "a tool of the power trust." She said that "it was a wonder" she wasn't knocked down. Wilhoite, she added, saw the incident.

"He didn't reprimand the young man or help me," she asserted. "He just stood and grinned at me."

Another Woman Complains.

Another women reported that a man with a foreign accent commanded her not to sign; that he was with the power board and she had better not.

WPA workers said they had signed, but asked their names be removed. They were told, they said, that they would lose their jobs if they persisted in thwarting the power board program. A woman told of having her petition taken away and torn to bits by hoodlums.

The power board has hinted that it would give lower rates than a power company. Mayor Ed Bass, on the other hand, maintains that the city's finances will not stand an expenditure of millions now.

PRESIDENT SENDS FOOD TO PACIFIC ISLE OF MYSTERY

ABOARD U. S. S. HOUSTON, IN GALAPAGOS ARCHIPELAGO, July 27.—(AP)—President Roosevelt today sent fresh food and other gifts to the few inhabitants of mysterious Charles Island.

Members of the Presidential party and fifty bluejackets went ashore with foodstuffs, magazines, newspapers, and medical supplies.

The island's inhabitants refused to discuss the mysterious disappearance several years ago of the eccentric Baroness Eloise Wehrborn. She allegedly set up an empire and ruled her subjects—three men—with an iron hand. Two of them later were found dead.

The President spent the day in his floating office and on the decks, supervising operations of the shore parties. The Houston then turned eastward for Hood Island, sixty miles away.

LOW FLYING BAN PREDICTED AFTER COLOMBIA CRASH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BOGOTA, Colombia, July 27.—Stringent regulation to prevent planes from flying at low altitudes near crowds were predicted today as an outcome of Sunday's disaster at the new Campo de Marte air field, where 54 persons were killed and several score injured. A plane speeding at an altitude of 90 feet over a crowd of 50,000 gathered for the dedication of the new military airport, crashed among the spectators and burned. Many of the injured still are in serious condition.

TVA COMMITTEE ACTS TO THROW QUIZ WIDE OPEN

Invites 3 Utility Chiefs to Appear at Hearings.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Knoxville, Tenn., July 27.—[Special.]—Action was taken by the congressional investigating committee tonight to throw wide open the inquiry into the hydro-electric phases of the Tennessee Valley authority.

Senator Vic Donahey [D., O.], chairman, sent invitations to Bernard F. Weadock, managing director of the Edison Electric institute; Wendell Wilkie, president of the Southern and Commonwealth corporation, and C. E. Groesbeck, president of the Electric Bond and Share company, to testify before the investigators. Donahey suggested the week of Aug. 15 for their appearance. The committee has a program already mapped out up to that date.

The two companies are holding companies of private utilities in the TVA area. Wilkie and Director David E. Lilienthal of TVA have held several conferences in negotiations for acquirement of distribution systems from the utilities. The Edison Electric institute sent Donahey a request for a hearing.

Chief Problems Cited.

The TVA yardstick set up to measure fair prices for current sold by private companies, a main issue in the inquiry; the allocation of costs of TVA dams between power navigation and flood control, and what items are included in present TVA rates are regarded the chief problems by the investigators.

They say so far the surface has only been scratched in the inquiry. Dr. Arthur E. Morgan, deposed chairman, has deferred his testimony on power until the power inquiry has got down to brass tacks. Director Lilienthal has given testimony on power and rate making.

TVA engineers are still to be heard. Thomas A. Panter, committee engineer, is organizing his staf. Besides the three men invited tonight, Chairman Donahey threw the door open, saying testimony from others interested in the investigation also will be welcomed.

Morgan Charges Aired.

Charges of Dr. Morgan that TVA prepared, but did not use, misleading figures for the 18 power company suit at Chattanooga last winter composed the main subject taken up today by the investigators. This case, involving the validity of the TVA act, is pending before the Supreme court.

Two TVA engineers testified that Dr. Morgan had ground for saying the engineering staf was put under pressure by the lawyers. Four engineers said no pressure was used on them.

Charges made by Director Lilienthal May 26 at the committee hearing in Washington, accusing Dr. Morgan of trying to sabotage the 18 company suit, of tampering with prospective witnesses, and of seeking a judicial decision against his own agency, were taken up when James Lawrence Fly, TVA general counsel, was on the stand.

Quizzed by Wolverton.

Replying to questions from Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.], Fly declined to take responsibility for the charges. Repeatedly Wolverton asked what justification there was for Lilienthal's charges of sabotage against Dr. Morgan.

Fly in his testimony amplified the denial of any impropriety in conduct of the Chattanooga case which was made yesterday by Attorney John Lord O'Brian of Buffalo, N. Y., chief TVA counsel in the trial.

"I cannot find the facts which justify those charges," said Wolverton. "You say Arthur Morgan was sabotaging, tampering with prospective witnesses, seeking a judicial decision against his own agency, TVA, that his position was adverse. Get down to fundamentals."

"I never made that statement," said Fly.

Chief Engineer Testifies.

Carl A. Bock, assistant chief TVA engineer at the time of the Chicago trial, testified a memorandum had been sent by the legal staf to the engineering staf asking it to get up a set of figures which he deemed impossible.

"My concern," said Engineer Bock, "was that the material asked for would set up impossible figures. I feared its tendency was toward minimizing the cost of power and had a semblance of allocation of costs. It would very easily be indicated as an engineer's approach to making an allocation of costs between navigation, power, and flood control."

"What impropriety was in it?" asked Representative Wolverton.

"It set up an approach to allocation which we could not support as engineers," said Bock, "it would show a lower total cost for power than a more considered allocation might indicate."

Another Supports Charge.

Harry Wiersema, general office engineer, said Dr. Morgan asked him whether any of the engineers were under pressure.

"I replied in the affirmative," said Wiersema. "General Manager Blandford asked me the same question and I replied in the affirmative."

E. L. Chandler, chief estimator, said he wrote Dr. Morgan saying he did not understand how any objection could be raised against the material. He said no pressure was put on him; that it was a theoretical study and never used in the case.

Robert A. Monroe, water control engineer, testified no embarrassing demands had been placed upon him. Dana Wood, hydraulic engineer, said when Dr. Morgan asked him whether the legal department had put pressure on him he replied, "Decidedly no."

George W. Foster, hydraulic engineer, said that perhaps he had expressed or implied embarrassment, and had said nothing to Dr. Morgan until after the case.

Director Harcourt Morgan, in charge of the TVA fertilizer program, will take the stand tomorrow.

KRASCHEL OF IOWA SHOULD BE IMPEACHED.

The Maytag company in Newton, Ia., petitioned Gov. Kraschel for permission to open its plant. He refused. The situation is peculiar and peculiarly rotten. Even if it is not wholly unfamiliar, it is still peculiar and rotten. The plant is closed because troops of the National Guard, under orders from the governor, have shut it down. The company is not allowed to operate. Some of the employés, members of a C. I. O. union, went on a strike. They closed the plant with a picket line. Other employés who wanted to work were prevented from entering. The striking employés went on relief.

The company employs about 1,400 and it is estimated that half of these want to work. Jasper county relief funds were exhausted and the state controler, at the governor's orders, authorized the board of supervisors to transfer $20,000 from the general fund to relief. When that was exhausted a second transfer was required. After a suspension of operations the company endeavored to reopen and for two days about 600 of the men were back at their jobs.

With the pretense that grave public disorders would result if the men continued to try to go back to work, the governor sent the state troops to Newton and the plant was closed again. The community, which has a general stake in the pay rolls, began to suffer both from the loss of income and the increased cost of relief. Gov. Kraschel, replying to petitions that the company be allowed to run its plant and that the state preserve order, said that there would be no reopening until an agreement had been reached with the C. I. O.

Kraschel should be impeached. He has violated his oath of office. He has denied equal protection of the laws to the people of Iowa. He has called out the troops of the state to deprive citizens of the use of their property and to take away from them the right to earn their living by working. He has become a promoter of lawlessness in the state in which he is the chief administrator of law. He has abused the power the people of Iowa gave him when they elected him governor.

The duty of the governor of Iowa is to protect citizens in their rights, to use the force of the state for their security in their lawful employments, and to guard their property from damage. His duty is to enforce the law impartially. On the contrary, he has sent the National Guard to Newton to close a plant, to keep men from going to work, to aid the persons who threatened violence, and to deprive people of their livelihood. He has forced the citizens to increase their taxes, he has turned their own troops against them, he has dishonored his oath, and he has disgraced himself as the head of an American state.

The people of Iowa are not made of such weak stuff that they may be expected to submit to such an official attitude when they have the power in their hands to put the governor in his place. They are not so unintelligent that they cannot see what such malfeasance in office would lead to. It would be strange if they would agree that their National Guard can be used as the armed force to protect the lawless and oppress the peaceable.

There is no evidence in their political action that they have subscribed to anarchistic doctrins or care to have dictatorial contempt prevail in the chief office of their state house. There have of late been some grotesque abuses of the bill of rights in various sections of the United States but Gov. Kraschel has outdone anything which had been an offense to decent government before anywhere else. And that is saying a great deal because the other offenses were serious almost beyond comprehension.

If Iowa tolerates the acts of this governor, it needn't ask when it is going to get a dictator who puts himself above the law. It will have one. He should be impeached and removed from office as an exemplary punishment for his misdeeds and a warning to men who hold their own duties and the rights of citizenship in contempt.

HERR HITLER SENDS OUT A DOVE.

The surprise tender of a new olive branch by Chancellor Hitler through his personal aid, Capt. Fritz Wiedemann, to Mr. Chamberlain's foreign secretary, Viscount Halifax, was coincidental with the visit of the king and queen of Great Britain to France and also with disquieting disturbances on the Berlin stock market. The Reichsbank took an active hand in the market and bolstered up some of the collapsing securities, but the premonitions were bad.

The Fascist powers have been advertising disbelief in the ability of the so-called democracies to resolve their timidities and make anything like a formidable front, but this opinion may have been slightly shaken by the ornate demonstration of French and British purposes. Both Italy and Germany seem to have accepted the royal visit, the imposing show of soldiers and chefs, as an indication that the French and the British at last knew precisely where they were and meant business.

That was one admonition and the stock market tremors gave another. Germany as a totalitarian state has a number of communistic controls in operation, but this structure is a thoroughly artificial one and another crash is not outside the probabilities. Germany's foreign trade is on a barter basis, the most primitive of transactions, such as exchanges of tractors for coffee. Its credit is impaired by the repudiation of obligations. Although it seized Austria's gold, it has refused to recognize the Austrian debts to American creditors which Austria would have been able and willing to settle.

The Nazis have destroyed property rights, particularly by expropriating the possessions of Jews. There is a communistic system of enforced labor which makes a mockery of pretenses that there is no unemployment. Public expenditures are on a scale which must call up the memory of the extravagances preceding the days of 1923 and '24, when the mark was stabilized finally in Berlin at some 4 trillion to the dollar and in the occupied Ruhr at 11 trillion.

The dictator has a better hold on resources than the tottering socialist republic could have, but a government based upon defiance of proved human inclinations and sound practices has inherent weaknesses. One of the best hopes of a better humanity is that dictatorship must rot within.

PAROLE IN PRACTICE.

Three young hoodlums, all of whom have been treated with distinguished consideration by parole boards, were arrested in Chicago a few days ago, charged with a series of armed robberies. The police estimate at $100,000 the value of the loot stolen since the first of the year by these men. They had half a dozen guns in their arsenal. Their rolling stock consisted of five stolen passenger automobiles and a stolen truck. Their victims were generally storekeepers. Their raids were carefully planned and rehersed. In one of their last efforts they obtained more than $3,700 in cash and checks for $6,000 from a department store messenger after his bodyguard had been slugged.

Once more this community finds its police alert, competent, and courageous. The police can protect the city from hoodlums but not from the parole authorities. Arrests are made, convictions are obtained, and society is protected for a brief period. Then, thanks to soft-headedness or worse on the part of the politically appointed parole authorities, the criminals are released to renew their campaign of robbery, murder, and terror.

The records of the men under arrest are striking evidence of the way in which parole works. Frank Gentile and Tony Catalano were found guilty in 1933 of a robbery in Grand Rapids, Mich., and were sent to the penitentiary at Jackson. Two years later they were out on parole. Lawrence Russo was sentenced to Pontiac in 1930 for one to ten years. His crime was robbery, committed in Kane county. Three years later he was released by a tender hearted parole board. Within a few months he was wounded while holding up a druggist in Chicago, and on Jan. 15, 1934, was sentenced for attempted robbery. On Oct. 16, 1937, less than four years later, this incorrigible was out again, though this time the record shows that his release came "on completion of sentence."

If Russo had been kept behind the bars instead of being released in 1933, he could not have held up the druggist in 1934 nor have committed the crimes now charged against him. When he was caught and convicted in 1934 his original ten year term should have been reinstated and the new term added to it. That would have kept him out of circulation. Russo, like Gentile and Catalano, got all the breaks. The lives and property of men and women trying to earn an honest living were deliberately imperiled in consequence.

Sentimentalists and politicians approve the administration of parole. In this connection the following sentences quoted from the news story recounting the arrest may be significant:

"Gentile and Russo were charged last night with robbery, larceny of an automobile, and attempted robbery. Soon afterward, Gentile was visited by Andrew W. Euzzino, assistant attorney general of Illinois."

It would be interesting to know what brought Mr. Euzzino to the police station.

SWING AND FAREWELL.

Recent observation of the goings-on in Harold Teen's circle suggests that the middle aged have been living in a fool's paradise. Their number is up. No significant changes in the art and science of ballroom dancing have been recorded in thirty years. That couldn't go on much longer. No generation can expect to trip toward the grave with the same steps it learned in dancing school. The generation which trampled the waltz [the real waltz, not the fox trot to waltz time] and the two step has no right to expect its dances to live forever. The middle aged, like their predecessors, must learn the new stuff if they can; and if they can't, must accept the rôle of spectator.

At the moment the dance is in a period of readjustment. The future can be foreseen only in its larger pattern but already it is apparent that the rhythmic shuffling, left right, left right, which began with the bunny hug and the bear and evolved into the one step and fox trot, is on the skids. Students of social change will have no difficulty in recognizing the symptoms. Some of the dancers today are bewildered. They have been reduced to aimless walking about the floor, hand in hand. Others stand stock still, at arm's length, staring at each other and saying nothing. They are ashamed of the old and afraid of the new. They are hopeless and helpless, the victims of a technological revolution which they cannot understand.

But new life is springing. Out of the big apple comes trucking and a lot of other novelties. Swing it, jitterbugs! The middle years of the century are yours.

Editorial of the Day

ENGLISHMEN AND THEIR BATHS.

[Topeka Daily Capital.]

The Englishman is taking more baths. The Geographical Review has calculated the amount of water used in England and finds the average Englishman used about thirty-five gallons of water a day—an increase of twenty gallons a head in twenty years.

Some of the increase in the use of water is attributed to the fact that more automobiles are being washed in that country. But more water is used for baths than for cleansing cars, and it is estimated that within forty years the Englishman will be using as much as eighty gallons of water daily.

Even that high figure is small compared to the amount of water used in the United States. The average American uses over 100 gallons a day, in some places, such as Chicago, the amount reaching 200 gallons daily per capita. Of course, there are more bathtubs in proportion to population used in the United States than anywhere else on the globe, but our lawns and our specialized industries also demand enormous amounts of water.

The woman who composed Ti-Pi-Tin, Mrs. Maria Grever, has the title set in diamonds as a brooch. She was at the Congress this week on her way to Colorado Springs, a large, Latin lady with a slight Spanish lisping of her c's and z's. She delights in telling the story of the musician who died at the height of the popularity of Ti-Pi-Tin and came, unshaven, to the Pearly Gates.

"How dare you come here without shaving?" demanded St. Peter.

"Forgive me, but on earth I was so busy playing that damned song Ti-Pi-Tin I didn't have time to shave," pleaded the musician.

At that moment three angels flew overhead playing Ti-Pi-Tin on their harps.

"So it's up here, too," exclaimed the musician. "Never mind the forgiveness, St. Peter. I'd rather go to the other place."

A youthful Lake Forest matron recently has been in the hospital. One of her old beaux thought up a gift to help pass the time for her. He had made to order and embellished with cupid's bows and hearts a kissometer. The kissometer, which registers the degree of intensity of a kiss, caused such hilarity that she almost was asked to leave the hospital. She and her husband are in great demand at Lake Forest dinner parties. She is always asked to bring the kissometer.

Doris of the Ozarks Gets a Present.

Last week while my husband was in Chicago on a business trip, he stopped at the cosmetics department of a loop department store to buy me some much-needed beauty aids. Being a talkative soul, he told the lovely young woman behind the counter that he was buying them for "a girl in the Ozarks." The salesgirl had evidently read the little story about my young neighbor that you printed earlier this month, for quick as a flash, she asked: "Doris?"

My husband explained that they were not primarily intended for Doris, but undoubtedly she would share in their use. The salesgirl said that would not be necessary for she would fix Doris an outfit of her own from samples and extras they had in the department. Miss Provines, I wish you could see the boxful of beauty helps she fixed up. Everything from mascara to nail polish that a 15 year old girl could wish for; all wrapped with tissue paper, seals, satin ribbons, and all the trappings that one of the store's most precious gifts would be given.

Every one in this part of the country has seen it, and dozens have told Doris that "agin school opens" she should be as pretty as some of those city gals who were down at Jack's Forks when the bass season opened. And with the typical conversational restraint of hill folk, Doris frequently says in her amusing monotone voice: "We-uns here in the hills think Chicago must be plumb nice!"

TO A STRAY DOG.

Your matted coat is wet with summer's rain,
And paws so young, and once so sure and quick,
Are heavy with exhaustion, And your eyes,
So mild and dark, reflect bewilderment
In quest of more humane humanity.
You heard the noise—and terror struck your heart—
The cruel clang of doors that shut you out.
You asked so little; food sufficient to Sustain your little candle's glow of life;
You asked the hand that held the whip, not for Caress, O no, but just to stay the lash;
And you would rise, a valiant, noble dog,
In brave defense of him who made you cringe,
And then your masters turned you out. They closed
The doors on treasures in their natures, too,
On graciousness and generousness and other precious jewels,
If one could only think of them upon
This warm and sultry day. Did they who shut
You out not think that He who made them, too,
Created you? . . . Now here
Are food and drink; and you must learn to wag
Your tail again. Keep tail and whiskers up—
The world loves courage and the picture it
Presents. And here's a toast for us: That on
The bedrock of necessities will grow
The multitudinous delights of living!

A 3 year old boy taken to see Snow White was asked afterward what the picture was about. "A witch and an apple," he answered.

The little boy's comment, indicating that only the frightening part of the picture left an impression, brought to mind a piece in an Australian publication. Below a news note that Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs had been banned in several English counties was the following dialog:

Mummy, may we go to see Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs?

No, dears! Run along and ask Daddy to show you all the pretty war pictures in the illustrated papers.

It's too gruesome, chicks! Now go and do your gas-mask practice and then go off to bed like good children.

DON'T HANDLE YOUR SKIN.

ERUPTIONS on the skin are not always what they seem and the presence of a lesion, particularly in a nervous patient, should be studied not only from the standpoint of its origin but in relation to all the factors that may prevent healing. Some of us have difficulty in leaving the epidermis alone. A slight itching or even roughening may lead to intermittent fondling or manipulation, and this very practice may be the means of keeping the irritation active.

What we call eczema, for example, appearing on the wrists, elbows, neck, behind the ears, or on the inner portion of the thighs, may persist for months if we are unable to stop "picking," owing to the annoyance which the outbreak causes. Usually a food is responsible, or some cosmetic, dye, or article of clothing. But, regardless of its beginnings, we keep it stirred up by constant clawing.

Nearly every case of scabies [the itch] is complicated by infection which has been sown by the finger nails, and cure is not as simple a matter as it otherwise would be if we had but the parasite to destroy.

Many of us probably have had occasion to recognize among friends one who is a blackhead, whitehead, or pimple hunter. The last thing he does before going to work is to spend five to ten minutes before the mirror searching for a spot about the face which he can squeeze or pinch. If perchance a tiny sebaceous gland is emptied of its contents he evinces no small amount of joy and satisfaction. Basically the idea is not bad. The desire to keep clean is sound, but the victim fails to realize that he is probably seeding more bacteria than he is removing. Furthermore, the destruction of delicate cells which occurs in the process leads to the development of thickened regions which, after a time, may grow into true blemishes.

Then there are the beard pluckers—chaps who are always working at ingrowing hairs with the nails or a pair of tweezers [which, by the way, are never clean]. The washroom of a Pullman is a favorite stage setting and, after the rush incident to dressing and shaving is over, the whisker snatcher begins his performance.

Mention also must be made of those who are persistently doping some spot of the body with an antiseptic. Most strong chemicals are far more likely to destroy normal cells than they are to rid us of microörganisms. Much, of course, depends on the chemical that is employed. Iodine occasionally will cause a typical burn with ensuing irritation, while bichloride of mercury may bring on a dermatitis.

Very few now cling to the use of carbolic acid in the treatment of wounds, as we have learned that gangrene may follow. I well recall the case of a young farmer with a badly cut finger who had wrapped the member in a piece of cloth soaked in this compound. The outcome was stoppage of the circulation, for which amputation was required.

With young children it may be necessary to bind mittens on the hands to prevent scratching and sometimes it is wise, even with older, responsible individuals, to cover the lesion with a gauze dressing, thus preventing thoughtless interference. Hysterical patients naturally are likely to exhibit skin inflammation of numerous types, usually self-inflicted, which may call for complete enclosure with dressings if improvement is to be brought about.

All such habits—nervous, if you please—are pernicious in the extreme. More often than not the skin becomes diseased and, now and then, deep craters develop into sizable abscesses. All we accomplish by repeated handling is to add insult to injury. As a lesson in control, might it not be well if each of us would undergo a self-examination to determine how much we dig at the surface of the body?

SWELLING OF BODY.

L. R. writes: What would cause a man 75 years old to acquire a very large stomach during the last year? His feet and hands also seem to be swollen. Has he pleurisy?

REPLY.

Not pleurisy, although possible cirrhosis of the liver should be investigated. Fluid will collect in the tissues also, if the heart or kidneys are overloaded.

WORRY AND ULCERS.

Mrs. A. E. C. writes: Is there anything I can take to quiet extreme nervousness accompanying stomach ulcer? Having had to spend much money for treatment and operations, I am in very poor circumstances and worried all the time.

REPLY.

Worry has a good deal to do with the onset and continuance of peptic ulcers. A simple sedative such as a bromide may be prescribed by your physician.

SETTLING ESTATE.

South Bend, Ind., July 22.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. My husband died Jan. 11, 1937, naming me beneficiary in his will and the local bank administrator. Just how long does the administrator have to settle the estate? 2. In my husband's last illness of over four months I spent almost $1,000 of my own money for hospital, nurse, and doctor bills, and also bought a monument costing $750 with my own personal funds and so far the administrator hasn't paid me back for any of this, but has sold stocks and collected insurance and paid the undertaker and notes outstanding.

3. The administrator had me pay almost $400 taxes on property that was in my husband's name, all of which is being held as collateral on notes my husband gave several different banks. W. F. H.

1. Ordinarily the estate should be closed shortly after the expiration of the period allowed for filing claims. We suggest that you ask the administrator to explain the reasons for the delay. If the reasons are not supplied, then you can ask the clerk of the court to bring pressure to bear on the administrator to close the estate.

2. See 1.

3. It is not clear what you mean by saying that the real estate is held as collateral. If you are not satisfied with the advice that you are able to obtain from the administrator we suggest that you have a personal interview with an attorney.

TAKING NEGROES FOR GRANTED.

Chicago, July 26.—For the last five years some Negroes have boasted about turning down the Republicans and voting for the Democrats on the grounds that for many years "we voted the Republican ticket and they took us too much for granted thereby coming to the conclusion we needed no consideration."

Perhaps that is so. But what have the Democrats done for us? In five years' time they too seem to have taken us for granted and again we are given no consideration.

Let us start at home: The housing condition. Good houses have been torn down, firetraps have been left standing.

Houses that are now available to us are so high in rent many are forced to live crowded in three and four rooms together.

We don't even seem to have law and order where the Negroes are concerned. Such acts as those white hoodlums taking those Negroes from the street car and beating them. Would you call that law and order?

To me it seems the same thing the Jews are being subjected to in Germany. We do have a chance here this fall to change conditions by being men and women with enough strength of character to go to the polls and use the ballot as our weapon of defense.

I am no politician, merely a law abiding citizen who wishes to see a race treated as human beings and not as animals of the wilds.

MRS. N. J. SMITH.

PURGE FAILS IN TEXAS.

Amarillo, Tex., July 24.—W. Lee O'Daniel has just been nominated for governor of Texas in the greatest Democratic campaign in our history. He dropped out of a clear sky and challenged all the politicians in the state without a day's notice.

O'Daniel's whole background and nature indicate that he is actually a Republican—an anti-New Dealer—in favor of one panacea of pulling America out of the depression, viz: Work, sweat of the brow of each individual citizen—not pork and political pap.

Talk about Pepper's and Thomas' races being a test; well, Texas has had one. The New Deal has been blasted out of the water and the capital building.

I implore you to get a political writer into Texas quick and never let up on the defeat of the Roosevelt indorsed candidates! Unquestionably Thompson was blessed by Roosevelt at Amarillo. He snubbed Connally, Hatton W. Sumners, but put his specific blessing upon several congressmen including Maury Maverick, who is defeated.

F. A. ROBINETT.

HE'D BE A FINE BOY.

Chicago, July 25.—To the Voice of the People Writer, A. E. L.: While picking what you think is an easy job for your son—a policeman's job—it might be wise to consider his qualifications also. He must compete with high school and college graduates, must be in excellent physical condition to meet with the rigid requirements, be able to endure hardships; be reliable without fear. He must be willing to risk his life for the safety of the public.

Teach your son to study hard, get a good education, and learn to do each task well without complaining, also teach him consideration for others.

With such qualifications, I think he will be able to find his own place in life.

M. J.

YEAR'S COST FOR FOUR.

Chicago, July 25.—Here is what it costs a collector on the North Shore road and his family [four in all] to live one year, not including clothes, doctor, insurances, and education for the children:

Rent per year	$ 480
Coal, eight tons	80
Groceries and meat	624
Milk [two quarts a day]	73
Gas and electricity	108
Uniform and cap	42
Uniform cleaning and pressing	18
Union dues [$3.25 a month]	39
White shirts and ties	15
Death benefit insurance	18
Sick benefit company insurance	18
Sick benefit insurance	34
Total	$1,549

Three hundred and eight working days in 1938 at $5.85 per day, $1,801.80.

With a 15 per cent deduction in wages this would leave us $17.47 in the red.

X. Y. Z.

FINDS US ANTI-ROOSEVELT.

Libertyville, Ill., July 25.—I have never seen a newspaper so completely anti-Roosevelt as yours. No matter what the President tries to do, no matter what legislation he attempts to have passed, THE TRIBUNE picks out the flaws and not the good points of his action. Criticism of the administration is never followed by suggestions or a remedy for the crisis. Perhaps a little coöperation on the part of the press, and especially THE TRIBUNE, with the administration might help rather than hinder this country's efforts to climb to the top.

COURTESY WEEK IN PRACTICE.

Chicago, July 24.—Since this is courtesy week, I want to mention the bus driver of a No. 6 Michigan avenue bus 744, who gave such kind and courteous attention to an elderly Negro who was transferring from his bus to a westbound Washington boulevard bus. He assisted him across the dangerous street and placed him safely on the right corner to board the other bus. Such courteous service in the face of so much race prejudice should be highly commended.

MRS. MAE CHRISMAN.

ORIGIN OF "BLATHER."

Chicago, July 25.—In your column of last Saturday "A Teacher" brands most of the teaching of patriotism as "blather," and you are curious to know just what is "blather."

It is a word like "blarney," transferred from native Irish speech into the English and commonly used in Irish and now in English as a term of mild contempt for ignorant volubility ["bladar," Dineen's English-Irish Dictionary, 1927], of which there is a plenty about patriotism.

"A Teacher" found the right word for it.

MORE "GOOD HUNTING."

Chicago, July 25.—I have just read your editorial "Good Hunting," dealing with street noises. I am fully in accord with it but there is another noise nuisance you might discuss and that is the hawking of Sunday newspapers beginning as early as 7:30 on what should be our day of rest—the only day in the week when most people have a chance to sleep late. We would as lief be awakened by the old clothes man or the vegetable peddler as by the raucous shouting of these dozens of young newsboys.

Perhaps your columns are not the place to suggest a boycott of newspapers, but it is after all a more reasonable way than to kill the proprietors, a way you recommend to stop the overloud radio nuisance.

But I forget the freedom of the press, and I suppose that this is one of the items included in this freedom, and, of course, the circulation must be kept up, come h—— or high water.

FRANK L. CARROLL.

ONE LETTER THAT WASN'T FUNNY.

Clifton, Ill., July 24.—I read THE TRIBUNE every day, and after reading all the news, both good and bad, I like to even things up by turning to the funnies. But instead of turning to the funny pictures I turn to "Voice of the People," where people are really being funny without being paid for it.

However, once in a while some intelligent person springs into this column, as did "A Railroad Engineer's Daughter" under date of July 23, in which she points out the gross unfairness of the public's paying for highways for bus and truck trafic—unfairness to the railroads.

May I add that Illinois is being forced to it at the rate of an $8,000,000 loss per year right now in the maintenance of our present highways? How much longer can we wait, and why?

ROBERT H. MOREL.

SHIVERING ON A WARM DAY.

Chicago, July 25.—In his recent speech in Covington, Ky., Mr. Roosevelt said: "My friends, when I was here in '32 I recall that it was a cold day—men, women, and children stood before me shivering for actual want of clothing.

As I happened to be in that district at that time I remember distinctly it was warm with an abundance of sunshine—temperature about 70 degrees. Now I defy any one to stretch his imagination to the point of visualizing people shivering on a sunny day with a temperature of 70 degrees. I grow more convinced old Barnum was right when he said "there's a sucker born every minute."

Here's hoping the people of this country will toss aside their rose colored glasses and face the realities of life before it's too late.

MISS LOUISE YOUNG.

PAYS UP $30,000, AVOIDS JAIL FOR SALES TAX FRAUD

Owner of Markets Admits Faking Books.

A $30,000 check to cover part of a sales tax shortage won probation yesterday for Edward F. Petrak, partner in a chain of meat markets. If he fails to pay $2,500 a month on the remaining shortage of $28,974 he must go to jail for one year.

Petrak's case was the first to reach court in the campaign against sales tax evaders. The disposition was called a victory for the state department of finance, which has five more cases ready for trial and is preparing 100 others. The five involve $170,000 allegedly withheld in sales taxes.

In the Petrak case Judge John J. Rooney in the Felony court carried out an agreement reached by Assistant State's Attorney Mal Coghlan and Defense Attorney Harold Levy. Thomas Bugan, representing the state finance department, said he was pleased by the quick action and results.

Admits Faking His Books.

Petrak is a partner in the Petrak Quality Markets. The company owns stores at 4135 West 26th street, 3454 West 26th street, 4214 Madison street, 5220 West 25th street, Cicero, and at 6420 Cermak road, Berwyn.

He took the blame for the fake bookkeeping system which showed much lower gross sales than the firm had entered in a second set of records. State department investigators uncovered the tax shortage of $58,974.

Suspended six months sentences were entered by Judge Rooney on each of two charges of failure to file tax returns.

A certified check for $30,000 was turned over to Bugan by Petrak, and he promised to continue to make restitution in monthly instalments.

Partner Freed of Charges.

Charges against Petrak's partner, his uncle, James J. Petrak, then were dismissed. Two other defendants, however, still face charges of conspiracy to defraud the state in the same case, and will appear in court Aug. 9. They are Herbert Bachman, 4701 North Kilbourn avenue, the bookkeeper, and Joseph Murray, 2416 North LeClair avenue, former investigator for the department of finance. Murray is accused of showing the Petraks how to falsify the books.

After a conference following the court hearing officials of the state finance department warned sales tax evaders that the Petrak case had set no precedent and that probation is not to be expected in return for restitution or a promise of restitution. Each case will be decided upon its merits, Bugan said.

VOTE TO INDICT TWO IN BERWYN FUND SHORTAGE

True bills charging a former and a present official of Berwyn with embezzling $3,726 from the city's special assessment fund were reported voted yesterday by the grand jury.

The two are Ernest W. Mau, present treasurer and former controler of Berwyn, and Matthew Berg, former treasurer. Bond was set at $10,000 each. C. Vernon Thompson, assistant state's attorney who presented the evidence to the grand jury, said the indictments may be returned today.

A shortage in the city's special assessment fund was disclosed early this month.

Meanwhile yesterday George Strand, former special assessment division chief who became controler of Berwyn in April, 1937, turned in his resignation. Mayor Anton Janura said lack of coöperation prompted him to ask Strand to get out.

FATHER FACES DEATH AS SLAYER OF SON IN $900 INSURANCE PLOT

Waycross, Ga., July 27.—(AP)—Harvey Nelson, illiterate roadhouse operator, was found guilty and condemned to die by a jury last night for killing his son, J. C. Nelson, 12 years old, in a $900 insurance plot.

Chief witnesses against Nelson were Mary Kent and Verna Mae Fowler, young waitresses he accused of drawing straws to determine which should shoot the schoolboy to death. Solicitor General John Gibson said he would seek murder indictments against both girls.

'Verna Mae Fowler shot him," Nelson told the jury.

The waitresses denied they had drawn straws and Verna Mae Fowler declared the father was the killer. She said Nelson held the pistol "in his right hand" and the boy, "jumping and struggling," in his left.

POLICE SCANDAL FINIS WRITTEN; EVERYBODY FREE

The last of four persons to face conspiracy charges in the Town Hall police scandal went free yesterday. No. 4 was James J. Burke, handy man for a north side handbook operator, victim of a supposed holdup last February which led to the suspension of Detectives Earl Flannery and Frank McKune.

Burke disappeared during the trials of the detectives, who were alleged to have released two men who robbed him, and of Kenneth Peters, named as one of the bandits. All were acquitted. Assistant State's Attorney William B. Crawford asked Judge Rudolph Desort to dismiss the conspiracy and contempt charges against Burke, inasmuch as three others similarly accused had been freed and he had been in jail since April 21. The judge did so.

It was Burke's 70th birthday. With tears streaming down his face, he said: "I'm so happy."

MAYOR DEPARTS FOR WASHINGTON SUBWAY HEARING

Mayor Kelly, accompanied by several city traction experts, departed for Washington yesterday to attend a Public Works administration hearing today on Chicago's application for federal aid to build three downtown subways. Mayor Kelly said he is confident the PWA will overrule objections filed by eleven persons in Chicago.

The city seeks a grant of $14,300,000, or 45 per cent of the estimated $31,840,000 cost of the tunnels. The city will finance its share of the cost with its traction fund.

Those making the trip with the mayor include William H. Sexton and Senator James Hamilton Lewis, city traction counsel; Philip Harrington, city traction engineer, and Ald. John F. Healy [6th], vice chairman of the council committee on local transportation. They expect to return to Chicago Friday.

Right here is the tire that's setting the pace!

There's a thrill in having all that thick, tough, springy, new rubber under you — a mental good-by to tire trouble.

MAN, when you dress up your wheels with this handsome, stalwart new 1938 edition of the famous Goodyear "G-3" All-Weather, you're getting something!

Think of all the smooth-riding, bump-swallowing, mile-eating comfort that's in that big buoyant oversize casing – built with patented fatigue-resisting Supertwist cord in every ply!

More people ride on Goodyear tires than on any other kind

You know what the All-Weather tread can do – the whole world does. For 23 consecutive years more people have depended upon it than on any other – because experience proves it safest, not only on pavements, but on any road.

That's why other tire makers keep experimenting with new treads. Switching from buttons to knobs! From ribs to wrinkles – trying to catch up with Goodyear.

But so standout is the All-Weather in non-skid traction that no tire maker – not even Goodyear – has ever been able to surpass the safety efficiency of its basic diamond-block pattern.

In the new 1938 "G-3" this fundamentally correct tread design is further refined and improved.

THIS INFALLIBLE SAFETY MEMBER COMPLETES THE MODERN TIRE

The only sure protection against blowouts is the GOODYEAR LIFEGUARD — an invulnerable reserve tire that replaces the conventional inner tube inside your casing. When a blowout occurs the LifeGuard keeps enough air under you to carry the car to a safe normal stop without the slightest lurch or swerve.

HERE'S THE GREAT 1938 EDITION
"G3" ALL-WEATHER
BUILT FOR 1938 DRIVING NEEDS WITH

CENTER TRACTION — more sharp-edged diamonds nested closer together provide maximum skid resistance in all directions — greatest stopping power — surest-footed traction.

PLUS HIGHEST QUALITY WORKMANSHIP that comes from Goodyear's priceless experience as the world's largest tire maker.

And the rubber itself is tougher — an exclusive new Goodyear compound that hits a new high in durability and "spring" to fight the grind-away action of today's higher speeds.

Yet with all this extra value – Goodyears cost no more than other tires. So why not give yourself a break and enjoy the priceless satisfaction of riding on the finest tires money can buy?

TEN CHICAGOANS INJURED IN CRASH ON N. W. HIGHWAY

3 of Victims Children; Woman Expected to Die.

Ten Chicagoans, three of them children, were injured last night in a collision between two automobiles on the Northwest highway, a quarter of a mile south of Main street in Barrington.

State Highway Policeman William Behrens said the car driven by Emil Lexow, 3627 West 57th place, took a curve at such speed that he was forced into the path of a car driven by John S. Gasik, 1623 North Kildare avenue.

Besides Lexow those injured in his car are his wife, Mildred; their son, Calvin, 11 years old; Fred Tietz, 3619 West 57th place; his wife, Rose, and their son, Clarence, 10. The others injured are Gasik; his wife, Mildred; their baby, Patricia, 22 months old, and Mrs. Gasik's mother, Mrs. Mary Nelson, 1724 North Keating avenue. All were taken to the Sherman hospital in Elgin. Physicians said Mrs. Tietz's injuries probably would prove fatal.

Boy Killed by Car.

Norbert Kolessar, 4½ years old, 5003 West 31st street, Cicero, was killed last night when he was struck by an automobile near his home. The driver was Albert Kessel, 2201 North Kilpatrick avenue. Kessel said the boy darted in front of his car.

Henry Challenger, 86 years old, 1454 North Luna avenue, died early today in St. Anne's hospital from injuries received last night when he was struck by an automobile at Luna avenue and Le Moyne street. The driver was Earl Gran, 1308 North Parkside avenue.

Patrick O'Leary, 15 years old, 4956 Princeton avenue, died last night in St. Bernard's hospital of injuries incurred Monday night when the automobile driven by his brother, Martin, 17, and a street car collided. The accident happened at Yale avenue and 69th street. Martin was seriously injured. Both boys were students at the Tilden Technical High school.

The second victim of an automobile collision Sunday afternoon at Irving Park and Barrington roads died yesterday in St. Joseph's hospital in Elgin. She was Mrs. Sophia Raczka of 4222 North McVickers avenue, Chicago. Her husband Charles died shortly after the accident.

Woman Dies of Injuries.

Mrs. Eleanor Norava of Cicero, who was injured Tuesday night in an auto accident on highway 50 near Delavan lake, Wis., died early yesterday in the Walworth County hospital at Elkhorn, Wis.

Edwin Molener of Willow Springs miraculously escaped with his life yesterday when his automobile was destroyed as it crashed into the tender of an Alton railroad train at the Willow Springs road crossing. Molener was taken to the Little Company of Mary hospital in Evergreen Park. He suffered cuts and bruises and a possible skull injury.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 461 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Chicago's toll was 356. During the same period, 10,637 were injured in Chicago.

FOOT WASHING THRILLS PEOPLE OF HILL CHURCH

Whitesburg, Ky., July 27.—[Special.]—Thousands of mountain people, ministers, laymen, and others attended the three days' footwashing and communion services, a custom about 125 years old here started at the founding of the Thornton Church at Mayking, five miles from here in Letcher county.

The footwashings always are held either in June or July. In biblical times the people were commanded to wash one another's feet: to commune with each other: to drink wine with each other: to be brotherly one with another.

Mountain softshell church members take part in this custom. One brother washes another brother's feet. Then that brother does the same for the other. The same plan is worked with sisters of the church.

Elder G. Bennett Adams is head of that church. His grandfather, Uncle Bill Adams, founded the church 125 years ago.

CITY MAINTAINS ITS LOW RATE OF TYPHOID DEATHS

Chicago is credited with maintaining an excellent low rate for typhoid deaths, in an article in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association. Its rate for 1937, the same as 1936, was .3 per 100,000 of population. Milwaukee was on the honor roll, as it was in 1935, with no deaths. In the seventy-eight cities for which complete data was obtained since 1910 there occurred 280 deaths from typhoid in 1937, the lowest on record. The rate for the ninety-three cities studied in 1937 was .82 per 100,000, as compared with .96 for 1936.

SUICIDE STORY TOLD IN FIGURES OF A BANK BOOK

A bank book told the story of Henry Wagner yesterday. On Feb. 18 he had $290 on deposit. Monday he withdrew his last dollar. Yesterday his body was found in a prairie at Sheridan road and 10th avenue, Kenilworth. Beside him lay a revolver, from which he had fired a bullet into his head. Army discharge papers showed Wagner fought in the Argonne and other battles. He was 49 years old and had been unable to get work as a tool and die maker. His address was unknown.

COURTESY WEEK HELD A SUCCESS; WILL REPEAT IT

Courtesy week, now being observed in Chicago, has been received so favorably that it will be repeated next year, George W. Fleming, secretary of the Keep Chicago Safe committee, said yesterday. A poll of the 400 organizations coöperating in the first city-wide drive for politeness showed amazing interest, Fleming said. All thought it a stimulant toward every day courtesy.

Put Out Truck Fire, Then Learn Cargo Is Dynamite

Evansville, Ind., July 27.—[Special.]—Evansville firemen extinguished a fire on a truck today and then learned it was loaded with dynamite. The truck, owned by O. C. Forsman of Flora, Ill., was en route to Kentucky with 400 pounds of explosive. Forsman told firemen that the floorboards apparently ignited from the muffler and blazed up so quickly he was forced from the cab.

Henry Sparks, 28, of Arthur was seriously hurt. Foreman Robert Berry and Leonard Tay were shocked.

Gets 50 Days in Evanston Court for Drunk Driving

William Folds, 1014 Hinman avenue, Evanston, was sentenced yesterday by Judge James M. Corcoran in the Municipal court in the suburb to fifty days in the County jail for driving while drunk. Folds had previously failed to pay a $100 fine imposed in May on a similar charge.

Thief Asks Map; Gets None, So Slugs Attendant

Frank Samack Jr., 22 years old, attendant in a filling station at 4354 North Central avenue, was slugged with a wrench last night by a young man who drove in and asked Samack for a road map. His nervous manner aroused the attendant's suspicions and he said he had no maps. The slugger fled, leaving behind a car which was found to have been stolen. Early today Carroll Sones, an attendant in a station at 7500 Sheridan road, was robbed of $75 by two men.

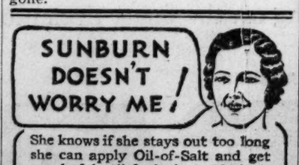
Hunt Reckless Boatman for Cutting In on Ship

A reckless driver on Lake Michigan was reported to the coast guard yesterday. The captain of the freighter Charles S. Hebbard radioed that a speedboat was crossing and recrossing the ship's bow. This is the nautical equivalent of cutting in on street trafic. The coast guard cutter Antietam hurried north, just off the Wisconsin shore, but the speedboat was gone.



W. C. FAIRBANKS, HOOSIER EDITOR, DIES OF STROKE

Son of Former Vice President of U. S.

Indianapolis, Ind., July 27.—[Special.]—Warren C. Fairbanks, president of the Indianapolis News, died today of a cerebral hemorrhage in an Indianapolis hospital. He had remained active in business until a few days ago, when he went to Lake Wawassee, Ind., for a short vacation. He became ill there and returned to Indianapolis.

Mr. Fairbanks, son of Charles Warren Fairbanks, former vice president of the United States, was born in Indianapolis, April 25, 1878. He was a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan university.

Widow, Two Daughters Survive.

Mr. Fairbanks married Miss Ethel Cassidy of Pittsburgh, Pa., on Jan. 14, 1904. Two children were born to them. They are the Countess Ruggero Visconti di Modrone, now living in Italy, and Mrs. Frederick A. Poole Jr. of Chicago. The widow is here. The Indianapolis home is at 5417 North Meridian street.

Other survivors include three brothers—Frederick Fairbanks of Pasadena, Cal.; Richard Fairbanks Sr. of Indianapolis, and Robert Fairbanks of Los Angeles—and a sister, Mrs. Adelaide Causey of Vevay.

Mr. Fairbanks served as a captain in the Spanish-American war.

Publisher Since 1922.

He was with the Standard Manufacturing company of Springfield, O., from 1898 to 1901 and was secretary of the Oliver Typewriting company in Chicago from 1901 to 1904. He had been president and publisher of the Indianapolis News Publishing company since 1922.

Mr. Fairbanks was a member of the Methodist church, Phi Gamma Delta, and various professional and social organizations. His clubs included the University, Indianapolis Athletic, Woodstock, and Country in Indianapolis; the University, Saddle and Cycle, Racquet, Century, Onwentsia, and Casino in Chicago.

FLAGS REPLACE TRAFIC FINES; IT'S COURTESY WEEK

Flags bearing the legend "Be Courteous" were issued by Judge Frank M. Padden in Trafic court yesterday to more than 125 drivers appearing before him on trafic charges. The emblems replaced the customary fines. The flags, 6 by 12 inches, and suitable for mounting on automobile fenders, are part of Mayor Kelly's Courtesy week campaign.

Judge Padden especially cautioned fifty young violators of safe driving. They later joined fifty other young offenders in a tour through the County hospital. In lieu of fines they were permitted to donate a sum equal to half of the regular fine to a fund for aiding automobile accident victims in the hospital.

Judge Stephen Adamowski in Safety court fined Irwin Wilhelmson, 40 East 115th street, $10 for resisting a police officer and $50 for leaving the scene of an accident.

Cuba Decorates Rowan, Hero of War with Spain

San Francisco, Cal., July 27.—(AP)—Col. Andrew S. Rowan, 81 years old, who threaded his way through Cuban jungles with President McKinley's "Message to Garcia," was decorated today by the Cuban government. The Carlos Manuel de Cespedes award was bestowed upon Col. Rowan for "eminent service rendered to the republic of Cuba in its fight for independence." The award was made by Joseph Zarza, Cuban consul, at Letterman hospital, where Rowan is convalescing from a recent injury suffered in a fall at his home.

2 Sailors Killed by Blast Aboard French Submarine

TOULON, France, July 27.—(AP)—Two sailors were killed and a civilian workman seriously burned today by an explosion aboard the submarine L'Espoir, which was undergoing repairs at the naval arsenal. Authorities said the explosion resulted from a spark which touched off gas being used to weld metal inside the hull. Damage to the craft was confined to the compartment where the accident occurred.

CHIEF PLAINTIF IN RADIUM SUIT DIES IN OTTAWA

Ottawa, Ill., July 27.—[Special.]—Mrs. Catherine Wolf Donohue, one of fifteen women who claimed their health was permanently injured while working at the Radium Dial company plant in Ottawa, died at her home today. She was 35 years old and the mother of two children.

On April 5 an arbitrator for the Illinois industrial commission, George B. Marvel, ordered that the company pay Mrs. Donohue $3,470 damages, $2,500 for medical treatment, and a life pension of $227 a year. The award was affirmed by the industrial commission on July 5. The company, however, filed an appeal from this decision to the Circuit Court of La Salle county yesterday.

Mrs. Donohue's death was the eleventh attributed to the use of radium in the plant.

Mrs. Donohue's husband, Thomas, was with her when she died. She had been bedridden for months. Funeral services will be held Friday at 9 a. m.

C. H. HERTY DIES; BROUGHT PAPER INDUSTRY SOUTH

Savannah, Ga., July 27.—[Special.] Dr. Charles H. Herty, whose discovery of fat in the woody part of trees solved the paper problem of the south, died here today. He was 71 years old. For years Dr. Herty worked in the pulp and paper laboratory of Savannah, trying to find a way to utilize the south's huge pine forests in the making of book and bond paper and newsprint.

His discovery of the wood fat, and his methods of extracting it, won him world fame. He also worked on a process to use the southern pine in the manufacture of rayon. Dr. Herty was graduated from the University of Georgia in 1886 and received his Ph. D. at Johns Hopkins in 1890. He had been in the United States bureau of forestry and in 1906 developed a special turpentine cup for the naval stores industry.

STORY OF $20,000 GOLD DWINDLES TO MERE $1,000

When Mrs. Alma Langhof filed her divorce suit last week she told a story about her husband playing with $20,000 in gold. Yesterday he told his side of the story before Judge Oscar F. Nelson.

"I never had $20,000 in gold," Arnold Langhof said. "Many years ago I had $4,000 in gold. I used $3,000 of it to pay off a mortgage. My wife took the remaining $1,000 when she left me in May."

That transferred federal agents' search for forbidden gold from Langhof to his wife. However Judge Nelson ordered Langhof to pay her $18 weekly temporary alimony and temporary fees of $200 to her attorney, Frank J. Link. Mrs. Langhof is 33 years old. She lives at 1553 North Clark street. He is 40. He offered unsuccessfully to turn his bakery at 5513 Belmont avenue over to her if she would pay him a salary.

Season of Jackets Forecast by Style Creators of Chicago

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

The style creators of Chicago are showing their fall and winter clothes to buyers this week and next. Jackets are given additional prominence and the style trend continues to emphasize color contrasts. In No. 1 a velvetine jacket is worn with a Scotch plaid skirt. No. 2 illustrates the wider use of fur for trimming, the costume being in grape colored nubby wool with the jacket trimmed in marten. No. 3 is a silver metal strapless evening gown trimmed in rhinestones. And No. 4 is an evening gown in blue lame. Sleeves more full at the shoulders and jackets a bit longer are considered things to watch in fall clothes.

Mrs. Jane Ross Swartz to Be Bride Tuesday

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALTHOUGH no formal announcement of their engagement has been made, Mrs. Jane Ross Swartz and William Leroy Moody have been telling their friends that they are to be married next Tuesday. The wedding will take place quietly at the home of Mrs. Swartz's father, Alexander Mackenzie Ross, at 450 Oakdale avenue. Mr. Moody is the son of Mrs. Melville Moody.

Following the wedding, Mr. Moody and his bride will go to Bermuda to spend two weeks. Upon their return they will be at home in Libertyville, where they have taken Mrs. Sarah Given Waller's house. Mrs. Swartz's daughter, Barbara, will be missed by her classmates at the Harris schools next fall, for she will be going to school in the country.

Mrs. Swartz attended the Latin School for Girls and the Erskine school in Boston. She will have her sister, Miss Emily Ross, for her only attendant. J. O. Bengston will be Mr. Moody's best man. Mr. and Mrs. Bengston are entertaining at cocktails at their home in Glenview on Sunday for Mrs. Swartz and her fiancé.

More Interesting Romantic News.

Several other notes of romantic interest are news this morning. Mr. and Mrs. William Soaper Gazlay of 5829 Kenmore avenue are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Virginia Elizabeth, to Seely McKann Chapman, son of Mrs. Henry Edgar Chapman and the late Mr. Chapman, of Elmira, N. Y.

Miss Gazlay is a graduate of the Francis W. Parker school. She attended Goucher college. Mr. Chapman is a graduate of the University of Michigan and is engaged in business in Chicago. The announcement was made at a tea at the Gazlay home yesterday afternoon. The wedding will take place next spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Dwight W. Smalley of 8112 Ingleside avenue are announcing the marriage last Saturday of their daughter, Gertrude Eleanora, to William Heywood Brackett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph T. Brackett of Winnetka.

The wedding took place at the Thorndike Hilton chapel. Miss Helen Smalley was her sister's only attendant. George C. Getgood of Winnetka was best man. The bride attended Northwestern university and Mr. Brackett is a graduate of Lawrence college. He and his bride will live on the north shore.

Looking at Hollywood
By Ed Sullivan

Hey, Legionnaires.

Hollywood, Cal., July 27.—So you guys are coming to Hollywood in about a month, huh? I won't be here, darn it, as your reporter has to skedaddle back to New York City for about three weeks the last part of August.

I really wanted to be out here when you veterans arrived, because we missed connections in New York, too. You were conventioning on Broadway when the boss shipped me west. Now it's a shift to Broadway while you're out here. It may be a small old world, but two misses in a year denies the old adage.

However, maybe you can use some of these tips when you reach here. They are spots and things that you and your wives should see. So clip out this column, or have the missus clip it out and maybe it will add to the enjoyment of your trip.

For lunch, some day, be sure to go out Sepulveda boulevard about fifteen miles to the Palos Verdes estates, where you will find, tucked high on the hills above the Pacific, La Venta inn. This is a place that you should see, for sheer beauty, and you can look right across the Pacific to the mountains of Catalina, if the day is clear and the mist isn't hanging too low. It won't be on any tourist guide suggestions, but take my word for it and go. It is as magnificent as the Mediterranean country.

On the same day, take a bus trip as far south as Laguna Beach, slightly more than half way to San Diego. It will give you a completely different idea of California. You'll see oil wells a few rods from the Pacific ocean, and you'll see a shoreline that looks exactly like the cliffs of Dover, as you approach Dover across the English channel. You'll pass through orange groves so huge that the air for miles is heavy with the fragrance of orange blossoms.

Get your committee on entertainment to arrange for passes to the Los Angeles flower market that opens for business at Wall and 7th streets at 3 a. m. Few visitors to this town ever see it, in their rush to the picture studios, but it is the most famous flower market in the world, with Japanese and American growers selling their blooms from 700 stalls.

This is the place that supplied 50,000 flowers for the Darryl Zanuck party, 15,000 blooms for the Basil Rathbone wedding party. See it.

For those of you who golf, get after your entertainment committee to arrange a one day tourney at one of these clubs: Riviera, Lakeside, Hillcrest, Los Angeles, or Bel-Air . . . and keep your head down, Sonny Boys, y'hear!

Get twenty or thirty of your Legion pals to charter a bus and drive out Pasadena way, the Tourney of Roses town. You can see the Rose Bowl, famous football stadium, and the town itself is exceptionally charming. Ten miles beyond you can get a look-see at the Santa Anita racetrack and the Rancho Santa Anita where "Lucky" Baldwin once lived as feudal king. You'll see the unusual graveyard where his Kentuckey Derby winning horses were buried.

On the way back, the bus driver will point out to you "Suicide bridge," the exit from Pasadena, where they have had to build high wire screens to prevent people from leaping to their death. Stop for coffee at the Vista del Arroyo. You never saw a hotel like it.

This is the mission country. On the drive to Laguna Beach, ask the bus driver to stop for twenty minutes at the mission San Juan Capistrano, dating back to 1776. This is the world famous mission where the swallows fly in every year on the same day.

You'll see old Indians making the pottery the Indians made for 150 years. You'll see whitehaired padres strolling the quiet courtyards. Doves will settle on your shoulder in search of a kernel of corn.

For your first view of the town you ought to take a ride in the blimp that waddles solemnly over Los Angeles, Hollywood, Beverly Hills, and Bel-Aair at all hours of the day.

Grauman's Chinese theater, with its forecourt of movie stars' footprints and handprints, you'll see. . . . You'll see the movie studios and the stars are preparing some special events for you. . . . You'll drop in for coffee at one of the Brown Derby restaurants and your wife will frown when you look with astonishment at the barrel skirts of the good looking waitresses.

You'll find the people out here to be friendly, good natured, proud of their state, and anxious to show it off to you. You'll find that the natives kid about the climate and the "heavy fogs" that wash out mountains. If you have any questions send them along to me in care of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

Record Throng Hails New and Greater Jepson

BY CECIL SMITH.

By far the largest throng of the summer—the largest audience, in fact, since Jascha Heifetz's appearance last summer—greeted Helen Jepson, lyric soprano of the Metropolitan and Chicago City Opera companies, last night as she made her Grant park debut. As far as the drive that separates the band shell area from the Field museum the crowd spread out fan shaped, sitting on the thousands of benches, standing in a deep press on all sides, and even lolling on the water soaked ground.

Helen Jepson.

Miss Jepson, healthy and tanned after a vacation on her farm near Utica, N. Y., aroused a great crescendo of enthusiasm in her hearers, as she progressed from the aria and cabaletta from Verdi's "La Traviata" and Musetta's waltz from Puccini's "La Bohême" through such familiar and admirable pieces as "I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls," from Balfe's now nearly forgotten "The Bohemian Girl"; Johann Strauss' "Tales from the Vienna Woods"; Delibes' "Les Filles de Cadiz"; Rossini's "La Tarantella"; the Schubert "Serenade," and "Summer Time," from the late George Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess."

In all this generous list she was accompanied by the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra, under the direction of Rudolph Ganz.

Ever since Miss Jepson first sang in Chicago three years ago her fresh, clear voice has seemed one of the loveliest to be discovered anywhere. But since last season something new has happened to her, so that she is now on the threshold of becoming a great artist.

Without losing so much as a trace of the girlish freedom that has always been one of the chief joys of her vocalism, she has found a way to make her middle and lower voice round and mellow. Where her voice was formerly bland in this range almost to the point of becoming uninteresting, its present luscious beauty can only be described by comparing her to Elisabeth Rethberg at the peak of her form.

The inevitable result of this new fullness of voice is that she now has a vocal instrument with which she can search out and communicate new depths of feeling. Last fall the opera audience applauded her "Traviata" arias as skilfully turned pieces of vocalism. Last night they were as different as night from day—human, touching, and the stuff of which great operatic art is made. The recitatives lost their former studied conservatory sound and became the natural speech of the overwrought emotions of Violetta.

The evening was a magnificent triumph for Miss Jepson, one of the most tireless, painstaking, and honest artists in the musical world today.

The final fortnight of concerts by the Chicago Symphony orchestra at Ravinia park begins tonight. Eugene Ormandy, conductor of the Philadelphia orchestra, will direct the eight concerts remaining before the close of the season Aug. 7. On Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon Jascha Heifetz, violinist, will appear as assisting soloist.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

More good news for tenderfeet:

Ever hear of foot ice? It's mentholated, cool as sherbet, and it does a wonderful job of relieving the tender, aching feet most of us suffer from in scorching weather. It is a fairly thick cream that comes in a tube. Its cooling touch alone will give you a lift, but more than that it is awfully good for the skin of the feet.

The method of use is simple. When your feet are "killing you," as the expression goes, bathe them in warm water. Then smear on plenty of the cooling cream. Massage each foot gently and steadily, stroking from the toes backward to the ankles. Give this little massage operation as much time as you can spare. Feet that have been constricted all day long in tight fitting shoes need to have the circulation normalized.

The cream is a heavy one and not all will be absorbed into the skin. If you must put hose on after the massage with the ice use a lotion to remove the last vestige of it. The ideal lotion with it, we think, is the foot lotion made by the same manufacturer. It cuts away all the oil and also is something of a deodorant. This is icy cool against the skin and can be used not only after massage with the soothing cream, but independently. We suggest you use it every hot night and morning.

It is a good idea, if you're a chronic foot sufferer to tote a bottle of this foot lotion to work with you. It can be used quickly and it relieves that sticky feeling that is a large part of foot discomfort.

Double-header! Sally's Guests Must Be Early

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Tribune Charities, Inc.]

All set for our big baseball party this afternoon, boys and girls? Then here's a happy surprise for you. You will see two games instead of just one. Because of wet grounds, the White Sox called off their game with Boston yesterday and will play a double header today.

And that means that you will have to start a little earlier than you had planned. If you are one of the hundred lucky boys and girls who are going to the game with me, you must meet me at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon instead of 2:30 as we planned. Remember, 1:15 instead of 2:30.

And I do hope you will all be prompt and that you will bring with you your invitation. Each youngster must bring the letter I sent to each winner. See you this afternoon!

I expect to have a busy morning selecting the 50 boys and 50 girls who will go with me to see "The Sleeping Beauty" at the Jack & Jill theater one week from today. The mail has been plentiful and your letters have been lots of fun to read. I'm going to pick the most enthusiastic youngsters as my guests, 50 of the boys and 50 of the girls. The winners will find their names listed in next Sunday's TRIBUNE.

PASSENGER LIST

SYNOPSIS.

On board the S. S. Panama Queen, sailing from Los Angeles to New York, via Panama, are Anne Sydney, who has a part in a Broadway play, and her crippled and embittered sister, Mena; Arnold Vernon, elderly, rich English motion picture producer, and his coldly beautiful wife, Claire; Isobel Butler, who has a stateroom next to the Vernon suite, and hopes to get in pictures through him; Alex Reed, young surgeon returning to work after two years' illness; and gossipy Mrs. Panting. Isobel meets and arouses Vernon's interest. Anne and Alex are mutually attracted. Mena spitefully tells Alex that Anne is a heartless flirt. Pride causes Anne to hold herself aloof from him. Dr. Neil Andrews, a friend of Alex's, joins the ship in Mexico. He wants to get married and thinks Anne meets his ideals. Isobel and Arnold Vernon fall in love. He tries to buy his freedom from Claire. When she refuses he threatens to make a new will disinheriting her. The ship fights through a terrific hurricane. Isobel finds Vernon in her cabin, unconscious, hit by a storm tossed trunk. She sends Claire to him and struggles to find a doctor. Claire takes a loaded pistol, wrapped in a towel, from the purser's suite and shoots her husband, leaving the weapon in Isobel's wardrobe. She then tells Alex she found her husband wounded in Isobel's cabin. Flagg, the purser, reveals that the day before Vernon had made a new will leaving everything to Isobel. Alex operates on Vernon. The captain starts an inquiry. The stewardess reports that she found a towel of the purser's in Claire's room and that Claire had given her an emerald ring to keep silent. Claire charges the stewardess stole the ring. Mrs. Panting finds evidence against Isobel and Mena tries to throw suspicion on Alex.

INSTALMENT XXXIV.

LITTLE HOPE.

Anne felt warm again and a little cheered. "Is the operation over? Is it a success, Mr. Flagg?"

"It's over and Mr. Vernon's still living—but his condition is grave. If you ask me my personal opinion, I would say he hasn't a chance in a million."

"O dear——" A feeling of horror overwhelmed her. "How fantastic it all is! What a ghastly ending to such a wonderful trip! Some one must have done it, however incredible. Who do you think?"

Mr. Flagg was cautious when it came to giving a passenger his own opinion. "I've no idea—but I share your belief in Dr. Reed's innocence."

Flagg had promised Reed not to tell Anne the circumstances which had led up to Mena's revengeful behavior. Reed had understood her motives well enough. He had explained them to Flagg, but bound him to secrecy. There was no reason, he had said, why the unfortunate circumstances of Mena's infatuation should be exposed to distress her sister.

Anne rose to go. "O, another thing, Mr. Flagg. My nice stewardess has disappeared and I've got a red-eyed weepy looking woman to take her place. Did the first one get hurt in the hurricane?"

"No, your new one is Miss Fitch, who formerly took care of Miss Butler and Mrs. Vernon. She made some accusation against Mrs. Vernon who promptly insisted—quite naturally—on having another stewardess."

The first bugle for lunch had sounded while Anne was waiting for the purser, now they heard the second. They went down to the dining saloon together. "A pleasant surprise for you today Miss Sydney—Mrs. Panting and your sister have taken a table for two by themselves, so Dr. Andrews has joined us and Dr. Reed will be back at our table. That'll clear the air a little, what do you think?"

Neither Alex nor Andrews appeared, however. Apparently they were still too busy.

The dining saloon was more festive at dinnertime. The purser was not present but both Alex and Andrews were at their places at his table. Anne looked at Alex as he greeted her. She saw signs of strain and loss of sleep, but certainly no anxiety.

Isobel was quivering with nervousness, ate little, talked jerkily, and could not lift her glass without splashing its contents on the table. Anne saw Alex look at her trembling hand. "That'll never do," he said finally.

"I know," said Isobel, "I'm all shot. If you've got a minute to spare I'd like to talk to you about it afterward."

But it was not the state of her nerves that Isobel wanted to discuss with the doctor. She followed him to the empty chairs ranged along the shelter deck.

"How is he?" she implored breathlessly.

"Holding his own so far——"

"Is he going to——?"

"I'm doing my best, Isobel."

She groped for his hand in the dark and squeezed it. "I know. You're wonderful." And then as he did not speak—"what a fiend she must be! Of course she did it while I went looking for help and found you——"

"I'm afraid so. There's no other answer to it, Isobel."

"Does he ask for her? Is he conscious?"

"Semi-conscious, but very ill, Isobel. Too weak to speak. Flagg is in the same blood group. He gave him a blood transfusion——"

"My, what a good sort he is. So that's why he wasn't there tonight. But tell me, Alex, is he in pain? Has he spoken at all yet?"

"I'm keeping him out of pain as much as possible. He mutters a great deal, but you can't tell what he is saying. Naturally he doesn't know he was shot and we won't tell him——"

"It kills me to think of him in pain. Alex, when do you think I'll be able to see him?"

"Not on the ship at all, my dear. Very bad policy. We're all under a cloud. Give me a message and when he is able to comprehend it I will give it to him."

Isobel thought for a moment. Then in a voice thick with tears she said, "Say to him this, 'Don't run out on me, Arnold—I need you so badly.' Keep telling it to him if he looks like passing out. He can live if he fights for it seeing he's got through it this far."

"I wish I could think so, Isobel."

"You don't?" She pulled at his hand as he did not answer. "Tell me the truth—I can take it——"

"Very well. I don't really expect him to last the night——"

"O God," sobbed Isobel, "how awful it is that I can't sit beside him just to be with him. And how awful that they'll blame me for doing it if he goes—I, who would have done anything to make him happy the rest of his life——"

"Come—come—this is hysteria! Don't worry yourself ill, Isobel. It won't help. I also am under suspicion——"

"You! Don't kid me——"

"Certainly. I was accused of doing it for jealousy because I went berserk on discovering my rival in my girl friend's cabin——"

Isobel giggled while she wiped the tears from her eyes. "Now you're making me laugh——"

"Good. Keep on smiling. And now I must go. I've been away from my patients long enough. Vernon isn't the only one in a desperate condition——"

Alex did not go straight back to the hospital. He searched the decks and public rooms for Anne. Andrews he knew was down there in his absence—she would not be with him. He could not find her. Anne had gone early to bed. It was twenty-four hours now since she had had any sleep.

She found the new stewardess, Miss Fitch, turning back her bed when she entered her stateroom. The woman looked more lugubrious than ever, slow tears coursing unrestrained down her pale thin face. Anne said—"What on earth's the matter? Do tell me about it."

"Maybe I'd better not, Miss."

"O yes, you must. I know it's some quarrel you've had with Mrs. Vernon. What happened up there?"

"Good heavens! Why don't you look for it? Perhaps you'll find it."

"It never was lost. The captain has it now. I took it to him. You see, she gave it to me."

The stewardess had heard the chief steward's blistering denunciation of a staf which gossiped with passengers in a manner deleterious to the discipline of the ship, but she could not resist Anne's interested sympathy. She related in her undramatic fashion the story she had told the captain.

Anne's mind leaped to its conclusion before she had finished. "But this means that Mrs. Vernon did it——"

"Yes, Miss. I'm sure she did it. But she says I stole the ring and Miss Butler bribed me to hand it in with that tale, and who's to prove the truth between us?"

"The truth will come out. I wouldn't worry——"

"You really think so, Miss?"

Miss Moore attended Indiana university. Mr. Osborn was graduated from Cornell university and took graduate work at Northwestern university. Following his work at Northwestern he spent a year studying in London. The wedding will take place in the fall.

The marriage on March 28 in Davenport, Ia., of Miss Jane Sturtevant, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chester D. Sturtevant of Evanston, and Floyd Earl Hughes Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Earl Hughes of Council Bluffs, Ia., has been announced.

Mrs. Hughes attended the Roycemore school and Northwestern university. Mr. Hughes was graduated last June from Northwestern university. He and his bride are living in Council Bluffs.

Miss Helen Willett to Be Bride Aug. 10.

Announcement is made of the approaching marriage on Aug. 10 of Miss Helen Willett, daughter of Mrs. Virgil Faulkner of Phoenix, Ariz., and the late Walter D. Willett of Chicago, to Cecil J. Fallon son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fallon of Ripon, Wis. The ceremony will take place at 10 o'clock in the morning at St. Gertrude's church with a breakfast and reception following at the Knickerbocker hotel. Mrs. Francis J. Sullivan, Jr., will by Miss Willett's only attendant.

Miss Willett is a graduate of the University of Michigan. Mr. Fallon is a graduate of the University of Wisconsin. He and his bride will make their home in Milwaukee. Miss Willett's cousin, Howard Willett Jr., is giving a dinner for her and Mr. Fallon Saturday night at the Tavern.

Herbst Sisters to Be Debutantes.

Dr. and Mrs. Robert H. Herbst will present two debutante daughters to their friends at a tea they are planning for the afternoon of Sept. 17 at their Highland Park home. Miss Dorothy and Miss Ruth Herbst are the buds.

The sisters have been attending the same school, Milwaukee-Downer Seminary, but in the fall their ways will separate. Ruth will return to the Seminary for her last year. Dr. and Mrs. Herbst hope to send Dorothy to Paris for the winter.

Two other teas have been planned for Sept. 17, both in Winnetka. Miss Georgette Hill, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lon C. Hill Jr., and Miss Jane Allen, daughter of the C. Durand Allens are the other debutantes of that day.

Given Dinner Tonight for Carl Brickens.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Murphy will give a dinner tonight for Dr. and Mrs. Carl Bricken. Dr. and Mrs. Bricken, who are spending the summer in Libertyville, will leave this wall for Madison, Wis., where he will be on the music faculty of the University of Wisconsin.

On Aug. 6 Mr. and Mrs. Murphy will leave for New Mexico to spend a couple of weeks with Mrs. Murphy's aunt, Mrs. William B. Greenlee.

Mr. and Mrs. Fairbank Carpenter are entertaining at dinner before the concert at Ravinia Park Saturday night when Jascha Heifetz, violinist, is to be guest soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra. Eugene Ormandy is guest conductor for the final two weeks of the Ravinia Festival season, starting tonight. He and Mrs. Ormandy and Mr. Heifetz are staying at the Moraine hotel. Mr. Heifetz will play also at the Sunday afternoon concert.

Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews King who are at Bear Island, Me., this summer will celebrate their 21st wedding anniversary today.

The weekly barbecue dinner and dance of the Knollwood club will be held tonight, following golf by mixed foursomes.

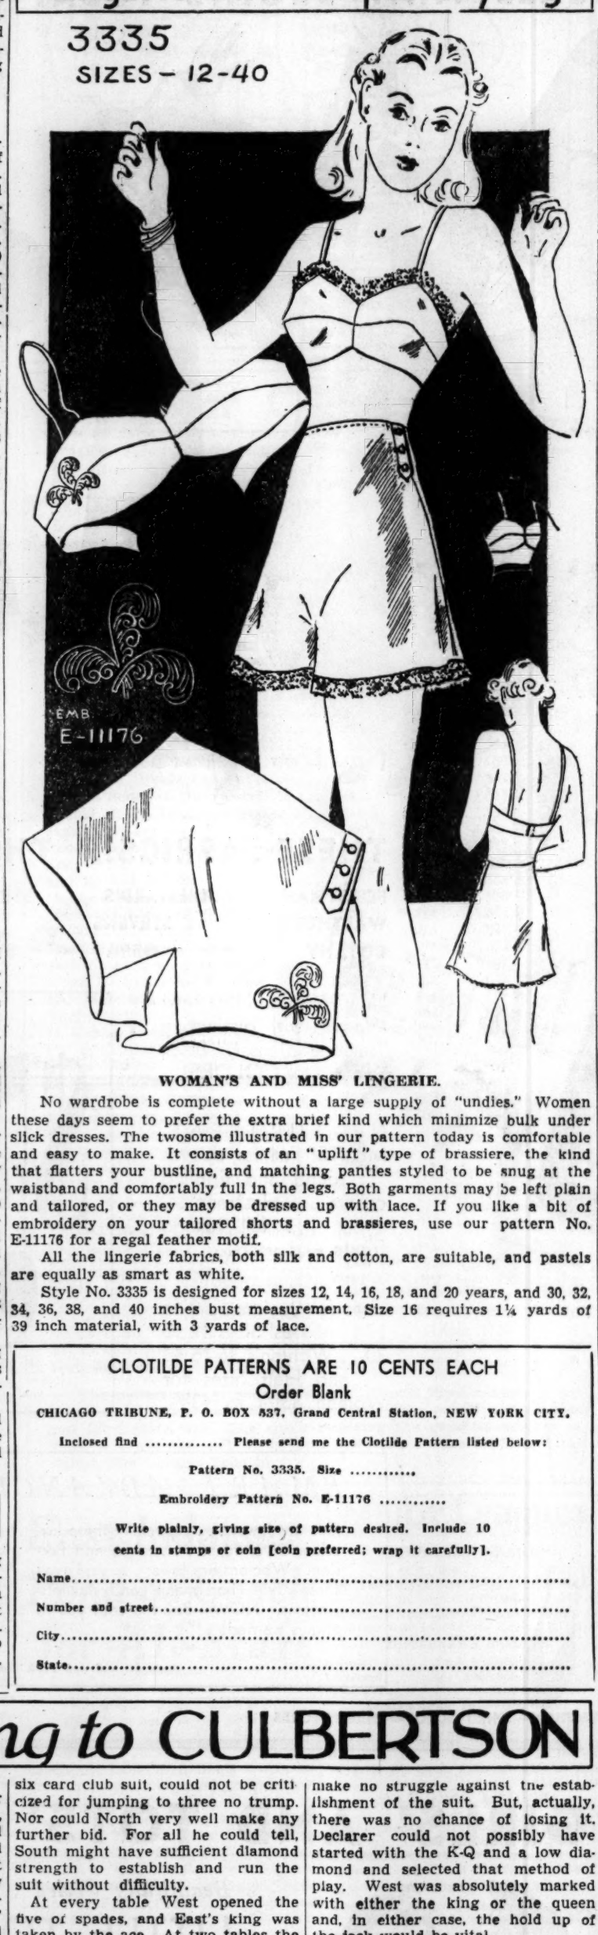
HAROLD TEEN—THE JITTER BUG INFLUENCE AT HOME

Lingerie with Simple Styling



WOMAN'S AND MISS' LINGERIE.

No wardrobe is complete without a large supply of "undies." Women these days seem to prefer the extra brief kind which minimize bulk under slick dresses. The twosome illustrated in our pattern today is comfortable and easy to make. It consists of an "uplift" type of brassiere, the kind that flatters your bustline, and matching panties styled to be snug at the waistband and comfortably full in the legs. Both garments may be left plain and tailored, or they may be dressed up with lace. If you like a bit of embroidery on your tailored shorts and brassieres, use our pattern No. E-11176 for a regal feather motif.

All the lingerie fabrics, both silk and cotton, are suitable, and pastels are equally as smart as white.

Style No. 3335 is designed for sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 30, 32, 34, 36, 38, and 40 inches bust measurement. Size 16 requires 1¼ yards of 39 inch material, with 3 yards of lace.

Neglect Sleep and You Risk Basic Beauty

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Many women and girls are faithful to their beauty routines. They groom their face, their hair, their nails religiously. Night and morning they do exercises to make themselves supple and graceful. But in the rush of work and pleasure they neglect the foundation for health and beauty—an adequate amount of sleep.

All the makeup in the world won't make a haggard face lovely. Mascara and eyeshadow won't make tired eyes clear and bright. The most becoming import from Paris is handicapped by a tired wearer.

If you want to build beauty upon beauty, get enough rest. Average eight hours at night, if possible, depending on your individual requirements. Ten minutes of napping and relaxation in the afternoon are splendid. At least, lie down for half an hour after work or before going out.

Sound sleep will beautify you more than a restless night of tossing. Be sure your bed is comfortable. A hard mattress is better than one too soft. The top sheet should be tucked in well at the bottom, but loose at the sides. A constricted feeling does not promote slumber. Have the room as quiet and dark as possible.

If you still are a victim of insomnia, try a warm bath before retiring. If you are hungry, you are likely to be restless or wake up. Eat a light meal of crackers or warm milk as a nightcap.

Here's a breathing exercise that does wonders to make you warm and relaxed and drowsy. Breathe in deeply, counting six; hold your breath six counts, release the breath in six counts, hold it six counts again. After doing this a few times you'll be breathing deeply involuntarily. Somehow the worrying thoughts will have vanished from your mind.

Don't fight against worries. Don't struggle to win sleep. Let your thoughts wander.

Green apples make wonderful pies. And the time to start baking apple pies is right now. Plain apple pie long has been the favorite American dessert, but if plain apple pie becomes monotonous serve one of the dozens of variations of that wholesome finish to a meal.

Apple pies are good hot, and they're good cold. They're good sweetened with brown sugar, with white sugar, with maple sugar or honey. They're good with plain crust, cheese crust, or with a topping of sliced cheese instead of an upper crust. When this sliced cheese is allowed to melt over and into the fruit the result is one of the most delicious desserts you ever have eaten.

The only times to thicken apple pie fillings are when the pieces of pie are to go into a lunchbox or are wanted for picnic use. Then, of course, leaking juice is to be discouraged. For the most part, however, we want all the juice the sliced apples will ooze forth.

Sliced apples, sugar and cinnamon, with a little butter to help the flavor, is the usual combination for apple pie filling. But there are many ways to change the spices and seasonings, and the cook may suit her own tastes in the matter.

Since every cook has a recipe for plain apple pie, I'll not give one here, but rather will suggest several possible variations.

Rich Apple Pie.

2 or 3 large, tart apples, sliced thinly
1½ cups firmly packed brown sugar
1 cup sifted flour
½ cup butter
¾ cup ground nuts
Whipped cream

Arrange a layer of apples in the bottom of a greased baking dish, sprinkle with a half cup brown sugar, and add another layer of apples. Combine remaining cup of sugar with flour and ground nuts. Work gradually into the butter which has been creamed until soft. Roll or pat out this dough to cover the top of the dish and place it over filling. Press edges to the sides of the dish and cut a gash for the escape of steam. Bake in 350 degree oven for about an hour. Serve warm topped with whipped cream.

Deep Dish Apple Pie.

1¼ quarts thinly sliced tart apples
3 tablespoons melted butter
1 cup granulated or brown sugar
1 teaspoon grated orange rind
2 tablespoons orange juice
½ cup seedless raisins
Plain pastry for one crust

Butter a 9 inch casserole. Mix melted butter with apples, and combine sugar with grated rind. Place a third of the apples in the casserole, sprinkle with a third of the sugar mixture and some of the raisins, and repeat until ingredients are used. Sprinkle orange juice over the top. Cover with pastry which has been pricked, pressing it firmly to the edges of the baking dish. Bake at 450 degrees for 10 minutes, then for 35 minutes longer at 350 degrees. Serve warm.

Of course, deep dish apple pie may be made without the orange flavor and raisins, and may be spiced with cinnamon instead, if you prefer it that way. The recipe just given is a genuine old-fashioned one.

GERMAN APPLE PIE.

Make a rich pastry for bottom crust only. Peel and slice four medium apples, and slice thinly. Arrange slices overlapping each other in deep pastry lined pan. Sprinkle a teaspoon of cinnamon and a cup of sugar over the top of the apples, distributing it evenly. Beat two eggs and add ½ cup cream to them. Spread over pie. Dot the top of the pie with small lumps of butter, and bake for 10 minutes at 425 degrees, reducing heat to 350 to finish baking.

Baby Must Live by the Clock on Long Train Trip

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

You know just how important to his comfort and happiness the baby's routine is. His body has become accustomed to the strictest regularity in such things as food and sleep, and any break in this regularity distresses him—his body resents it and as a result the baby may become miserable: restless, irritable, crying.

So, although it may sound like stretching it, my advice is to keep the baby on schedule even when traveling. The other aspects of train or car travel are enough out of the usual so that he needs at least to be kept to familiar experiences regarding his food, rest, exercise, drinks, bath, and sleep.

The small baby should be taken out of his basket at intervals—also, his position should be changed. If the day is hot and your train not air-conditioned bathe the baby's hands and face frequently and also protect him from drafts [even warm ones] and sun and glare.

Travel as well as you can afford to when the baby goes along. It makes it easier for all of you on a long journey.

As to food, see your doctor about what milk he wants you to use if the journey is a long one and yours is a bottle baby. The baby's food should be kept absolutely as sanitary in every particular as when at home. [An earlier article appeared on this.] In no other way can you protect your baby.

Small cans of evaporated or dried milk.
Jar of sugar.
Four to six nursing bottles or more.
Six sterile nipples in covered glass jar.
Funnel.
Strainer.
Teaspoon.
Small egg beater for mixing dry milk.
Vacuum bottle of boiled water—one day's supply.
Jar of prepared vegetable purée or canned purée.
Cup.
Tray for alcohol stove.
Oranges or canned tomato juice.
Small utensils for heating food.

Of course, give the baby no nibbles of strange "goodies."

We have two leaflets: "Bladder Control" and "Bowel Control." Each one requires a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Address Mrs. Gladys Bevans, The Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill.

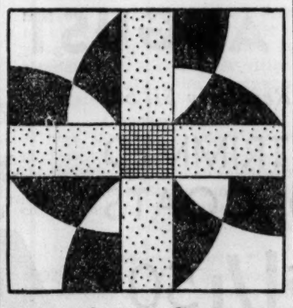
Quilt Requires Expert Handling for Full Beauty



Sacramento City.

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.

BY NANCY CABOT.

"Sacramento City" is one of those tricky pieced blocks which must be handled expertly to appreciate the full beauty. It is not an "oldtimer" when compared with a 1760 pattern, but it was designed in California in 1878 and named for the state capital. The block measures 10 inches square and, for that reason, 63 blocks are required for a single coverlet. These are set together to form an all-over design, and surrounded by a deep ten inch border and finished with a one-half inch bias binding.

Father Steiner Is New American Provincial for Holy Cross Order

Notre Dame, Ind., July 27.—[Special.]—Major superiors of the Congregation of Holy Cross were announced here today by the Very Rev. Albert F. Cousineau, new superior general.

The Rev. Thomas A. Steiner was named provincial for the United States, succeeding the Rev. Hames A. Burns, president of the University of Notre Dame from 1919 to 1922. Father Steiner has been assistant provincial since 1932. He is dean of engineering at Notre Dame. Provincial for Canada is the Rev. Jules Pointras. The Rev. Charles Lemaire is the new provincial for France.

Assistant generals to Father Cousineau are Father Burns, the Rev. Alfred Charron, Brother Cyprien, and Brother Ephrem. Brother Bernard was named general steward and treasurer.

Father Steiner will announce 1938-'39 appointments for the United States in the near future.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

The proverb, "half a loaf is better than none," has very little, if any, application to the bridge table, and aspiring experts had better forget all about it. Thousands of contracts that should be defeated are fulfilled only because a short-sighted defender, muttering to himself, "a trick is a trick," parts with a card that should be held for dear life. Consider the following hand taken from a recent New York duplicate game:

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Match-point duplicate.

♠ 6 4 3
♥ 9 6 5 2
♦ A 10 9 8 4 3
♣ None

WEST	EAST
♠ J 8 7 5 2	♠ K 10 9
♥ 7 4 3	♥ K J 10
♦ Q 7	♦ J 6 2
♣ K J 5	♣ 9 8 6 4

SOUTH
♥ A Q 8
♦ K 5
♣ A Q 10 7 3 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 club	Pass	1 diamond	Pass
3 no trump	Pass	Pass	Pass

This bidding took place at several tables and, although the contract was not a good one, it will be seen that each of the three bids was highly persuasive. South's opening club bid was, of course, the best approach, and certainly North could not fail to answer with one diamond. Then South, with five honor tricks, including a fitting card in partner's bid suit, two stoppers in each major, and a very fair six card club suit, could not be criticized for jumping to three no trump. Nor could North very well make any further bid. For all he could tell, South might have sufficient diamond strength to establish and run the suit without difficulty.

At every table West opened the five of spades, and East's king was taken by the ace. At two tables the declarers laid down the king of diamonds, perhaps hoping to drop an honor, and then found that they had no further play for contract. At three tables the declarers adopted a more ingenious plan for the establishment of the diamond suit. They led the low diamond and, when West ducked [incorrectly], put in dummy's eight spot. Two Easts, obviously working on the "a trick's a trick" idea, won with their jack, and by so doing earned the declarers' undying gratitude. The spade return was taken by the queen, and the declarers, probably with their hearts in their mouths, laid down the diamond king. When West's queen appeared the overtake with dummy's ace clinched five diamond tricks. After such a successful coup, these declarers were not disposed to try for extra tricks [which they could have made], but were quite satisfied with fulfilling their contracts.

At the other table where the declarer attempted the stratagem of leading a low diamond to the eight, East was not a subscriber to the theory that "a trick's a trick." He realized that to part with the jack on the first diamond lead was to concede the rest of the suit. Even if it were possible to lose the jack by holding it up, he correctly reasoned that this would be better than to make no struggle against the establishment of the suit. But, actually, there was no chance of losing it. Declarer could not possibly have started with the K-Q and a low diamond and selected that method of play. West was absolutely marked with either the king or the queen and, in either case, the hold up of the jack would be vital.

STUHLDREHER LEADS ALL-STAR COACHES POLL

M'MILLIN IS 2D IN 1ST RETURNS; FANS ORGANIZE

PlanBigPond,Kipke Campaigns.

BY ARCH WARD.

Harry Stuhldreher of Wisconsin, who steadily is restoring the Badgers' gridiron prestige, tops the returns in the national poll which will determine the staf of coaches that will lead the College All-Americans against the Washington Redskins in Chicago's fifth annual charity game at Soldiers' field, Aug. 31.

Students in the Amundsen High school summer course are campaigning for the Wisconsin leader. They turned in several thousand first place votes for him yesterday. Other thousands came from various points in Wisconsin. He also is running on a ballot sponsored by the Notre Dame club of Chicago, which carries the names of Elmer Layden for first place and Jimmy Crowley of Fordham for third.

McMillin Fans Active.

Trailing Stuhldreher in second place this morning is Bo McMillin of Indiana, who was a member of the All-Star staf in 1936. One of the most brilliant figures football has produced, McMillin is certain to be a strong contender for the head coach position. His friends in Indiana, Kansas, Pennsylvania and other sections where he has played or coached predict a landslide in the final returns.

In Kentucky, where McMillin became famous as quarter back of Centre College's Praying Colonels, his name will go before the voters on primary election day, Aug. 6. Booths where votes may be cast for him will be erected in several Kentucky towns. They will be near the regular primary polling places. His backers expect to collect a huge number of votes for him through this medium because of the heated Democratic senatorial race between Gov. A. B. Chandler and Senator Alben Barkley. McMillin and Gov. Chandler once opposed each other on athletic teams. The governor is a former Transylvania college player.

Ducky Pond of Yale, who last season developed one of the strongest teams in the country, is in third place. Ballots marked for Pond have poured into THE TRIBUNE sports department from Yale clubs all over the land. A chain of newspapers in New England, headed by the New Haven Register, expects to add several hundred thousand votes to his total. A Chicago group that includes Fred McNally and Anthony Haines is arousing support for Pond in this area. Haines, now a Big Ten official, was an end at Yale in 1913. Pond not only will receive the support of Yale men everywhere, but will pull heavily among alumni from eastern schools who are anxious to have their section represented on the All-Star staf.

Michigan Backs Kipke.

Harry Kipke, until last spring head coach at Michigan, is another candidate who will make a strong bid for a place on the coaching board. He is enjoying the support of the community that elected Gus Dorais of the University of Detroit head coach of the 1937 AllStars. Mickey Cochrane, manager of the Tigers, and Baldy Brown, president of the Michigan club of Detroit, made radio talks in behalf of Kipke's candidacy Tuesday night.

The committee supporting Kipke obtained the indorsement of H. O. [Fritz] Crisler, Michigan's new head football coach, and Fielding H. Yost, athletic director, before beginning the campaign. Informed of the plans for Kipke's drive, Crisler, who is vacationing in Bemidji, Minn., sent the following telegram to radio station WJR, Detroit: "Heartily and enthusiastically indorse my good friend, Harry Kipke, as candidate for coach of the All-Star team in the game against the Washington Redskins. Whatever support I can lend him will be freely given. It is my earnest hope he will receive enough votes to be named the one to direct the All Stars against the Redskins."

Mr. Yost expressed himself as follows: "Harry G. Kipke was associated with University of Michigan football as an undergraduate for four years, assistant coach three years and head coach nine years. Personally, I would be happy to see Kip selected as head coach of the All-Star team as a fitting climax to his brilliant football career."

Little Colleges Organize.

Kipke has retired from coaching. He is now engaged in a business career in Detroit.

Two representatives of the smaller colleges are among the leaders this morning. They are A. J. Robertson of Bradley and Pete Vaughan of Wabash. The Peoria Journal Transcript, which is sponsoring Robertson's candidacy, has appealed to followers of smaller colleges in all parts of the country for support.

You'll get a lot of fun out of having a part in the All-Star game. Send your ballots to the All-Star Editor, Chicago Tribune. Name three coaches in the order of your preference.

East Indorses Pond as Coach for All-Stars

BY GEORGE TREVOR.
[New York Sun Football Writer.]

New York, July 27.—[Special.]—Raymond [Ducky] Pond, Yale's exceedingly likeable football coach, is certain to get a big vote in the New England and New York districts in the poll being conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and associated newspapers to determine a staf of coaches to lead the College All-Americans against the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field the night of Aug. 31.

Pond has the consent of the Yale Athletic association to accept a place on the All-Star coaching staf if he earns the nomination. His many friends have started a drive in Ducky's behalf. He will be out in the Chicago area at that time on a speaking tour sponsored by Yale's midwestern alumni organizations.

He Is Original.

Pond has sound, yet original, ideas on defense, as witness his brilliant adaptation of the five man line which enabled the 1937 Yale team to stalemate the running attacks of Pennsylvania, Army, Cornell, Dartmouth, and Princeton. Army couldn't make a bayonet's length between the Blue flanks, with Platt, Gallagher and Colwell backing up Yale's five man forward wall.

Pond has a way with college boys. Ducky gets the last ounce out of impressionable youngsters without any heroics in the shape of pep talks, emotional keying up, or bulldozing tactics of the top sergeant type. He never loses his temper nor does he ridicule a sensitive boy for some error of judgment.

Without sacrificing discipline, Pond makes his players feel that he is one of them. The morale of Yale elevens has been high since Ducky took charge in 1934, and football at New Haven has been fun for the kids as well as for the spectators, who delight in Yale's wide open, gambling type of attack, replete with passes and trick plays.

Rules Big Three.

Under Pond's auspices, Yale has won three out of four games from Harvard, three out of four games from Crisler coached Princeton teams and four straight from physically superior Pennsylvania elevens. Ducky could make valuable contributions to the All-Star staf in the shape of short side plays of the long gainer variety.

Idol of the campus during his undergraduate days at Yale, Pond was noted for his opportunism under fire.

Ducky was a thorn in Harvard flesh, repeatedly beating the Crimson at football and baseball. As a half back he had the knack of cashing in on the breaks—a faculty he retains now that he wields the head coach's baton. Puffing his familiar bulldog pipe on the bench, he exerts a soothing, steadying influence on high-strung pupils.

SOX RAINED OUT AGAIN; PLAY TWO TODAY—PERHAPS

Whitehead and Knott to Face Boston.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Jim Dykes' White Sox, baseball's champion rainmakers, attracted another deluge yesterday, thus bringing further complications to their already entangled schedule. The downpour, which put J. Louis Comiskey's spacious playing premises in unpresentable condition, drowned out the double bill in which the Boston Sox were to assist, created another twin attraction for today and stored up another for future disposal.

The south side athletes, who have indulged in only three games in ten days, now face a layout of seventeen two-for-one dates. Nine of these are at home, the remainder on the road.

Then There's Labor Day.

The seventeen do not include a scheduled Labor day double-header. Finding enough pitchers for all this extra labor is a problem for Mr. Dykes, who thus far this season hasn't been solving in his best form.

The Sox will really get into their double chores in a big way next week. On Sunday they'll entertain the world champion Yankees in two games. On Wednesday they will have a pair with the Athletics and another pair with the same gang the following day. Another double bill is booked for a week from next Sunday with Washington.

Whitehead, Knott Pitch.

For today's double effort Dykes plans to employ John Whitehead and Jock Knott, the same pair he had in mind for work yesterday. Joe Cronin, the Red Sox boss, wanted to start Jack Wilson and Dick Midkiff yesterday and probably won't change. He is so shy on pitchers that he can't do much, if any, juggling.

To Dale Koester a baseball game is even more thrilling than it is to most boys. He has never seen one, but he will.

Dale is a victim of infantile paralysis. He is 12 years old, the son of Herman Koester, a world war veteran of Peru, Ill. The boy cannot walk and his chief delight is to listen to broadcasts of Sox games.

His intense desire to see a Sox game was called to the attention of Owner J. Louis Comiskey, who invited him to be the guest of Comiskey park Saturday when the Sox play the Yankees. He will sit in a special armchair near the Sox dugout.

WAR ADMIRAL WINS MILE RACE BY SIX LENGTHS

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., July 27.—[Special.]—War Admiral, making his first start since the Massachusetts handicap in which he was shut out, won the $3,000 Wilson stakes, a mile event, today.

War Admiral, with Jocky Charley Kurtsinger up, set the pace throughout and beat Fighting Fox by six lengths. William Ziegler Jr.'s Esposa, the only other starter, was third, a length and a half back of Fighting Fox.

The Dodgers Are Friendly—for Awhile

Dolph Camilli (left), Brooklyn first baseman, drops a toss from Pitcher Bill Posedel in the third inning of last night's game in Brooklyn. The error let Rip Collins go to second, from where he scored on Billy Herman's single. The Dodgers won in the ninth, 3 to 2.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

THINGS you may not know about some of the young men who have been elected to the All-Star football squad. . . . Milton Popovich, Montana half back, ran seventy-nine yards for a touchdown against Southern California the first time he carried the ball in intercollegiate competition. . . . Stan Mondala, 200 pound Missouri full back, prepped at Crane High school, Chicago. . . . He has been state amateur heavyweight wrestling champion of Missouri for four years. . . . Alphonse Hoptowit [and we hope he does], guard from Washington State, is a full blooded Yakima Indian. . . . Fritz Nebel, former Fenwick High school star who was elected to the All-Star squad from Xavier university in Cincinnati, graduated magna cum laude in philosophy. . . . Joe Routt of Texas A. & M., who led all the guards in the national poll, failed to make the freshman team but clinched a varsity berth the next fall. . . . Jack Robbins, Arkansas quarter back, set a record in his sophomore year by completing ninety-five passes for a total gain of 1,218 yards. . . . Bunny McCormick, Notre Dame half back, is a native of Livermore, Cal., home town of Max Baer. . . . Jim Benton, Arkansas end, who will play with the Cleveland Rams after leaving the All-Star squad, wears a size twelve shoe and answers to the nickname of "Little Footsie." . . . Jack White of Princeton says his greatest thrill was scoring the winning touchdown against Pennsylvania in his first varsity appearance in 1935. . . .

Col. Jake Ruppert pays himself only $15,000 yearly for serving as president of the Yankees. . . . Manager Pie Traynor of the Pirates fears the Reds more than the Giants and Cubs in the National league race. . . . Vice President Harry Grabiner and Manager Jim Dykes converse over long distance telephone at least once every day when the White Sox are on the road. . . . W. E. Lusby lost the white gold football which had been given him by THE TRIBUNE for being Wisconsin's most valuable player in 1930 while he was watching Sam Snead win the Chicago open golf tournament at Olympia Fields. . . . He had planned some day to pass it on to his son. . . . Mickey Cochrane says he has lived only one moment throughout his baseball career. . . . That was the instant Goose Goslin drove him home with the run that beat the Cubs in the 1935 world series. . . . The rest of the time he was going crazy worrying. . . . John Drake, former Purdue half back who was a headliner in the All-Stars' victory over the Green Bay Packers last summer, is chief of the life guards at a beach in Berkeley, Cal.

Common Sense.

There should be a move to take pitchers out of the bottom place in the batting order. As an illustration, wouldn't Monty Stratton make a good cleanup man for the White Sox?

The Substitute.

I'll shortly be in tiptop form to play
A rough and tumble game for the All-Stars;
My perfect passing ought to save the day,
But if it fails I'll dropkick through the bars;
I'll run the ends like fury and I'll smash
Off guard and tackle like an armored tank,
If the spectators want to make some cash
They better count on me to crack the bank.
There's just one little drawback to it all—
I may not be at Soldiers' field that night,
I may not have a chance to pass the ball
And show the people my ferocious fight;
The reason for the drawback seems to be
That no one yet has cast a vote for me. —T. E. B.

Aquatic Show to Supplement Swim Finals

BY WILFRID SMITH.

A demonstration of water sports, power boat races, shell races, and competition between canoes and kayaks, sponsored by the department of beaches and golf of the Chicago park district, have been arranged as part of the program Sunday afternoon in Diversey beach lagoon, Lincoln park, the climax of which will be the Chicagoland 100 yard free style swimming races.

The water carnival will start before the first of the semi-final races in the swimming meet sponsored by The Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and the remainder of the exhibitions and contests will be staged immediately after the last of the ten championship swimming tests.

Plenty of Vantage Points.

Sunday's program will be the most diversified aquatic sports competition Chicago has seen. For four hours Diversey beach lagoon will offer the pageantry of the largest water carnival in the history of the park district. And by location, if for no other reason, Chicagoans will have unparalleled opportunity to sit in on the show. Thousands can see the carnival from the outer drive, from the shore line of the parking grounds north of the lagoon at the landing stage, and from Diversey beach.

JURGES, GALAN AID BROOKLYN WITH ERRORS

Stainback Drives In Deciding Run.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 27.—George Stainback, who still is picking Wrigley Field bench splinters out of his epidermis, tonight sent 34,414 frenzied Brooklyn fans into ecstasy with a pinch single which enabled the Dodgers to snatch a 3 to 2 victory from the Cubs with one out in the ninth. The Cubs had led, 2 to 0, when that one out in the ninth was accomplished and were jubilant at having landed, as they thought, most erroneously, in second place. Then the Dodgers got after Clay Bryant, and Augie Galan and Bill Jurges added errors to set the stage for Stainback's big act.

Until the belated blowup, Bryant had been so good that the game, scarcely was interesting to Chicago partisans, to say nothing of the rabid Brooklyn constituency. The only thrill the Cubs seemed to be getting out of the routine proceedings perhaps was due to the fact that they had gone into second place by a margin of two points because of their afternoon idleness and the defeat of the Giants by the Cardinals. Until the ninth inning they imagined they had fattened their edge on the Giants by a half game.

These Runs Looked Big.

The Cubs scored their two runs in the second inning on Sailor Bill Posedel's pass to Ripper Collins and, after two outs were effected, a single by Bill Herman, and a double by Stan Hack.

The Chicagoans threatened only once after that. In the seventh Bryant singled with one out and reached third on a wild pitch. Then Jurges fanned and Herman fouled out. But Bryant was sailing along and not a Cub was worried.

Going into the fatal ninth Bryant had yielded only four hits, all singles, no two of which had come in the same inning. Big Clay had walked only one and there hadn't been an error behind him.

Then Trouble Started.

The Cubs could see the word "Chicago" right under "Pittsburgh" in the National league percentage tables when Jurges threw out Gilly Campbell for the first out in the ninth. They weren't very nervous when Bryant gave out his second pass to Buddy Hassett. Dolph Camilli was coming up. He had struck out twice and grounded out the other time, and the crowd had been on him for some clumsy work around first base. Dolph got his revenge. He singled to left, putting Hassett on third, and, when Galan took a kick at the ball Camilli went to second.

Even at this juncture the Cubs, after their thirteenth victory in fifteen games, envisioned nothing worse than a tie, but the scene shifted rapidly. Lavagetto banged a double play ball at Bill Jurges. Sometimes infielders try to start game ending double plays before they get their hands on the ball. Jurges did this little thing and the ball went between his heels into center field as the tying runs crossed the plate.

Durocher Aids the Cause.

Still the tie seemed assured. Capt. Leo Durocher, a soft touch, indeed, was up. Leo, however, had vicious ideas. He whanged a single to right. This put Lavagetto on third with the winning run. There was a conference, and it was decided to pass Ernie Koy, to load the bases.

Stainback Is Summoned.

Capt. Leo then went into a huddle with Coach Babe Ruth and Manager Burleigh Grimes. Burleigh summoned George Stainback, who sells gum for P. K. Wrigley in the off sea-

WITT SHOOTS 149 AND WINS MEDAL IN JUNIOR GOLF

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Lanky Harold Witt, 20 year old member of the Midlothian golfing family in which the parents and their three sons all play the game, yesterday shot a 149, five over par, to win the qualifying medal in the annual closed junior tournament of the Chicago District Golf association at the Calumet Country club.

Unmindful of a steady downpour which hampered most of the fields of 37 starters in the morning, Harold was over the first 18 holes in 76, four over par. Then in the afternoon he dashed in with a 73 for the total which enabled him to lead the 32 low scorers into today's first two match play rounds, each of them scheduled for 18 holes.

One of Younger Tournaments.

The closed junior is one of the C. D. G. A.'s younger events. It is restricted to regular juniors and sons of members of C. D. G. A. clubs who are under 21 years of age. George Victor of Glen View, who won the title at his home club last year, automatically vacated it by being over the age limit this year. Following Witt home in yesterday's medal play test was W. R. Taylor of Western Springs, who last year eliminated Harold in the semi-finals of the tournament.

Taylor added a neat afternoon 75, second best card of the day, to his morning 81.

Playoff for Last Two Places.

Three of the lads, Leo Brashler of Midlothian, Jack Krejci, Edgewood Valley, and Tony Ryerson of Onwentsia, tied for the last two places at 186, and in the one hole playoff Ryerson lost.

UPPER BRACKET.

Frank Stern [171], Ravisloe, and W. R. Gwynn [181], Flossmoor.
Charles V. Barrett Jr. [168], Evanston, and Mansfield Hughes [180], Onwentsia.
Vaughn Spalding [175], Old Elm, and Charles Rueckert [185], Beverly.
Ed Harrington [172], Flossmoor, and Oliver Long [182], Mohawk.
Tom Nash Jr. [176], Ridge, and Jack Krejci [186], Edgewood Valley.

LOWER BRACKET.

W. R. Taylor [156], Western Springs, and Gordon Sibley [168], Skokie.
C. R. Holton [172], Itasca, and George Knox Jr. [182], Calumet.
Ray Bresnahan [176], Hinsdale, and Donald Douglas [185], Onwentsia.
Joe Fall Jr. [169], Sunset Ridge, and Bob Mall Jr. [181], Aurora.

Women's Golf Champion and Medalist Lose

In a series of major upsets the defending champion, the qualifying medalist, and the state titleholder were eliminated in the second round of the Chicago Women's District Golf association's championship tournament at Sunset Ridge yesterday.

Mrs. Lillian Zech of Tam o'Shanter the champion, was sent to the sidelines by Mrs. H. C. Seehausen of the home club by 3 and 2. Hilda Livengood of Danville, who set a course record of 77 while winning the qualifying medal, was disposed of by Mrs. Frank Mayer of Lake Shore, 5 and 4. Mrs. Mayer shot a 38, one under par, on the first nine to take a lead of 4 up.

Eleanor Dudley of Ridge, who recently won the state title, joined the other two stars on the sidelines when she lost to Virginia Lindblad of Lincolnshire, 1 up, 20 holes. Miss Dudley was three up with four holes to play, but Miss Lindblad tied the score on the eighteenth and won on the twentieth with a birdie 4.

Mrs. H. C. Seehausen, Sunset Ridge, defeated Mrs. Lillian Zech, Tam o'Shanter, 3 and 2.
Rena Nelson, Exmoor, defeated Virginia Nilles, Park Ridge, 2 and 1.
Mrs. L. H. Selz, Northmoor, defeated Janet Smith, Rockford, 6 and 5.
Mrs. Frank Mayer, Lake Shore, defeated Hilda Livengood, Danville, 5 and 4.
Shirley Ann Johnson, Sunset Ridge, defeated Mrs. Vilas Norton, Glen View, 3 and 2.

Mrs. Seehausen vs. Miss Nelson.
Mrs. Selz vs. Miss Ingram.
Mrs. Mayer vs. Miss Williams.
Miss Johnson vs. Miss Lindblad.

Mrs. A. E. Harnsberger, Winnetka, defeated Mrs. J. E. Almond, Sunset Ridge, 1 up.

Miss Peterson vs. Miss More.
Miss Vilas vs. Mrs. Harnsberger.

BURMADINE LEE! THAT IS A PRETTY NAME! NOW, MISS LEE, I HAVE ARRANGED THINGS FOR YOUR BROTHER, TERRY, RYAN AND THEIR SERVANTS—THE BOY WILL SHOW YOU TO YOUR ROOM AND I WILL SEND ATTENDANTS LATER!
THANK YOU, MR. SMYTHE-HEATHERSTONE! YOU HAVE BEEN VERY KIND!
STRANGE, PA-PA-SHE WAS ALWAYS PLAIN "BURMA" BEFORE! AND SHE NEVER WORE SPECTACLES OR KNOTTED HER HAIR!
NATURALLY, DARLING! "BURMA" WAS JUST A NICKNAME! YOU MUST CALL HER MISS LEE!
IN THE WILDERNESS SHE WOULD HARDLY DRESS AS SHE WOULD IN CIVILIZATION—AND SHE PROBABLY LOST HER GLASSES!
....SHE ONLY MENTIONED THAT TERRY PERSON AS HER BROTHER ONCE BEFORE.... BESIDES...
...I THINK YOU HAVE BEEN MORE ATTENTIVE TO THOSE AMERICANS THAN TO ME!!
OH, HO! DON'T POUT, MY SWEET! NOW I CAN FEAST MY EYES ON YOU!

son. Stainback lost little time finding a bat.

Stainback, gum peddler and ex-Cub, fairly ran to the plate. He landed on Bryant's first pitch. It shot like a bullet past Hack for a single, and Lavagetto was home with the marker that put the Cubs back in third place, a little bit less chesty, perhaps, but determined to start a new winning streak in Philadelphia, come Friday.

Vito Has His Stuff.

Hudson robbed Galan of a hit at the start of the sixth when he grabbed his liner on a dive. Reynolds flied to Rosen but O'Dea singled to left. Cavarretta grounded out to Camilli.

Vito Tamulis took over the Dodger pitching chore at the start of the ninth. His work was brief and effective. Cavarretta popped to Lavagetto. Collins fouled to Camilli. Bryant singled to center, but Judges flied to Rosen.

Campbell grounded out to Jurges in the home ninth, but Hassett drew Bryant's second pass, and then came the deluge.

DOCTORS REPORT GALENTO SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

New York, July 27.—[Special.]—For the first time today, Orange Memorial hospital attachés pronounced Tony Galento's condition was good. Until today he had been reported in a fair or unchanged state.

Robert Cass Rides Bicycle to Victory in A. A. U. Mile

Robert Cass of the C. Y. O. won the one mile Central A. A. U. amateur bicycle race in the Humboldt park bowl last night. The time was 2 minutes and 12 seconds. Earl Kelly finished second and Bill Bina third.

Cubs Open 3-Day Engagement with Phils Tomorrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 27.—The Cubs will move over to Philadelphia at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Bill Lee, one of the Cubs' major heroes, will pitch the opener of the three game series Friday. Dizzy Dean will pitch Saturday. Manager Gabby Hartnett said tonight he hadn't made up his mind as to Sunday's starting assignment.

Lee never has pitched in Shibe park, new home of the Phillies. He was a boy when Hack Wilson lost those balls in the sun at Shibe park in the 1929 world series.

Don Gutteridge of the Cardinals won the 80 yard dash in the track and field meet before the game tonight. Phil Cavarretta of the Cubs was second. Max Butcher of the Dodgers nosed out Tex Carleton in the fungo contest.

Frank Demaree was excused from play tonight because of the death of his father in Winters, Cal.

Tonight's victory was the first in four tries by the Dodgers under their new lights. And the victory was all the more joyous because of the near capacity turnout, second largest night crowd at the four games. The first one, Johnny Vander Meer's no-hitter, drew 38,748; Pittsburgh, 25,527, and Boston, 18,680.

SCHNABEL LOSES TO KING KONG BY A REFEREE'S TAP

King Kong won a complicated decision over Hans Schnabel in 37 minutes and 3 seconds last night at the Rainbo Fronton arena. Schnabel had Kong's shoulders pinned to the mat and Referee Earl Mollohan had tapped his shoulders two of the three times necessary to signify victory. On the third tap, however, the referee noticed that Schnabel's foot was braced on the ropes in violation of the rules.

He ordered the wrestlers to continue, but Schnabel had climbed through the ropes on his way to the dressing room. When he failed to come back the referee counted him out, giving Kong the verdict. Just at the finish a fuse blew out and the lights were out for several seconds to add to a confusion. Other results:

Jimmy Heffner threw Jack Brown [22:32].
Bob Jessum pinned Bull Curley [16:40].
Pete Sherman threw Buck O'Neill [8:48].

Riggs, Parker, and Grant Win at Seabright

Seabright, N. J., July 27.—(AP)—Two seeded players lost today as the men's field in the 51st annual Seabright invitational tennis tournament reached the quarter-final round.

Defending Champion Bobby Riggs and Frank Parker and Bryan Grant who are rated behind him in the draw were still in the fight, but Joe Hunt and Hal Surface, fourth and fifth in the seedings, were eliminated.

Wilmer Allison battered Hunt into straight-set submission, 6-1, 6-4, while Robert Harman beat Surface, 6-2, 2-6, 7-5.

Alice Marble, who has lost only four games against three opponents, led the women's field into the semi-final round. Joining her were Dorothy Bundy and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, who were seeded behind the defending champion, and Virginia Wolfenden of San Francisco. Miss Wolfenden continued her upset journey by beating Mrs. Carolin Babcock Stark, 7-5, 6-3.

Sidney B. Wood Jr., former Wimbledon champion, defeated Robert K. Kamrath of Austin, Tex., 3-6, 6-2, 6-4, while Elwood Cooke, who meets Parker tomorrow, downed George Toley of Miami, Fla., 6-4, 6-3. Frank Kovacs, Oakland, Cal., qualified to meet Grant by humbling Ernest M. Sutter of New Orleans, 6-2, 6-3.

Riggs overcame Gerard Podesta of Montclair, 6-4, 5-7, 6-0. Parker trailed one game to four in the first set of his match against Frank Guernsey of Orlando, Fla., then won 8-6, 6-3. Gilbert A. Hunt Jr., of Washington, carried Grant to three sets before yielding by scores of 3-6, 10-8, 6-2.

Hostak to Fight Often, Keep on Pumping Gas

Seattle, Wash., July 27.—(AP)—Al Hostak of Seattle, middleweight boxing champion by virtue of a first round knockout of Freddie Steele, today was eager for another fight—but his manager said he wouldn't fight in New York. Hostak wants to fight often.

Informed the New York boxing commission had refused to recognize Hostak as the titleholder, Eddie Marino, his manager, asserted "that gang back there" wanted to "get control of every good fighter." The New York commission's action was based on Steele's previous failure to meet Challenger Fred Apostoli of San Francisco.

It suggested a meeting between Apostoli and Young Corbett III. of Fresno, Cal., with the winner to meet Hostak for the title. As an alternative it suggested a fight between Apostoli and Hostak.

The new champion, who plans to take his regular shift pumping gasoline at a station he and his brothers operate, crowded four explosive knockdowns into 1 minute and 43 seconds to conquer Steele.

NEW YORK TURNS DOWN HOSTAK, DEPOSES LEWIS

Commission Acts on the Flyweights, Too.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Important steps affecting three of the eight boxing divisions were taken today by the New York state athletic commission:

2. The commission declined to accept Al [Hostile] Hostak, last night's conqueror of Freddie Steele, as the new middleweight champion of the world.

Elimination Bout.

3. A fifteen round elimination bout between Small Montana of San Francisco and the Japanese born Katsuma Morioka of Canada was suggested as the opening step in a campaign to produce an undisputed flyweight champion.

The action against Lewis came as no surprise. He was set down because of his consistent refusal to accept a challenge for a title bout filed Feb. 10 by Tiger Jack Fox of Spokane, Wash.

Assured of Recognition.

Chairman John J. Phelan said that if an elimination tournament is arranged between Fox, Gainer, Melio Bettina of Beacon, N. Y., and Gus Lesnevich of Edgewater, N. J., the survivor will be recognized here as champion. It is understood Mike Jacobs, New York promoter, will attempt to make the matches.

Phelan made it plain that the commission's refusal to accept Hostak was no reflection on the Seattle youngster who stopped Steele in less than one round last night.

MICHIGAN WON'T BAN ADAMICK; MAY QUIT N. B. A.

Detroit, Mich., July 27.—(AP)—Frank MacDonell, chairman of the Michigan Boxing commission, refused today to back the Illinois suspension of Jimmy Adamick as a result of his unsatisfactory bout with Jack Trammell in Chicago last June.

"After looking over the testimony of the Adamick-Trammell case," MacDonell said, "I can find no evidence to incriminate Jimmy Adamick.

"He is free to fight in Michigan, subject to the discretion of the Michigan athletic board of control.

"If the National Boxing association does not agree with my decision, Michigan will withdraw from the N. B. A.

GIANTS VS. MONARCH.

Patterson Bout No. 4 Refused by Petroskey

Tony Petroskey, who was given three chances before finally scoring a victory over Verne Patterson, has refused to meet Patterson for the fourth time in Marigold Gardens Monday, but he will remain on the card. Tony's new opponent may be Phil Furr, Washington, D. C., welterweight. Lou Laurie and Eddie Lander will be opponents in the five round semi-final. Jimmy Sheppard of Peoria will be trying for his eleventh straight victory in a four rounder against Chester Rutecki, who will be making his professional debut. . . . Promoter Billy Cepak has offered Bob Pastor, New York heavyweight, a ten round bout with Buddy Knox in Sparta stadium Aug. 17. Pastor will delay a decision until after his clash with Maxie Rosenbloom in Los Angeles next week.

Chairman Joe Triner of the Illinois boxing commission has gone to Los Angeles, where he will confer with Promoter Tom Gallery and Willie Ritchie, California athletic board inspector, about holding the Schenley Athletic club show in Gilmore stadium there Sept. 20. Heretofore the event has been in Chicago. The site was shifted because the American Legion convention will be held in Los Angeles. George Kontopoulis, novice Golden Gloves welterweight title holder, will face Pete Lopez of South Chicago in a five round bout on Navy pier tomorrow. Amateur boxers from Bloomington, Ill., will meet a Chicago team in Madison-Cicero arena tomorrow.

"I am not surprised at Michigan's attitude," Sheldon Clark, member of the Illinois boxing commission, said last night after being apprised that Frank MacDonell, chairman of the Michigan commission, refused to back this state's suspension of Jimmy Adamick. Adamick was banned for one year as a result of his bout with Jack Trammell in Mills stadium June 8.

Clark refused to offer any comment on the New York commission's action in refusing to give Al Hostak recognition as new middleweight champion following his one round knockout of Freddie Steele and its dethronement of John Henry Lewis as light heavyweight champion.

CARDINALS HAND FIFTH DEFEAT IN A ROW TO GIANTS

Warneke Pitches 4 Hit, 7 to 0 Shutout.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals combined a timely attack with a pair of enemy errors in a big sixth inning splurge today to beat the Giants, 7 to 0, behind Lon Warneke's four hit pitching. It was the Giants' fifth straight defeat, and it left them five games behind the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

The Cards scored all their runs in the sixth inning. Dick Bartell and Johnny McCarthy committed the errors which prolonged the inning, and five hits, one of them Don Padgett's homer with two on base, brought the runs around.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 27.—(AP)—Floyd Young batted Pittsburgh to a 4 to 2 victory over the Phillies today, the Pirate second baseman driving in all four runs with a single, homer and fielder's choice. Young drove in the first Pirate run in the second when he singled after Vaughan had walked and stole second. In the fourth, he hit his home run with Todd on base. In the ninth he came up with Vaughan on third and he knocked in the last Pirate run with a hard drive to Mueller at second.

BEES BEAT REDS TWICE.

Boston, Mass., July 27.—(AP)—With Danny MacFayden and Lou Fette pitching five hit ball in their respective games, the Boston Bees today won a double-header from the Cincinnati Reds, 1 to 0 and 5 to 1. In the first game, MacFayden won his eighth game of the year. The Bees scored in the fifth inning when Vince Di Maggio's single drove in Elbie Fletcher. In the second game, backing up Fette's fine hurling, the Bees made eight hits.

GREENBERG HITS 2 MORE; AHEAD OF RUTH'S PACE

Detroit, Mich., July 27.—(AP)—Hank Greenberg, Detroit first baseman, hit his 32d and 33d home runs today to lead the Tigers to a 9 to 4 victory over the Washington Senators. Greenberg's present home run pace is ahead of Babe Ruth's when Ruth set his record of sixty in 1927. Ruth made his 33d home run that year in the ninety-fifth game of the season. Greenberg's 33d came in the Tiger's eighty-eighth game of the current campaign.

Because she refused the plea of a Chicago suitor as she stood beside the coffin of her husband a Detroit woman was shot down by the impatient swain and seriously wounded. Remember, Arch, how we used to laugh at the story about O'Reilley, who asked for the Widow McCarthy's hand in the hack on the way home from her husband's funeral, and she apologetically told him he was a little too late—that McFadden had spoken to her at the grave?

FRICK DECIDES UMPIRES WERE RIGHT, AS USUAL

New York, July 27.—(AP)—After an informal discussion with officials of the Brooklyn Dodgers and umpires, President Ford Frick of the National league today decided to take no action concerning the decision which caused a disturbance at Ebbets field yesterday during the Dodgers-Cubs game.

The dispute came over a double-play ball which Bill Jurges, Chicago shortstop, seemingly dropped.

50 CHAMPIONS OF DOGDOM ON PARADE TONIGHT

More than fifty pure bred dogs will take part in a "parade of champions" to be held in the Blue Fountain room of the La Salle hotel at 9 o'clock tonight. Every dog taking part is a champion, having won at least fifteen points in licensed American dog shows. All of the common breeds will be represented, as well as some of the breeds which are not so well known—such as basset hounds and affenpinschers.

land swimming races will report to officials at 1:30 Sunday afternoon. Registration for the semi-finals will close at 1:50 p. m. Promptly at 2 o'clock the first of the twenty-one semi-final races will be held, and the first of the championships, in class A for boys 11 and 12 years of age, will start at 2:45.

The other events were arranged at a meeting called by Harry O'Hare, supervisor of the park beaches, in the Chicago park district administration building Tuesday noon.

Install Speaker System.

So that the thousands who will attend the races and watch the other competitions and exhibitions may understand and know the names of the competitors, loud speakers will be installed at Diversey beach. The amplifying system will be in use from noon Sunday until the conclusion of the program.

The Jackson Park Power Boat club, headed by Commodore D. R. Morrison and Vice Commodore J. C. Sarter, has arranged for speed boat races. In addition there will be demonstrations of surfboard riding, aquaplaning, and water ski riding. This program will be concluded with stunts by outboard motor drivers.

Ten Lane Race Course.

Commodore J. A. Benson and Max Definer of the Lincoln Park Boat club have arranged for canoe tilting and canoe rolling contests. The club also will have single, double, four oared, and eight oared shells on the course in a series of races.

Carl Hofinger yesterday completed arrangements for the kayak clubs of Chicago to demonstrate the assembling of folding kayaks and their use. The Sea Scouts, under the direction of Chet Koehler, also will take part in the aquatic program.

The Columbia Canoe club of Evanston, according to Commodore S. H. Bodinghouse, will have a score of its members and their canoes in competition. During the afternoon the Rainbow fleet of the Chicago park district will be in the lagoon. Its part in the program will be arranged by Jack Holbrook and Orville Sonntag.

The time schedule for these sports and exhibitions is being arranged by the executive committee of the organizations represented.

Officials of the Tribune A. A. and the central association of the A. A. U. will conduct the swimming races. The other contests and demonstrations will be staged by the carnival executive committee.

YANKEES DEFEAT BROWNS, THANKS TO STEVE SUNDRA

Stars as Pitcher, Hitter in 7-5 Triumph.

St. Louis, Mo., July 27.—(AP)—Rookie Steve Sundra, who has been pretty much of a bust all season, came through in a large way today to lead the New York Yankees to a 7 to 5 victory over the Browns. Rushed into the game in the sixth inning, when the Browns had the score tied, one out, and the bases loaded on young Joe Vance, Sundra pitched hitless ball over the last 3 2-3 innings. Then he hit a homer in the seventh to break the tie, and in the ninth he singled to drive in the final run. Lou Gehrig also hit a homer, his 16th of the year. The game was to have been the first game of a double-header, but rain forced a postponement of the second contest.

SAFE AND SOUND FINALLY IS BOTH AND WINS A RACE

Beats Leading Article by Three Lengths.

Safe and Sound, Young and Rogers' veteran 7 year old son of Fair-Refugee II., scored his first victory in four starts in the sixth race, a seven furlong grade A handicap, at Arlington Park yesterday. Trainer Sam Bryant Ott brought "Old Safe," as the horse is called by the Kentucky stable's attachés, onto the muddy track, which proved to be the thoroughbred's choice and he romped in by three lengths ahead of Leading Article and Higher Cloud, which finished in that order. Safe and Sound was stoutly backed in the five horse race and paid $7.80 for $2.

A pair of sons of Transmute, a great mud runner of a few years ago, accounted for the first two races and the $90.20 daily double. Cornfield, favored in his last start but disregarded by bettors yesterday, ridden by Jocky Joe Rosen, captured the opening race by a length. He paid $24.40. Transport, running for Mrs. G. B. Scallon, won the second impressively. Transport closed at 2 to 1 in the betting to return $6.40.

Mrs. Emil Denemark's Offender accounted for the easiest race of the day on the hock-deep muddy track. He won by a length and a half, tiring after a hard run that took him, at one stage of the mile and a furlong race, a good ten lengths ahead of the rest of the field of eleven.

Whitney Entry in Futurity Is Fast Pair

The Whitneys, for three generations a royal dynasty in American racing, have shipped two regally bred 2 year olds to Chicago. They probably will be favorites to capture the $50,000 Arlington Futurity, which will be run on the closing day of the Arlington Park meeting Saturday.

The young Whitney hopes are Equilibrium and Thingumabob, prides of the great Whitney nursery in Red Bank, N. J.

Equilibrium is a son of Equipoise, whose mile in 1:34 2-5 at Arlington Park on June 30, 1932, still stands as a world record for that distance. Thingumabob is a son of the amazingly fast Whitney horse Boojum, hero of Saratoga's Hopeful stakes, whose blazing speed was too much for the strength of his legs. Boojum broke down after a fine 2 year old campaign and was retired to the Whitney stud.

Carry Whitney Colors.

This pair, to be saddled by Trainer William Brennan, will race under the colors of two generations of the Whitney clan. Equilibrium is owned by Mrs. Payne Whitney, while Thingumabob races for Mrs. Charles S. Payson, a daughter of Mrs. Whitney.

Equilibrium and Thingumabob may be the slight favorites in a wide open Futurity. The former won the first start of his career at Arlington this week while the Payson youngster scored an impressive victory in New York before being shipped west a week ago.

Seeking triple honors in the rich stake will be three representatives of the Milky Way farms, owned by Mrs. Ethel V. Mars, who has been the most liberal purchaser in the American yearling marts for the last three years. In 1936 Mrs. Mars won the Arlington Futurity with Case Ace and last year her Tiger ran a dead heat for first place with Valdina farm's Teddy's Comet.

CORNFIELD, away fast and always under strong riding, gamely repulsed repeated challenges from HOLTON and was drawing out slowly at the end. HOLTON, on the inside almost from the start, was under strong pressure throughout and weakened after nearing the lead, but outstayed PLUCKY BYRD. Latter, a strong factor from the start and raced wide, came again after dropping back when approaching final eighth.

Time, :23, :47, 1:13 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Transport, $6.40 straight, $4.80 place, $3.00 show; Chimney Top, $5.20 place, $3.00 show; Buddie Treacy, $2.40 show. Winner trained by G. B. Scallon. Went to post at 2:40. Off at once.

TRANSPORT, very much at home in the going and much the best, was sent into a commanding lead gradually and, sustaining good speed to the end, held CHIMNEY TOP safe while winning easily. CHIMNEY TOP, forced to race wide throughout, was under vigorous riding after three-eighths and held on in resolute fashion.

THIRD RACE—Mile and a furlong. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :25, :50 1-5, 1:16 2-5, 1:44, 1:57 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Ice Queen, $8.00 straight, $3.60 place, $3.00 show; Dusky Maid, $3.00 place, $2.60 show; Big Gay, $3.40 show. Winner trained by C. W. Tague. Went to post at 3:05. Off at once.

ICE QUEEN, away well but unable to keep up, began to improve her position after reaching the last three-eighths, was taken to the inside in the stretch and, wearing down DUSKY MAID, came away fast thereafter. Latter, sent to the front on the inside, continued under a steady hold to the stretch turn and, shaken up repeatedly, held on well thereafter but was no match for the winner.

Time, :25 :49 3-5, 1:15 3-5, 1:43 4-5, 1:57 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Offender, $23.20 straight, $11.60 place, $7.40 show; Baby Joe, $8.20 place, $5.60 show; Reelaway, $4.80 show. Winner trained by W. Booth. Went to post at 3:31.

OFFENDER, taken under a good hold after racing into command under rather brisk urging, was shaken up from last quarter, tiring duel was under a drive the final eighth. BABY JOE, rated under a sane hold for almost three-quarters, went gamely under strong riding thereafter, but barely lasted to be second.

FIFTH RACE—Hertz course, one mile, out of chute. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 2-5, :46 4-5, 1:12 3-5, 1:40 3-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Bustle, $14.00 straight, $6.80 place, $4.80 show; Pantine, $6.40 place, $5.20 show; Lace Reigh, $4.20 show. Winner trained by E. Haughton. Went to post at 4:00½.

BUSTLE, well in hand for three-quarters, took command without need of strong urging, but was strongly shaken up in the last eighth and probably had little left. PANTINE had command briefly, failed to withstand the winner's challenge, yet held on fairly well to the last eighth before faltering and swerved in the late stages.

SIXTH RACE—Seven furlongs. Handicap. Three year olds and up. Purse $1,300; Net value to winner, $950; second, $200; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :23 3-5, :47 1-5, 1:13 3-5, 1:26 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Safe and Sound, $7.80 straight, $3.20 place, $2.40 show; Leading Article, $3.20 place, $2.20 show; Higher Cloud, $2.80 show. Winner trained by S. B. Ott. Went to post at 4:30½.

SAFE AND SOUND, raced wide and reserved off the early pace under strong restraint, gradually wore down LEADING ARTICLE when called upon, drew out in the final eighth, and won in hand. LEADING ARTICLE cut out a good pace for the route under light reserving, but was no match for the winner's challenge, yet held on creditably. HIGHER CLOUD, nicely in hand early, did not respond when called upon and weakened after five-eighths, but held the others safe.

SEVENTH RACE—Mile and a furlong. Claiming. Four year olds and up. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

Time, :24, :51 3-5, 1:12, 1:43, 1:56 4-5. Two dollar mutuels paid: Brilliant Rose, $6.20 straight, $4.20 place, $3.00 show; Silver Fleet, $4.60 place, $3.00 show; Fandan, $2.80 show. Winner trained by L. Copenhaver. Went to post at 4:55½. Off at once.

BRILLIANT ROSE, closer up than usual in the early stages, was sent to the front on the inside after reaching the final half mile and, kept unwinged, came away through the stretch. SILVER FLEET, a factor from the start, was under vigorous riding the last three-eighths, held on fairly well and, stumbling while being pulled up following the race, unseated her driver.

EIGHTH RACE—Mile and one-fourth. Claiming. Four year olds and up. Purse $1,000. Net value to winner, $700; second, $150; third, $100; fourth, $50.

SUMMIT HILL, never far back and under strong restraint for seven-eighths, moved upon the outside thereafter under vigorous handling and, getting to the front entering the stretch, was ridden out. BATTLING GIRL, slow to settle into stride, began improving her position after a half mile and closed gamely under punishment.

13 GOLD BILLIONS GLEAM IN HOARD OF UNCLE MIDAS

New Cargo Swells Bulging Coffers.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., July 27.—[Special.]—Uncle Midas counted his gold today and found that overnight it had passed the 13 billion dollar mark. This is more gold than any person or any nation ever before possessed since earth began to yield her precious metals to man.

The end is not in sight. The richest nation on earth is amassing more and more gold, largely because it has been purchasing for the last 4½ years and still is purchasing all gold mined at home or sent from abroad at the highest price in history, $35 an ounce.

Likewise by paying bonanza prices the United States has amassed an unrivaled hoard of silver—nearly 2½ billion ounces with a statutory monetary valuation of more than 3 billion dollars.

Serves No Monetary Purpose.

Acquisition of this vast mound of silver bullion, for which the nation has no monetary use, has cost American taxpayers more than 1 billion dollars to date, that being the difference between the price paid for the bullion and its market value. The venture has made fortunes for American mine owners and silver speculators at home and abroad.

The growth in the American gold supply in the last decade is shown in the above chart. Figures are for Dec. 31 each year except 1938 for which the July 26 holdings are given. The change in the gold price in 1934 added $2,800,000,000, the balance of the increase resulting from purchases of foreign gold and newly mined domestic metal.

It was a shipment of $2,822,000 of gold that tipped the treasury scales to an aggregate 371,438,268.8 fine ounces of the yellow metal, valued at $13,000,339,409. Of this total American gold stock about 5 billion dollars' worth now is buried in the treasury's new gold depository at Fort Knox, Ky.

55 Per Cent of Supply.

The United States possesses approximately 55 per cent of the publicly acknowledged monetary gold supply of the world, which is about 24 billion dollars. Including unreported gold stocks in the British, French, and other stabilization funds and in soviet Russia, total world stocks of gold probably aggregate 26½ billion dollars, according to the Bank for International Settlements.

No other country comes within hailing distance of the United States with half the world's gold in its coffers. Great Britain ranks next to the United States with 4 billion 100 million dollars of gold, including both the Bank of England reserves and the British equalization account. France comes next, the Bank of France having about 2 billion 248 million dollars of gold in addition to an unknown amount in the French stabilization fund.

Flow Toward U. S. Since War.

Ever since the begining of the world war gold has been flowing to America. Back in 1914, just before the outbreak of the war, when the total gold stock in the world was about 4 billion dollars, the United States had 1½ billion dollars.

By the end of the war the world stock was 6 billion 808 millions, of which the United States had 2 billion 873 millions. By the close of the boom year of 1929 the American hoard had grown to 4 billions out of a world stock of 10 billions 166 millions. These valuations, of course, are in the old dollar having a value of $20.67 to the ounce of gold compared to the present $35 value.

The United States gold stock hovered around the 4 billion dollar mark from 1929 up to the devaluation of the dollar on Jan. 31, 1934. On that date the value of our gold stock was 4 billions 33 millions. Devaluation of the dollar by 40 per cent boosted the value of our gold stock automatically to the extent of 2 billions 800 millions.

Reflects Dollar Policy.

With the treasury paying $35 an ounce for gold, in accord with President Roosevelt's dollar devaluation policy to raise prices, the value of our gold stock passed the 7 billion dollar mark early in February, 1934. Thereafter, with the treasury buying all gold offered at $35 an ounce, the American gold hoard increased about 1 billion dollars every nine months until it stood at 12 billions last summer. It has taken 13 months to acquire the thirteenth billion.

The devaluation and related monetary measures adopted by the President to boost prices back to their 1926 comparative levels have not achieved the objective up to date. At one time Mr. Roosevelt himself indicated his disillusionment.

More Gold Engaged.

New York, July 27.—[Special.]—Additional engagements of $6,800,000 gold abroad for shipment here—$5,800,000 in Japan and $1,000,000 in England—were reported today to the Federal Reserve bank of New York.

The gold engaged in Japan will bring the total that has been sent here by that country since March 8, 1937, to $335,500,000.

BRIEF HISTORY OF GOLD DURING LAST 7 YEARS

Sept. 21, 1931—England abandons gold standard.

March 6, 1933—National bank holiday declared in United States. Emergency gold embargo ordered. Banks forbidden to pay out gold.

March 9, 1933—Congress passes emergency legislation giving President broad powers over foreign exchange, gold, and currency, and banking transactions.

May 12, 1933—Thomas inflation amendment passed, permitting 50 per cent dollar devaluation.

June 5, 1933—Congress abrogates gold clause in public and private contracts; all forms of United States currency made legal tender.

Jan. 31, 1934—Dollar devalued to 59.06 per cent of old parity by presidential proclamation. Gold price raised from $20.67 to $35 an ounce. United States returns to modified gold standard by stabilizing value of dollar.

Feb. 12, 1935—Supreme court upholds abrogation of gold clause contracts.

Sept. 25, 1936—United States, Great Britain, and France form three power agreement to coöperate in stabilizing currencies.

Dec. 21, 1936—Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau announces new gold imports will be "sterilized" to prevent unsound credit inflation.

Sept. 12, 1937—Treasury releases $300,000,000 of "sterilized" gold as trade stimulant.

April 14, 1938—Treasury abandons gold sterilization.

July 26, 1938—United States gold stocks pass $13,000,000,000.

Courts Halt Penalty Tax on Tobacco

Valdosta, Ga., July 27.—(AP)—Georgia and Florida tobacco growers on the eve of the 1938 sales season today attacked constitutionality of the AAA farm marketing quotas. Collection of penalty taxes was temporarily enjoined.

Temporary restraining orders issued by state courts here and at Lake City, Fla., affecting auctions at seventeen markets opening tomorrow, apparently headed the government's second attempt at control of tobacco growing toward the Supreme court. The first regulatory program under the Kerr-Smith act was ruled invalid in 1936.

AAA Will Fight Case.

In Washington, agriculture department officials said they would defend the new farm law to the highest court if necessary.

A. J. Little, one of the attorneys bringing the suits, said it was estimated Georgia and Florida growers would have to pay penalties totaling around $4,500,000 if the act was upheld. He charged quotas for these states were insufficient.

The actions, directed against warehousemen, contended that the agricultural adjustment act of 1938 under which marketing quotas were fixed for the nation's principal crops was unconstitutional in that "congress assumes authorities not directly granted by the constitution."

Deny Tobacco Is "Interstate."

The growers asserted tobacco growing is not an interstate industry and therefore not subject to federal regulation. They also charged marketing quota. The levies will be impounded until the issue is decided.

Under temporary orders signed by Superior Court Judge W. E. Thomas here and Circuit Judge Harold W. Adams in nearby Lake City, Fla., warehousemen are enjoined from collecting the penalty taxes against growers who exceed their marketing quota. They will be permitted to deduct the amount of the levies, however, with the funds to be impounded by the courts until the issue is decided.

Everyday Economics

Exports of Dairy and Poultry Products.

In 1937 the United States exported 2,376,421 dozens of eggs in the shell valued at $651,801. This compared with 2,097,986 dozens worth $586,602 in 1936. Canned or dried eggs worth $44,905 were sent abroad, compared with shipments worth $17,159 in 1936.

About 63,800 gallons of fresh and sterilized milk and cream, valued at $53,079, was exported in 1937. The 1936 amount and value were 66,930 and $51,005. Last year's exports of condensed, evaporated or powdered milk and cream totaled 33,762,586 pounds, worth $3,078,614. The 1936 figures were 29,656,014 and $2,775,276.

Butter sent abroad in 1937 totaled 799,877 pounds, worth $292,628, compared with 825,934 pounds and $266,858 in 1936. Cheese totaling 1,155,664 pounds, valued at $279,149, was exported in 1937, against 1,136,208 pounds, worth $267,489, in 1936.

Exports of live poultry last year were 68,889 pounds, valued at $49,279, compared with 1936 shipments of 64,887 pounds, worth $41,172. Fresh dressed poultry and game exports were 1,630,816 pounds, valued at $393,134, compared with 1936 exports of 1,416,425 pounds, worth $344,580.

TAXES GNAWING AT YOUR PURSE BALK RECOVERY

Old Babylon Knew Truth Ignored Now.

(This is the fourth of a series of articles on the factors hindering genuine business recovery. A fifth will appear tomorrow.)

BY HOWARD WOOD.

That high taxes impede prosperity is an accepted fact. It was known in ancient Babylon and has been repeatedly demonstrated since. The more the tax collector takes out of the individual's income or his goods the less there is left for the individual to spend or invest or use.

In our modern economic system, however, the individual is likely to become confused by the complicated manner in which taxes are levied. He pays only a small portion of his total tax bill directly to the tax collector. In most cases taxes are extracted from him indirectly. The merchant and the manufacturer pay taxes and pass them along to the consumer in higher prices. The employer pays taxes and either takes it out of wages or out of earnings which—if they were not thus reduced—could be used to pay higher wages.

Comparisons Give Light.

To get a comprehensive idea of the size of the tax load, therefore, it is well to compare the nation's actual total tax collections with the estimated national income. The yearly figures for total federal taxes, as well as total state and local taxes, are available in black and white. The figure for total national income is subject to minor correction, but various agencies computing the size of the national income come so close to agreeing on the figure each year that their estimates are regarded as dependable.

A year by year comparison shows that the percentage of national income consumed by taxes has been gradually rising since before the world war. There was little change from 1890 to 1913, but since then total taxes have increased about three times as fast as the national income.

Research Bureau's Figures.

	1913.	1937.
National income	$34,400,000	$67,463,000
Taxes [federal, state and local]	2,187,000	12,300,000
Percentage of total taxes to national income	6.4	18.2

This year the national income is lower and taxes are higher than ever. The Illinois Manufacturers' association estimates that 24.1 per cent of the national income in 1938 will be consumed by taxes.

Politicians seeking to justify the growing national tax bill frequently point to Great Britain, where the national income tax rate is higher than in the United States. They infer that Americans are not in bad shape because the British are much more heavily taxed. These inferences are not borne out by the facts.

Britain Reduces Load.

Although the British income tax rates on moderate incomes are higher than in the United States, the total tax bill in Great Britain in 1937 was 19.6 per cent of the estimated national income. During the eleven years since 1926 when the total tax load in this country was rising from 10.8 per cent to 18.2 per cent of the national income the tax load in Great Britain actually dropped from 20.3 per cent to 18.6 per cent.

1890	12,100	875	7.2
1903	20,500	1,382	6.7
1913	34,400	2,187	6.4
1919	60,161	7,475	12.4
1921	58,521	8,838	15.1
1922	59,857	7,502	12.5
1923	69,895	7,234	10.3
1924	70,557	7,812	11.0
1925	75,026	7,884	10.5
1926	79,659	8,605	10.8
1927	77,608	9,059	11.6
1928	80,559	9,342	11.5
1929	83,631	9,759	11.6
1930	73,111	10,266	14.0
1931	56,089	9,300	16.5
1932	39,555	8,147	20.5
1933	39,347	7,501	19.0
1934	47,360	8,773	18.2
1935	53,118	9,731	18.3
1936	63,799	10,498	16.4
1937	67,463	12,300	18.2

1926 "Normal" Year.

The year 1926 is now regarded by administration economists in retrospect as a "normal" year. Many administration measures have been based on restoring the price and income equilibruim that existed in that year.

The record shows that 1926 followed a five year period in which the nation's total tax bill dropped from $8,838,000,000 to $7,884,000,000 and in which federal taxes alone declined from $4,905,000,000 to $2,966,000,000.

The effect of the growing tax load will be discussed in the next article in this series.

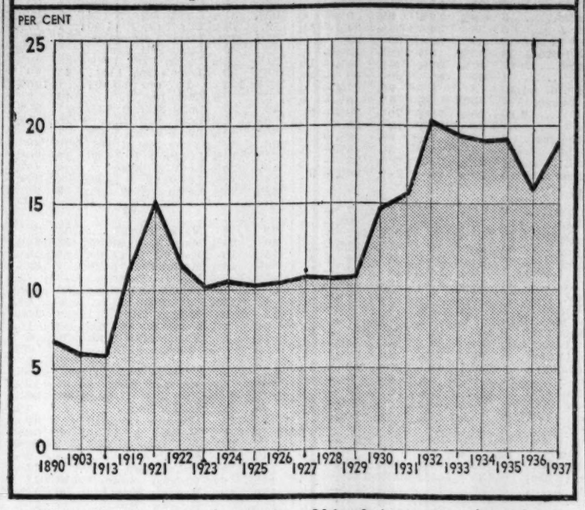
Percentage of National Income Taken by Taxes Since 1890



Tax collectors now take nearly a fifth of the total national income. Before the world war they took only about one-fifteenth of it. The percentage is expected to increase as additional taxes are levied to cover the excess of government spending over its present income. This diagram shows the percentage of the national income consumed by taxes in representative years since 1890. (Story in adjoining column.)

Closed Banks Pay $445,032 to Depositors

BY HAROLD SMITH.

Depositors of the 139 state banks in Cook county that are still closed fared less fortunately than usual in the second 1938 quarter, but secured and preferred creditors were better off, according to figures made public yesterday by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett.

In the quarter ended June 30 thirteen of the banks repaid a total of $445,032 to their unsecured creditors [principally depositors], and $134,967 to preferred and secured claimants. In the preceding quarter nine of the banks paid general creditors $874,830 and preferred creditors $131,404. In the June quarter last year the depositors got $1,478,278 from twenty-three of the closed banks, while secured and preferred creditors received only $52,950, the figures show.

Income Dwindles Rapidly.

Barrett's report, based on returns made to him by Charles H. Albers, John E. Sullivan, and John A. Carroll, receivers for the closed state banks, indicates that income is dwindling rapidly because many of the banks are reaching the end of their assets, but that the expenses of liquidation continue at a fairly even level.

Receipts of the 139 banks for the new quarter totaled $2,482,392, as against $3,099,427 in the preceding quarter and $4,937,184 in the June quarter last year.

Of the newly reported income, $1,351,222 was from inventory collections, and $1,131,170 was made up of refunds from advances made by the receivers to protect the interests of creditors.

Disbursements of all kinds, including expenses, payments to creditors, and new advances to protect assets, totaled $2,461,009 in the last quarter. This compares with $3,127,763 in the March quarter and $4,830,503 in the previous June quarter.

Expenses Show Increase.

Expenses last quarter were up from the first three months of the year. They totaled $299,460, of which $6,406 was for receivers' salaries, $124,335 for clerical help, $38,436 for interest, $64,715 for attorney fees and $65,566 for miscellaneous items. The expenses for the March quarter were $274,620 and for the previous June quarter $447,503.

The state auditor indicated that at least eight of the closed banks may make new distributions to depositors before the end of this year. These eight are the Baker State bank of Cicero, Berwyn State, Berwyn Trust and Savings, Binga State, Brookfield State, Builders and Merchants Bank and Trust, Calumet City State, and Central Manufacturing District banks.

A 10 per cent repayment, totaling $87,950, on waived deposits at the South Chicago Savings bank will be made about Aug. 8, Barrett announced. This will be the fifth repayment and brings the total to 50 per cent of the amount waived.

UNITED ACTION URGED BY LABOR TO SAVE RAILS

Cut in Capitalization Asked by Unions.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

A plan to help the railroads in their present financial straits was suggested yesterday by George M. Harrison, chairman of the Railway Labor Executives association. The labor leader's suggestion was made at a meeting at the Palmer house of the group headed by Harrison with the Carriers Joint Conference committee of which H. A. Enochs is the chairman. This committee represents the managements. The two groups are discussing the railroad's proposal to cut the wages of their 914,000 workers 15 per cent.

Harrison urged that railroad management, labor, investors, shippers and others interested in the railroads get together to frame a bill providing for the reorganization of the roads.

Urges Structures Be Revamped.

The keystone of his plan, he indicated, is a reorganization of the capital structure of all the railroads so that the revenues they obtain would be sufficient to pay employés fair wages, enable the roads to maintain their property in good condition, permit them to pay fixed charges and give investors a fair return.

To do this, Harrison declared, railroad capitalization would have to be scaled down.

Next, he said, the entire American railroad problem should be "rationalized." By that he meant that all forms of transportation—railroads, trucks, buses, pipe lines, waterways and airways—should be considered from the point of view of one American transportation system.

Proposes Limit on Trucks.

As an example of what might be done, Harrison said, study should be made as to the distance that trucks could be used economically on the highways. He suggested the limitation on trucks be under 300 miles.

Enochs said that in his opinion three things are necessary to help restore the railroads: [1] Reduce the present topheavy wage structure; [2] an upturn in business; [3] a reduction in taxes.

The Enochs group will meet with the Harrison group at the Palmer house again tomorrow. Today it will meet with the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen at the Stevens hotel.

ILLINOIS BELL'S 6 MONTH PROFIT FALLS SHARPLY

Westinghouse Net Is Also Lower.

The Illinois Bell Telephone company yesterday reported net income of $4,968,914 for the first six months of 1938. In the corresponding 1937 period net income was $6,395,583.

Earnings for the period failed to cover the full amount of dividends paid to the parent company, American Telephone and Telegraph. The Illinois company paid dividends of $6,000,000, leaving a deficit for the period of $1,031,086. After paying the same amount in dividends in the first half of 1937 the company had a surplus of $395,583.

Oil Companies Earn Less.

Lower interim earnings were reported to stockholders in statements issued by Phillips Petroleum company and Continental Oil company. Phillips Petroleum's net income for the first six months of 1938 was $5,585,139, equal to $1.26 a share, compared with $12,679,080, or $2.85 a share, in the corresponding 1937 period. Continental Oil had net income of $1,281,511 in the quarter ended June 30, equal to 27 cents a share, compared with $4,193,336, or 89 cents a share, in the second quarter last year.

Net income of Westinghouse Electric for the first 6 months of the year amounted to $4,500,602, equal to $1.63 a share on the common stock after preferred dividends. Net income was $11,331,772, or $4.26 per common share, in the first half of 1937. Indicated profit for the June quarter was $2,469,372, or 90 cents a share, against $5,990,260, or $2.25 a share last year.

Standard Brands Profit Off.

Standard Brands, manufacturer and distributor of foodstuffs, had net income of $1,913,258 in the June quarter, equal to 13 cents a common share. This compared with $2,861,410 in the second quarter of 1937.

Atlantic Refining's profit for the first six months of the year was $2,866,000, equal to 96 cents a share on the common stock. Profit amounted to $3,436,756 or $1.18 a share in the comparable 1937 period.

The National Cash Register company reported an increase in profits for the June quarter. Net income for the period was $866,892, equal to 53 cents a share. This compared with $698,196 or 37 cents in the corresponding 1937 period. For the first six months net income was $1,475,088, equal to 90 cents a share, compared with $2,003,722, or $1.23 last year.

Nash-Kelvinator Loss.

The Nash-Kelvinator corporation reported a net loss of $2,005,407 for the quarter ending June 30. The loss compares with a loss of $2,185,685 for the preceding quarter and a profit of $1,278,974 for the June quarter of 1937.

Belden Manufacturing company, Chicago manufacturer of electrical equipment, operated at a loss of $121,911 for the first six months of the year. This compared with a profit of $311,953, or $1.29 a share in the first half of 1937. President J. C. Belden said that an improvement in business is likely this fall.

B. & O. Capitol Limited Will Be Streamlined

New York, July 27.—[Special.]—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad announced today it had contracted with the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company, Chicago, for the streamlining of the Capitol Limited. This is the only all-Pullman train between Washington, D. C., and Chicago.

Worst Break in Month Hits Stock Market

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, July 27.—[Special.]—The stock market today suffered its sharpest break since the upturn that began last June 20. Losses in the main body of shares ranged between 1 to 3 points. More sensitive issues lost up to 6 points.

Turnover was 1,973,440 shares, compared with 1,252,470 on Tuesday. This was the largest volume for a declining market in more than a month.

The market was buffeted by two selling drives. The first came at the start of the second hour and followed a fractionally higher opening. Floor crews were swamped and the ticker fell seven minutes behind.

False "Flash" Adds to Confusion.

Adding to the confusion at this time was an incorrect "flash" quotation of United States Steel common of 55½—it should have been 59½. This lapse caused some anxious moments as its previous mark was 61.

The second concentration of selling came early in the third hour. Prices, which had steadied somewhat following the first attack, again tottered.

Market experts sought to explain the drop chiefly in terms of a weakened technical structure.

Chrysler and General Motors were the two most actively supplied issues of the board. The former slumped nearly three points. General Motors finished 1⅞ points lower Industrials Off Sharply.

Other important losses in the industrial sector were as follows:

Anaconda, 1⅝; American Smelting, 2¼; Kennecott, 1¼; Standard Oil of New Jersey, 1½; Texas corporation, 1; United States Rubber, 2½; Goodyear and Goodrich, both off more than one point; Douglas, 2⅜; Boeing, 1½.

The more volatile issues lost 3 to 4 points.

STANDARD GAS SUIT FOR 42 MILLIONS FILED

Wilmington, Del., July 27.—[Special.]—Daniel O. Hastings, trustee for the Standard Gas and Electric company, today filed suit on behalf of the company for $42,685,490. The suit was directed against a group of public utility and securities firms and their officers.

The suit is to recover for Standard Gas, which is now being reorganized, certain monies which the trustee alleges were unlawfully taken from the corporation through a series of stock transactions. Particular attention is drawn to H. M. Byllesby & Co., which the trustee said controled the corporation action of Standard Gas. Attention was also directed to Ladenburg, Thallman & Co.

Byllesby officials in Chicago said last night that they had not been officially notified of the suit and had not seen a copy of the bill of complaint. Until they had seen the complaint they said they could not comment.

SANTA FE OMITS DIVIDEND ACTION ON PREFERRED

Announcing that it is "imperative that the company should retain a sound financial position," directors of the Atchison, Topeka, and Santa Fe railroad yesterday took no action on the road's preferred stock dividend. Consideration of the payment was first deferred on June 28 when the semi-annual dividend ordinarily is due.

GEN'L MOTORS, CHRYSLER EARN LESS THIS YEAR

But Show Gain Over First Quarter.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—Two leading automobile manufacturers, General Motors and Chrysler, issued their June quarterly reports today. These showed earnings that represented a seasonal improvement over the March quarter, but were far less than in the corresponding period last year.

General Motors reported net earnings of $24,786,002 for the quarter ended June 30, equal to 52 cents a share on the common stock after preferred stock dividends. This compared with $8,234,017, equal to 14 cents a share, in the March quarter, and $65,731,100, or $1.48 a share, in the corresponding period of 1937.

Net earnings for the first six months of the year amounted to $33,020,019, or 66 cents a share, against $110,545,266, or $2.47 a share, in the first half of 1937.

Chrysler Net $3,599,630.

Chrysler, for the June quarter, reported net income of $3,599,630, equal to 83 cents a share on the capital stock. This compares with $2,109,969, or 48 cents a share, in the March quarter, and $16,542,306, or $3.80 a share, in the June, 1937, quarter.

For the six months, Chrysler reported net income of $5,709,599, or $1.31 a share, against $27,456,609, or $6.31 a share, in the first six months of 1937.

K. T. Keller, president of Chrysler, said in commenting on the business situation:

"Improvement in business conditions, which has been somewhat in evidence during recent weeks, has reflected itself in a rapid liquidation of dealers' stocks of new and used cars, and the indications are that this situation may contribute to an improved outlook for operations this fall."

Sales Are 261,048 Units.

Chrysler corporation reported sales of 261,048 units for the first six months of this year, compared with 629,706 the first half of last year.

Chrysler directors declared a dividend of 25 cents a share on the capital stock, payable Sept. 15 to stockholders of record Aug. 16. On June 14 a dividend of 50 cents a share was paid, and on Dec. 13, last year, $3 was paid.

Stocks, Bonds

New York Bonds.

New York, July 27.—(AP)—The bond market closed lower today, with some issues, notably secondary rails, losing 1 to 3 points or more.

Railroad bonds losing these amounts were Missouri-Kansas-Texas 5s of '62 at 45½, Northern Pacific, 4s at 81¼, New York Central 5s at 65⅝, Nickel Plate 4½s at 43¼, and Missouri Pacific 5s of '77 "F" at 21.

Chicago Stocks.

Heavy selling throughout most of the session sent stocks sharply lower on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. The selling began soon after a firm opening and final prices were near lows of the day. Sales totaled 60,000 shares, the most since July 7 when 64,000 shares were sold.

Of the 127 issues traded, 78 declined, only 14 advanced, and 35 were unchanged. THE TRIBUNE average of 20 stocks finished at 11.07, down 0.55.

Issues which lost 50 cents to $2 a share included Bendix Aviation, Borg Warner, Marshall Field, Butler Brothers common, Swift International, Walgreen, and Zenith Radio. Utah Radio Products, up 25 cents to $2.50 a share, was a bright spot. It was also the most active issue.

Bank Stocks.

Stock of the First National Bank of Chicago slumped $3 yesterday to close at $220 bid, $224 asked. Shares of the Continental-Illinois National Bank and Trust company also lost ground in the light trading, closing at $71 bid, $72.50 asked, down $2.50. Other shares were unchanged.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Increased receipts weakened the hog market yesterday. Most prices were off 5 to 15 cents, some better grades at the close showing losses of 20 cents. Only a few of the extremely heavy butchers and heavy sows, which have been relatively lower than other classes, escaped the price cuts. The top declined 10 cents, to $10.15 per hundred pounds, and the average was off 15 cents at $8.50.

Another decline swept the cattle market, carrying steers and yearlings 25 to 40 cents under last week's close. A few top classes came through the day without a reduction. One load of prime 1,280 pound Nebraskan steers at $13 to an eastern buyer equaled the 1938 peak.

Slaughter lambs advanced 15 to 25 cents to the highest levels since July 5. Top grades sold at $9.70.

GRAIN HARVEST MAKES PROGRESS IN ALL SECTIONS

Rains Needed in Much of Corn Belt.

Harvesting of grain corps is making rapid progress. Threshing is almost completed in the more southern sections of the country, the weather bureau said yesterday in its weekly summary.

Corn has almost completed its development in Texas, and silking and tasseling have begun in practically all parts of the belt. Moisture is needed in much of the plains area and the greater portions of Iowa and Illinois. Hot winds have caused some damage in parts of Iowa.

Rainfall Report.

Conditions by States.

ILLINOIS—Condition and progress of corn fair to very good. Soy beans average to very good. Winter wheat harvest near completion. Considerable oats and rye harvest completed.

IOWA — Many west central and southwestern counties still dangerously dry. High temperatures withered vegetation in the south and west; corn leaves rolled and plants fired some from bottom. Bulk of corn in silking stage.

OHIO — Corn made satisfactory progress; early tasseling and silking. Oats harvest in full swing.

INDIANA—Winter wheat threshing about completed. Cutting oats in north; threshing in south progressing rapidly, with quality and yield fair. Growth of corn very good.

Corn Good in Wisconsin.

WISCONSIN—Corn good; tasseling and some earing in south. Small grains fair to good. Oats being harvested in south. Rye and barley harvest well advanced. Potatoes good; early being dug; good yields reported.

MINNESOTA—Harvesting of small grain made rapid progress; threshing started.

MICHIGAN—Wheat mostly cut in lower part of state; much threshed; yield fair to good. Corn doing well; tasseling in south.

KANSAS — Combining of winter wheat practically completed; threshing of shocked grain general. Corn mostly tasseled; some curling of leaves in south.

NEBRASKA — Progress and condition of corn continue very good, but must have rain soon to remain so.

U. S. Pipe and Foundry.

Investors' Guide: What about U. S. Pipe and Foundry company as an investment in view of the upturn in residential building? Please discuss this company in your column.—B. L.

Answer: Principal business of the United States Pipe and Foundry company is the production of cast iron pipe. Other products are machine equipment and various items which consist in part of cast iron pipe or which can be made advantageously in the company's foundries.

The company's total requirements of cast iron pipe. It can produce more than 800,000 tons of pipe a year. Its plants are at Burlington, N. J.; Bessemer, Ala.; Birmingham, Ala.; Addyston, O., and Chattanooga, Tenn., all of which are centers of large consuming areas for the company's products.

U. S. Pipe and Foundry patented the "Super-de Lavaud" process for centrifugal casting of cast iron pipe. This method is said to produce a pipe of greater density and fineness in structure and an improved impact resistance. It was also said to be an improvement over the former De Lavaud process, important patents for which expire this year.

Earnings of U. S. Pipe and Foundry are closely linked with the residential building and the growth of municipalities. The company would benefit from any substantial revival of the building industry.

Net income for the first half of this year was $778,294, equal to $1.12 a capital share. In the first half of last year it was $1,356,860, or $1.95 a share. The record of earnings in recent years follows:

1937.....	$13,434,452	$2,235,756	$3.21
1936.....	13,877,875	2,427,867	3.45
1935.....	8,250,665	1,169,071	0.88

1929.....	*	2,581,230	2.74

*Not available. †After preferred dividends. ‡Deficit.

The company's only stock issue outstanding consists of 692,652 shares of $20 par common. All first preferred shares were retired in February, 1936. Funded debt at the end of 1937 amounted to only $958,000, compared with $1,777,500 a year earlier. Dividends on the common are now being paid at the rate of $2 a year.

Total assets were $29,390,538 at the end of 1937. Current assets were $10,320,063, and current liabilities were $2,052,882.
